13. Such additional land as may be required by the promoters and deemed by the Government of Bengal to be necessary for the purposes of the ropeway shall be either acquired by the Government of Bengal on behalf of the promoters under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, and the cost of acquisition shall be met by the promoters, or sold or leased by the said Government, on such terms as may be determined by them, to the promoters. The promoters shall not, without the consent of the Government of Bengal, sell or otherwise dispose of any land of which they may have been put in possession by the said Government for the purposes of the ropeway when such land is no longer required for such purpose.

14. The ropeway shall be constructed in accordance with drawings to be approved by the Government of Bengal, and the factor of safety in all cases except in anchorages or foundations shall not be less than 4. For foundation anchorages it shall be sufficient if the moment of resistance of the foundation exceeds the overturning moments by 50 per cent. The factor of safety of 4 shall be obtained in the case of the rope by dividing the actual breaking stress of the rope by the maximum direct tension to which it will be subjected. Station gears, trestles and sheaves shall be so designed and placed that lubrication can be performed safely whilst the ropeway is in motion, and the speed of the rope shall not exceed 180 yards per minute.

15. The minimum clearance of the ropeway from the ground except within station limits shall be 12 feet, and if in any place this clearance is less it will be open to the Government of Bengal to call upon the promoters to provide at the promoters' expense within 3 calendar months fencing on both sides of the ropeway for such length where the clearance is less than 12 feet, and the promoters shall be bound to comply with all such requisitions.

16. The promoters shall, at their own cost, construct and maintain all such stations, trestles, sidings and all other works in addition to those specified in or authorised by this order and shall also employ and maintain all such establishments, in addition to those specified in or authorised by this order as the Government of Bengal may from time to time consider to be expedient for the safe and efficient working of the ropeway or for the convenience and safety of the public. All such additional works shall be completed to the satisfaction of the said Government, and all the provisions of this order shall so far as applicable apply to such works.

Motive power, speed and signals.

17. The carriers used on the ropeway may be moved by steam power, and all driving stations shall be fitted with hand or automatic brakes to keep the speed of the rope within the maximum limit of 180 yards per minute.

18. For the purpose of giving signals the promoters shall instal telephones at all terminal and intermediate stations which will enable the ropeway to be stopped at any instant.

Maintenance and working of Ropeway.

19. The promoters shall at all times maintain and keep in good condition and repair to the satisfaction of the Government of Bengal or of any officer duly authorised in this behalf by the said Government, the entire ropeway, carriers and appliances and shall work the same in such manner as will, in the opinion of the said Government or of such officer as may be authorised in this behalf by the said Government, avoid all risks of danger or annoyance to the public.

20. The undertaking and all works stock, appliances and accounts appertaining thereto shall at all times be open to inspection and examination by any officer or officers whom the Government of Bengal may authorise for that purpose, and the promoters shall afford all reasonable facilities for inspection or examination to such officer or officers.

21. If, as a result of inspection of the ropeway or any portion thereof, or of any carriers used thereon, the officer making the inspection under clause 20 reports to the Government of Bengal that the ropeway or any part thereof cannot be used without danger to the public, or is no longer in a fit state for the carriage of any specific class of traffic, the said Government may direct that the ropeway or a portion thereof shall be closed to all traffic or to any specified class of traffic.

22. When the ropeway or any portion of it has been closed under clause 21, it shall not be reopened for the public conveyance of goods unless and until it has been inspected again by the officer referred to in clause 20 or any other officer authorised in this behalf, and its opening is sanctioned by the Government of Bengal as a result of such inspection.

23. When the Government of Bengal have under clause 21 prohibited the use of any carrier, the said carrier shall not be used again without further sanction by the said Government.

24. The promoters shall not, without the consent of the Forest officer in charge of the district, cut down or lop any tree growing along or by the side of the ropeway, provided that in case of emergency the promoters may remove or lop branches or any portion of a tree which stands in such a manner as to be a source of danger or impediment to the ropeway traffic, and in any such case they shall without loss of time report their action for confirmation by the Forest officer.

Traffic and traffic working.

25. The ropeway may be used for the purpose of conveying goods traffic only. All goods which will not, in the opinion of the ropeway management and of the Government of Bengal, interfere with the proper and safe running of the ropeway or the safety of the staff or public shall be carried, but the management shall have the right to refuse to carry such goods as are dangerous or obnoxious, or beyond the capacity of the ropeway. At the outset the maximum rate for the carriage of goods is fixed at six annas per maund, but the Government of Bengal reserve the right to increase or lower this rate.

Miscellaneous.

26. The Government of Bengal, or a local authority with the previous sanction of the said Government, shall, by giving to the promoters previous notice in writing of not less than two years, have the option to purchase the ropeway referred to in section 24 of the Act, either on the 31st day of March 1946, or on the 31st day of March in the last year of any subsequent period of ten years on payment of the value of all lands, buildings, works, materials, plant and apparatus of the promoters, suitable to, and used by them for purposes of the undertaking plus 20 per cent. of the value.

27. The promoters are authorised to transfer their entire rights in this undertaking to any other Company to be floated for the purpose of constructing and working the ropeway, and the consideration for such transfer shall be limited to the extent of the actual money spent by the promoters on this undertaking and in obtaining this order.

28. In case it be hereafter found that any portion of the alignment adopted by the promoters for the ropeway interferes with the location of any new lines of railway or roadway or the extension of any existing line of railway or roadway, the alignment occupied by the ropeway shall be forthwith, at the request of the Government of Bengal, abandoned in favour of the railway or the roadway, and the ropeway shall be diverted or altered in such way and in such manner as shall appear to the Inspector or other officer duly appointed in this behalf by the said Government to be fair and proper, provided that the actual cost incurred in this connection shall be borne by the authorities of the said railway or roadway.

29. In the event of any work required by the Act or by this order to be done by the promoters not being done by them, the Government of Bengal may cause a notice to be served on the promoters requiring them, within a period to be prescribed in the said notice, to execute the said work, and if within the period so prescribed such requisition is not complied with, the said Government may cause such work to be done and the cost thereof to be recovered from the promoters. The certificate of the Inspector or other officer appointed by the Government of Bengal in this behalf shall be conclusive evidence that all expenses referred to in such certificate have been incurred in carrying out such work and the promoters shall not be at liberty to dispute the same.

30. The promoters shall adopt and apply all such improvements in the ropeway and in the carriers and appliances thereon as the Government of Bengal may from time to time consider necessary or desirable for the safety or convenience of the public.

31. The promoters shall provide without unreasonable delay such statistics relating to the ropeway or to the traffic thereon as may from time to time be required by the Government of Bengal.

32. It is hereby expressly provided that no concession granted under this order confers on the promoters any exclusive right as carriers over any part of the tract traversed by the ropeway.

Arbitrations.

33. (1) If any dispute, question or controversy shall at any time arise either between the Government of Bengal and the promoters, or the local authorities and the promoters, touching this order, or any clause or thing herein contained, or the construction hereof or any matter connected with this order, or the operation of the same, or the rights, duties, or liabilities of any of the parties in relation to the premises, then, and in every such case the matter in difference, unless special provision shall have been made in this order for the settlement of the matter so in difference, shall be referred to two arbitrators or to an umpire to be appointed by them, pursuant to and so as with regard to the mode and consequences of the reference, and in other respects to conform to the provisions in that behalf contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, so far as the same may be applicable.

(2) Upon every such reference the arbitrators and umpire shall respectively have power in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899, to examine witnesses upon oath or affirmation, and either to fix, settle, and determine the amount of cost of the reference and award respectively or incidental thereto to be paid by both the parties making the reference or by either party, or to direct the same to be taxed either as between Solicitor and client or otherwise, and to direct and award where and by and to whom such costs shall be paid.

No. 21—The 18th January 1929.—The following draft of rules which, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make for the regulation of traffic in the line of navigation known as the Mahananda river (100 miles in length) in the districts of Malda and Rajshahi which has been declared under section 2 of the said Act in Bengal Government notification No. 10-I., dated the 18th October 1927, published in Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th idem, is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 10th April 1929, and any objections or suggestions received by the undersigned before that date will be considered:—

Draft Rules.

1. All vessels, when moored, must be made fast by the bow and stern along the bank so as not to obstruct other vessels passing in the river.

2. In such portions of the river where only one towing path exists, vessels must be moored on the off-side and the towing path side kept clear.

3. Only one vessel is allowed to make fast along and in line with the river banks, and no other vessel is to be made fast or to be placed outside of vessels so secured without the special permission of the Supervisor. No vessel or raft is to be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety, or obstruct the passage, of other vessels, and all vessels are to be moored in such places and in such a manner as the Supervisor may at any time direct.

4. The Supervisor may, by notification, prohibit the dropping of anchors or the erection of bamboos or luggees in or on any portion of the river or banks, and no anchors may be dropped or bamboos or luggees erected at such prohibited sites.

5. No vessel shall be moored at a distance of less than 500 feet from the junction of two or more rivers.

6. Vessels are not permitted to anchor or moor in the restricted portions of the channels maintained by training works.

7. Before entering such restricted channels the person in charge of the vessel must lighten his vessel sufficiently to prevent grounding in the channel.

In the event of any vessel running aground, the person in charge of the vessel must arrange for its immediate release by all means possible, failing which it will be lawful for the Supervisor or his subordinates to arrange to remove such vessel and to recover the costs of such operation from the owner of the vessel as provided for in rule 11 below.

8. No person is allowed to place any obstruction on the river banks so as to impede free passage along them. No person is permitted to place any obstruction in the river bed so as to impede navigation or cause any deterioration of the channel.

9. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the river.

10. In every case of a sunken vessel, whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

11. If three days after the occurrence of a wreck it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner, provided that, when the wreck obstructs the fairway, they may take action at once to remove the same.

A notice must be affixed on the wreck when recovered, calling on those concerned to pay to the Supervisor all expenses incurred in the recovery or removal of the wreck, and intimating that if the sum be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the vessel and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold, the proceeds of the sale being dealt with as directed in section 9 of the Canals Act of 1864.

12. Every Canal Officer is authorized to remove any vessel, anchor, pole or any other thing which he may find in a position in contravention of these rules and to deal with it in such manner as may be necessary to give effect to the rules.

13. Whenever any laden vessel which has been sunk, has been recovered, or when a laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Canals Act or of these rules, the Supervisor must give immediate notice of the same to the owner or his agent, calling upon him to remove the cargo without delay and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

14. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and the place of business or abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel seized under the said Act, he must notify the seizure by advertisement in his office and in at least one public newspaper. Such notice shall require the owner to cause the immediate removal of the cargo and to pay all expenses incurred in providing for its proper custody and storage.

15. The Supervisor may incur whatever expenses are necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Act and, if the cargo be not removed within ten days from the date of seizure, he may sell the same at a public auction to be held in his office or at the place of seizure to the highest bidder, after giving ten days' notice of the auction by advertisement in at least one newspaper.

16. The money realized at such a sale is to be applied, in the first instance, to defray any expenditure that may have been incurred by the Supervisor on account of the cargo sold, and the balance, if any, is to be held in deposit to be paid to the owner of the said cargo on his applying for the same.

17. No officer of any description or rank employed on the river shall, either directly or indirectly, bid for or purchase any article sold under these rules or under the provisions of the Act.

18. Any person (other than the Supervisor or his subordinates), who infringes any of these rules, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for any one infringement and to an additional fine at a rate not exceeding five rupees a day if the infringement be continued.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India republished for general information.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

New Delhi, the 25th January 1929.

No. 33-I/29-C & G.—The following interim Report of the Delegates of India to the Ninth Assembly of the League of Nations is published for general information:—

To the Right Honourable the VISCOUNT PEEL, His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

My Lord,

We beg to submit our interim Report on the Ninth (Ordinary) Session of the Assembly of the League of Nations, held at Geneva from the 3rd to the 26th September, at which we had the honour to represent India.

2. This interim Report is intended to give as early an account of our proceedings as possible, and consists of a survey of matters of general interest and a description of those in which the interests of India are affected, and of the part played by the delegates of India in the discussions. We shall, in due course, submit a Final Report, which will contain a complete record of the work of the Assembly together with certain reports of Committees and of speeches and other matter.

The Indian and British Empire Delegations.

3. Numerically the Indian Delegation was the same as in the last two years, consisting of three full and three substitute delegates, but only two of us, the Right Honourable the Earl of Lytton and Sir Edward Chamier, had had previous experience of the work of the Assembly. A meeting of the Delegation was held at the India Office before we left London for Geneva, and certain questions of a general nature were then explained and discussed. It was explained to us that as a delegation we corporately represented India as a whole, and that, while our authority and our instructions emanated formally from the Secretary of State, they were, in fact, the result of discussion and agreement between the Secretary of State and the Government of India. We were also told that it was intended that we should have the fullest amount of practical liberty and independence consistent with the existing constitutional position. A meeting of the Delegation was held on the day on which we reached Geneva, and on the same day we attended a meeting of all the delegations of the British Empire convened by the leader of the British Delegations, Lord Cushendun. Meetings were, as usual, held during the course of the Assembly with a view first to maintaining coherence among ourselves and to presenting a concerted Empire policy in matters in which such a policy is desirable and possible. We particularly wish to record the fact that at meetings of British Empire delegates we were always accorded treatment on a basis of practical equality, and we were entirely satisfied with the consideration which was given to any views expressed by us. Our experience confirms the view of our predecessors of 1927, that "the actual liberty of the Indian Delegation to follow an independent policy corresponds to the liberty which the Indian Delegation would, in fact, exercise if the constitutional status of India within the Empire were different."

4. We were glad to find that the list of accredited journalists, officially published by the Secretariat, contained the names of a larger number of representatives of Indian papers than have, we believe, previously attended the Assembly, and we invited these representatives to meet us both socially and otherwise. We hope that their presence may be regarded as evidence that the Press of India is taking an increasing interest in the work of the League and in the activities of representatives of India at Geneva, and we note, in this connection, that a new post is being created for an Indian in the Information Section of the League Secretariat. This new post should be instrumental in improving the channel for the communication of information on international subjects between India and Geneva.

Opening of the Ninth Session.

5. The proceedings of the Assembly were opened on 3rd September by His Excellency M. H. J. Procopé (Minister of Foreign Affairs of Finland) acting as President of the Council. The credentials of the delegates were verified by a Committee on which His Highness the Nawab of Palanpur served.

6. Fifty States were represented out of a total number of 54 States Members of the League, Spain being represented for the first time since 1926. The Argentine Republic, Bolivia, Honduras, and Peru were the four absentees, but the first-named was represented by an observer. Brazil has now ceased to be a Member of the League, though she has declared her intention of collaborating in certain of its activities. In the course of the Assembly it was announced that Costa Rica, having obtained from the Council a satisfactory declaration on the subject of the Monroe doctrine, proposed to resume her membership. The Assembly was attended by seven present and seven former Prime Ministers, and by 18 present and seven former Ministers of Foreign Affairs. The list included the Prime Minister of Canada and the Chancellors of Germany and Austria. His Excellency M. H. Zahle (Denmark, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at Berlin) was elected President by 44 votes out of 50, and the election of Vice-Presidents members of the General Committee and of the Agenda Committee proceeded in accordance with the usual routine, which has been described in reports of previous delegates. We would here mention that these appointments and the similar appointments connected with the six Committees of the Assembly, which are esteemed both for the sake of prestige and for the influence which they carry in the work of the Assembly and the Committee, naturally fall to delegates who have experience of previous Assemblies and whose qualifications are already well known. It is inevitable that Delegations such as ours, of which the membership is far from continuous, should get less than their share of these appointments. This is one of the reasons why we consider that greater continuity of membership would be desirable. It will be obvious that in other ways also greater continuity would increase the effectiveness of the Delegation work.

7. The atmosphere pervading this year's Assembly was described by M. Motta (first delegate of Switzerland, and one of the few who have been present at every session of the Assembly) as calm and tranquil. If this Assembly was not characterised by any single achievement of peculiar significance it will stand comparison with any of its predecessors for progress with a great variety of solid undertakings. It is a common observation that the proceedings of the Assembly are tending to be less sensational and that the Assembly's sessions are coming to be regarded rather as an occasion for reviewing the work of the past year and determining the lines on which work is to be carried out by Conferences, by Committees and by the Secretariat during the coming year, than as an opportunity for introducing and embodying dramatic and far-reaching projects, which may be applauded in the enthusiasm of the moment, but which are afterwards found to be imperfect and premature, defective in their structure or too advanced to be accepted by public opinion and to be ratified by Governments. If there was an attempt in some quarters this year to invest the General Act for Conciliation and Arbitration with an unreal value and importance, that attempt was counteracted and the General Act emerged as an instrument of possible but limited utility and not as one of those vehicles of false hopes, the disappointment of which has in the past furnished the detractors of the League with so much material for criticism. The fact that the Assembly is increasingly concerned with routine is, in our view, less a sign of diminishing importance and vitality than a proof that the League is passing out of its adolescent period and is developing its normal and mature functions as a piece of administrative international machinery.

8. It was perhaps a consequence of the tendency which has been noted that the general debate in the Assembly, with which the session opened, was of less interest than on some former occasions. We shall summarise somewhat briefly its main features before passing to the work of the six Committees.

Arbitration, Security and Disarmament.

9. This composite subject is generally regarded as the most important which the League has in hand, and the three principal pronouncements were those of the German Chancellor, the French Foreign Minister, and the leader of the British Delegation. The most important discussions which took place in Geneva during the course of the Assembly were those between these three delegates and the representatives of other leading Powers on the subjects of the Rhineland occupation, inter-allied debts, and reparations. As, however, these discussions took place in private and were outside the agenda of the Assembly they are beyond the scope of this Report. We shall confine ourselves strictly to the discussions in the Assembly itself.

10. Herr Muller, the Chancellor of the German Reich, taking as the starting point the Pact of Paris for the renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy, which, he said, had its roots not in the decisions of Cabinets, but in the sentiments which inspired the whole of mankind, maintained that the Pact imposed upon statesmen the task of searching for means of achieving a pacific settlement of disputes and of promoting disarmament. He expressed keen disappointment with the present position of the disarmament question, and stated that the disarmament of Germany could not possibly continue to be a unilateral act, the outcome solely of the power wielded by the victors in the world war, and he demanded a decision as to convening the Disarmament Conference to achieve as a first stage an appreciable reduction in the present standard of armaments and full publicity in regard to all classes of armaments. He finished by contrasting the practical policies of Governments with their advocacy of liberal principles, and said that the ordinary man naturally came to the conclusion that international policy was double-faced.

11. M. Briand, in reply, emphasised the practical difficulties and the impossibility of rapid progress. One obstacle was Russia, which flaunted its increase of armaments and which, though it had signed the Paris Pact, could not be considered to have renounced the kind of war which it regarded as a holy war to enforce the truth of its peculiar political gospel upon the world. It was true that after delay and considerable pressure Germany was disarmed, though not wholly disarmed. She had an army of 100,000 officers and non-commissioned officers and immense resources of men, who for years to come would remain qualified and fit for service. She had also industrial equipment which could rapidly be turned to the production of war material. Competition in armaments was no longer possible. There would soon be a limitation of armaments commensurate with the degree of security obtained. M. Briand urged that unless this atmosphere of peace was to be disturbed the more delicate problems should not be discussed at once.

12. Lord Cushendun argued that the proposition of the German Chancellor, that the most urgent task of the Assembly was to adopt a resolution which would transform its hopes of disarmament into realities, could not be sustained. He reminded the Assembly of the terms of Article 8 of the Covenant and referred to the difficulty for each State of measuring in precise terms the level of armaments necessary for security and of relating the reduction effected by one State with that effected by another in order to arrive at common action. He described concretely some of the difficulties which confronted the Preparatory Commission for the Disarmament Conference, and he invited attention to the large measure of actual disarmament which had been carried out by States on their own authority and without common action, giving details of British naval reductions. He also mentioned the special difficulties occasioned by the fact that various modern weapons, such as lethal gases and aircraft, differ from the old-fashioned weapons by being articles of commerce as well as weapons of war. He ended by describing the Paris Pact as an instrument that proclaimed a new era and created a new outlook.

13. One of the most interesting speeches delivered in the Assembly was that of the Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. Mackenzie King. He spoke of the racial concord between French and British races which had been achieved in Canada and of the undefended frontier of more than 3,000 miles between Canada and the United States of America which symbolised the renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy and of the arrangement for preventing the competitive maintenance of vessels of war on the great lakes which has been in force for more than 100 years. In spite of the undefended frontier the element of fear never entered into the calculations of the Canadian Government, and the fact that Canada was free to devote to productive purposes the amounts which the defence of the frontier would cost was the key to their prosperity.

Minorities.

14. Perhaps the most impressive and profound speech delivered in the Assembly was that of Monsgr. Seipel, Chancellor of Austria. In a passage which is worthy of careful study and which cannot adequately be summarised, he referred to the intolerance caused by the inflammation of nationalist spirit, which was characteristic of recent years, as one of the most dangerous causes of political insecurity. He pointed out that the word "nation" might mean either all the citizens of any one country or all the persons of common race and language, and he called attention to the necessity for a better understanding of questions relating to the rights of political minorities. This leads us to say that the Ninth Assembly was characterised by the emergence of the minorities problem on a par with that of disarmament, and it seems possible that the task of adjusting the rights of peoples with those of States, which is the essence of this problem, will prove as much a touchstone of the success of the League as the problem of disarmament itself. The Foreign Minister of the Netherlands threw out the idea of creating for the minorities problem an organ similar to the permanent Mandates Commission. But it became clear from the remark of other speakers that the time was at least not ripe for so profound a change in the treatment of the subject. Under existing political conditions the method of private and informal negotiation, which in fact achieves more than is ordinarily recognised, is the only practical one. But it seems likely that the objections to open and formal treatment will have eventually to be removed. We should perhaps add a note that while it may be profitable to make a comparative study of the question of minorities, as known in India, with that which presents itself to the League in virtue of certain clauses of the Treaties of Peace affecting only European countries, the two problems are distinguished by important differences.

Asiatic Questions.

15. When problems such as those which have been described occupy so much of the attention of the Assembly, it is desirable that the Assembly should be reminded of the rights and desires and circumstances of the non-European members of the League. Accordingly His Highness the Nawab of Palanpur addressed the Assembly in a speech of which a summary follows and of which the text will be printed in our Final Report. On this occasion, as on those of which members of our Delegation spoke in the Committees, we were gratified by the amount of attention with which our remarks were received by other delegates, who always appeared eager to show their interest and sympathy when the views and conditions of the more remote countries were being explained.

16. His Highness the Nawab of Palanpur said that India, with her ancient civilisation and culture and her well-known assimilation of noble ideas, was genuinely interested in the aims and objects of the League and was most anxious to promote the growth of its ideals and activities; interest in the League was increasing in India and would be further developed by the centralisation of League of Nations Societies which had lately taken place in India. He indicated that India had a special interest in and admiration for the work of the League in its aspects of social welfare and public health, instancing under the latter heading the interchange of public health officers which took place in India last winter, the projected visit of the League Malaria Commission to India, the inclusion of rural hygiene in the programme of health organisation and the study of questions connected with infant mortality. In connection with child welfare he mentioned the appointment by the Government of India of the Age of Consent Committee and the passage of Infant Marriage Prevention laws in some of the Indian States. He expressed the hope of India that her altruistic sacrifices in the matter of opium would be met by the co-operation of other countries in suppressing illicit traffic of drugs now that the Opium Convention had received the necessary number of ratifications and the Central Board was about to be set up. He hoped that the growth of interest in India in the activities of the League would not be checked by irritation at the continual increase in the annual contribution of India to the funds of the League, and he said that India looked forward to the time when Indians would rise to high office in the employment of the League, worthy of the country of their birth. Finally, he alluded to the suspicion which existed in certain quarters in the East that the League was intended for use as an instrument for perpetuating the hegemony of the races which were of European origin over the other races. He did not believe that this view could be honestly entertained by anybody who studied the facts deeply and without prejudice, but he said that the suspicion needed to be dispelled by the solid evidence of facts. Sentiments of racial inequality were a possible cause of insecurity, lying even deeper than those which the League was at present engaged in studying and capable of producing results even more disastrous. These sentiments might, unless appeased, again divide the world into hostile camps. The League was based on the conception of universal equality and he believed that great possibilities for the League's work would come into view as soon as a general conviction existed in the Orient that the League was in the fullest sense an association of equal peoples with equal obligations and equal rights, affording equal opportunities to all its members irrespective of racial origin to work harmoniously for the great objects laid down in the Covenant

17. At this point we would refer to the speech of the first delegate for China, although it was actually the first to be delivered in the general debate in the Assembly. Those who are familiar with the terms of the Covenant, including Article 19, under which the Assembly may advise the reconsideration by Members of the League of treaties which have become inapplicable, and who appreciate the actual achievement of international organisations in technical spheres such as the restoration of national finances, the regulation of transit problems, the campaign against epidemics and against the opium traffic, have been struck by the possibilities of service which the League might render in China to the advantage both of the world and of China herself. The realisation of this possibility, which necessarily awaits the initiative of China, now appears faintly on the horizon. The Chinese delegate admitted that the League was making further progress towards universality, and declared that when this character of universality was finally attained the League would have no more fervent supporter than China. He acknowledged that there was a big opening for the technical and financial assistance of the West in China when the antiquated barriers which had hitherto prevented closer co-operation between China and the outside world had disappeared, and he was convinced that the League must be the intermediary if East and the West were to meet on common ground.

Election of Non-Permanent Members of Council.

18. It has proved to be a misfortune that China was elected to the Council two years ago at a time when her Government was insufficiently stable and representative to play her part adequately in this capacity. There was this year a widespread view that as the Nationalist Government in China appeared now to be well on the way to consolidating its position, it was desirable that China should be retained on the Council both as a gesture of sympathy and encouragement, and with a view to facilitating the prospect of co-operation between China and the League. But under the Rules for Election which were approved in 1926, it was necessary that China, before presenting herself for re-election, should obtain a two-thirds majority of the Assembly in favour of re-eligibility. This majority she failed to obtain, her application receiving 27 votes against 34 required, and the result showed that the sentiment in favour of rotation among non-permanent Members of the Council, which had operated against the re-election of Belgium last year, was stronger than the desire that for special reasons China should remain on the Council. At the eventual election the three vacancies which arose this year were filled by Spain, who received 46 votes, Persia 40 votes, and Venezuela 35 votes. Spain was later under a special procedure declared re-eligible for election at the end of her present term, after a ballot in which her application received 37 votes as against 32 required.

Election to Vacancy in Permanent Court of International Justice.

19. We need only record the election of Mr. C. E. Hughes, former Secretary of State of the United States of America, and former Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States of America, by the unanimous vote of the Council and by 41 out of 48 votes in the Assembly.

COMMITTEE I.—Legal and Constitutional Questions.

PROGRESSIVE CODIFICATION OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

(a) Preparation for first Codification Conference.

21. The Assembly of 1927 had decided that of the various questions which had been studied by the Committee of Experts, of which Sir Muhammad Rafique is a member, three should be selected for consideration at an international conference. These three subjects were as follows:—

(1) Nationality.
(2) Territorial waters.
(3) Responsibility of States for damage done in their territory to the person or property of foreigners.

The Council had appointed a small Preparatory Committee for the Conference which is to deal with these three subjects and this Committee had drawn up for each of the subjects a schedule indicating the various points considered suitable for examination. These schedules had been sent through the Secretariat to the Governments, with the object of eliciting from the latter information as to the existing state of the positive law, internal and international, information derived from the practice of Governments at home and abroad, and the wishes of Governments in regard to possible additions to the rules in force and the manner of making good present deficiencies in international law. The Governments are now engaged in furnishing this material, and the general desire of the first Committee was to approve the procedure which had been followed, and to expedite the development of it so that the Conference might take place without fail before the end of 1929. We ourselves were opposed to the attempt to make obligatory the holding of the Conference in 1929, both because there was a considerable chance that such a course would be confronted by difficulties of a practical nature, and because the Fourth Committee had passed a resolution desiring that the other Committees would examine carefully all measures involving expenditure with particular reference to the question of conferences, of which a large number were projected for 1929. Sir Edward Chamier expressed this view on our behalf, adding further an objection to the extra expense involved in the intention of holding the conference at The Hague rather than at Geneva. We were not favourably impressed by the attitude of the First Committee to the plea. But a compromise, of which the effect is satisfactory, was eventually reached after prolonged discussion in the Fourth Committee. This will be described later.

(b) Preparatory Work for further Conferences.

22. The Assembly of 1927 had decided, after considerable discussion, that the Committee of Experts should hold a further meeting this year with a view to completing the work already begun. The Committee had held their meeting, and had recorded the view that two further questions were sufficiently ripe for international regulation, namely:—

(1) The legal position and functions of consuls, and
(2) The competence of the Courts in regard to foreign States.

The Committee had also issued a new questionnaire dealing with the subject of domicile. The resolution of the Assembly of 1927 did not seem to contemplate a further meeting of the Committee of Experts in 1929, but the Estimates for 1929 contained a credit for 45,000 francs for the purpose of another meeting, pending a decision of the Assembly. The First Committee recommended that the Assembly should adjourn till its session of 1929, the question whether it was necessary to convene the Committee of Experts again, and the proposed credit was reduced by 36,000 francs.

(c) Establishment of a General Plan of Codification.

23. The First Committee had also to consider the opinion expressed by the Committee of Experts on a proposal which had been submitted to the Assembly of 1927 by the delegate of Paraguay for the preparation of a general and comprehensive plan for the codification of International Law. The decision of the First Committee, which was confirmed by the Assembly, was to the effect that there should be no change in the method of codification adopted in 1924, but that the Council might be requested to entrust to a committee of three jurists, to be chosen preferably from the members of the Committee of Experts, the Establishment of a systematic survey of the subject.

PACIFIC SETTLEMENT OF INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES.

24. A great part of the attention of the First Committee was occupied with the results of the work of the Committee on Arbitration and Security on the subjects of pacific settlement, mutual assistance and non-aggression, which were referred to the First Committee by the Third Committee for consideration in their technical aspects. Although the main responsibility for examining and revising the texts fell upon the First Committee, we shall postpone the treatment of this question until we come to our report on the work of the Third Committee, as it came in the first instance before the Third Committee and was reported upon to the Assembly by the Third Committee. Moreover, it would be practically impossible to describe separately the work of the two Committees on these subjects, as, in the later stages, the two Committees sat jointly, and much of the detailed work was carried out by a Sub-Committee on which the First and Third Committees were represented.

COMMITTEE II.—Technical Organisations.

WORK OF THE ECONOMIC ORGANISATION.

25. Our predecessors of last year described the development of this Organisation, which followed from the work of the International Economic Conference of 1927. The general history of the movement, which the Economic Organisation represents, was admirably described by M. Loucheur (France) in his report to this year's Assembly as follows:

"In the first years following the war the exceptional circumstances and special necessities of the war period continued to dominate the economic policy of the nations. If international action was required during this first period it was not in the economic, but in the financial, sphere. The disorganisation of the monetary systems constituted a more serious obstacle to the work of reconstruction than any of the hindrances to be encountered in the sphere of economic policy. During these first few years the League of Nations therefore paved the way for financial reconstruction; to-day the success of this work is manifest. Its economic work was necessarily more modest and rather of a preparatory character. But in 1927 this initial period was nearly closed; the depreciation of currencies had ceased to be the most serious difficulty; it was becoming evident that the sphere of economic policy was the one in which progress was now called for . . . . . The Conference of 1927 did not, properly speaking, create a new force; its main function was to reveal display and mobilise existing forces. It was under the impulsion of a movement of public opinion that the present programme of the Organisation was drawn up. Thus the effect of the Conference has been a transformation rather than an ordinary normal development of the tasks devolving upon the Economic Organisation."

26. The already existing Economic Committee was reconstituted and a new Economic Consultative Committee was created. The Economic Committee consists almost entirely of high Government officials, who, though acting in their personal capacities, serve to bring the experience and indirectly the authority of Governments to bear upon the international economic problems which the League has in hand. The Economic Consultative Committee consists rather of eminent persons who represent varied and even conflicting economic tendencies and interests, and it serves to maintain contact between the League and public opinion. During the last twelve months India has obtained representation on both these bodies, in the person of Mr. H. A. F. Lindsay, Indian Trade Commissioner in London, on the former and of Sir Atul Chatterjee, High Commissioner for India, on the latter. India has, moreover, been honoured by the appointment of Sir Atul Chatterjee as Vice-President of the Economic Consultative Committee. There is no doubt in our minds that the intention of the Economic Organisation is to pursue as broad and universal a policy as possible, that it aims at taking equal account of, and, if necessary, reconciling the interests of industrial and agricultural countries, of countries whose economic development is mature and of those which are in the early stages. It is however, very necessary that all points of view and interests should receive full and competent expression, and we feel that India should be well satisfied that she is in a position to play an important, if not conspicuous, rôle in representing the point of view of the overseas countries.

27. We cannot briefly and without recourse to technical detail describe the great variety of tasks which the Economic Organisation now has in hand. Those who desire fuller information are referred to the Report of the Second Committee to the Assembly, which will be reprinted in our Final Report. We will, however, summarise the speech which Mr. Mallik delivered in the Second Committee.

28. Mr. Mallik first expressed recognition of the appointments of Sir Atul Chatterjee and Mr. Lindsay. With regard to the work of the Economic Conference of 1927, he said that the Government of India had studied its report further and the study had confirmed their view that the recommendations of the Conference were in general conformity with the principles and practices already followed in India. They were prepared to accept, so far as possible, any Conventions or other proposals put forward to give effect to the specific recommendations of the Conference. The policy of India would continue to be conducted in accordance with principles of which the Conference had expressed its approval and with every desire to co-operate in the solution of particular problems.

29. He then drew attention to the interests to be safeguarded from the point of view of India and other similarly situated countries. Firstly, countries which have hitherto been essentially a source of raw materials must not be hindered in their legitimate desire for industrial development. There must be no tendency to stabilise the status quo as between manufacture and production of raw materials. India claimed as legitimate the right to adjust her tariff system so as to maintain the balance between agriculture and industry. Secondly, the formulation of commercial policy must take equal account of industrial and of agricultural or raw material producing interests. It was well known that since 1914 the price of manufactured goods had risen by a greater margin than that of agricultural products and raw materials. This was not only inequitable to the producer of raw materials, but had also reduced the market for the manufactured article. The interests of the two classes were therefore fundamentally similar and the essential problem was to reduce the margin of prices. This could only be done if as much attention was given to agricultural problems and interests as to those of industry. A solution along two lines was indicated:—

(a) The study of agricultural problems must be developed. While this was mainly a domestic problem, which, in India, had recently been investigated by a Royal Commission, international action could no doubt make a substantial contribution, and herein lies the importance of developing the work of the Economic Organisation on the side of agriculture, with which was connected the question of introducing closer relations between the League and the Institute of Agriculture at Rome.

(b) The primary producer must be made an interested party in all efforts towards the removal of impediments to trade. This was a matter partly of propaganda for the creation of public opinion and partly of the practical association of the interests of the primary producer with those of the manufacturer and the trader in the formulation of commercial policy, especially in the case of tariffs. In pursuance of these views Mr. Mallik put forward two amendments to the draft resolution which was before the Committee. Finally, Mr. Mallik emphasised the necessity of not allowing the impression to be created in any State that their material interests were being over-ridden or neglected in the hurry to bring about an economic millennium, and he expressed agreement with the remarks of other speakers in the debate in favour of restraint being exercised on the part of the Economic Organisation, as it would be most unfortunate that it should be overloaded with work or that too much should be expected from it at once.

30. The object of the first amendment to the draft resolution which Mr. Mallik submitted, and which was accepted, was simply to reproduce accurately the attitude adopted by the Eighth Assembly to the resolutions of the Conference of 1927. The second amendment was intended in the first place to emphasise and to obtain express recognition of the view that full account must be taken of the interests of States which are mainly agricultural or in the early stages of industrial development, and in the second place to draw attention to the importance of advancing the study of agricultural problems on an international basis. This amendment, which we regard as of some importance, responded not only to the needs of our own country, but also to a considerable extent, we believe, to the views of certain other delegates, notably those of the Irish Free State, who expressed considerable apprehension that there might be a tendency in international action for the circumstances and needs of the economically weaker countries to be disregarded and even adversely affected. The readiness with which our amendment was accepted is noteworthy, and clause 10 of the Assembly Resolution on the work of the Economic Organisation, in which it is embodied, should prove a useful basis for further developments.

31. It is convenient at this stage to refer briefly to certain interesting points in the speeches made in the Assembly, when the report of the Second Committee was presented. Dr. Breitscheid (Germany) called attention to a report of the Tariff Board of the Australian Commonwealth for 1927, which details the consequences of excessive protection in the Commonwealth. M. Jouhaux (France), who is the most authoritative spokesman of organised labour on the Continent of Europe, voiced certain apprehensions that the processes of rationalisation and cartelisation (i.e., the formation of co-operative relations between individual concerns) in industry might be pushed forward without regard to the general interest of the public and that some measure of international control was required. M. Loucheur (France), who is to a large extent the originator and promoter of the recent development of the Economic Organisation, supported M. Jouhaux as to the need of control, and indicated the possibility that the Economic Organisation might in the future require a more elaborate structure. He made some remarks, which are interesting with reference to Mr. Mallik's speech in the Second Committee, to the effect that no efforts should be made at crystallising existing situations which would condemn the countries of younger economic development to remain in their present undeveloped condition, that such nations should not be hindered from reconstructing their economic production should they desire to do so, and that any tendency at stabilisation or crystallisation in these directions would be harmful and must not be contemplated.

WORK OF THE FINANCIAL COMMITTEE.

32. The work of the Financial Committee during the last 12 months was mainly concerned with the refugee problems of Greece and Bulgaria and with the loans connected with the settlement of refugees and the stabilisation of the currencies of these two countries. This work has been attended by conspicuous success and is of great value, not only for the prosperity of these two countries and of all other countries which are in economic relations with them, but also for the general cause of political security and pacification. Both countries have also benefited in the last year from the co-operation of the Health Organisation. This work has no close or direct bearing on the special interests of India and we do not therefore describe it in detail. But those who wish to appreciate the possibility and success of international action through the League in technical spheres should certainly make a study of these achievements. The reports of the Second Committee on these subjects will be printed with our Final Report.

33. The Financial Committee is engaged on various other problems, one of which may prove to be of special interest to India, namely, that of the purchasing power of gold. The Council has invited the Financial Committee to examine to what extent and by what means the League can most usefully assist in the study and solution of the problem of undue fluctuations in the purchasing power of gold, and the present stage of the matter is that the Committee have carried out a first exchange of views as to the best method of arranging for a study of the various questions involved and have requested the Secretariat to compile certain information.

34. When the work of the Financial Committee came before the Second Committee, Mr. Yusuf Ali made a speech, of which the following are the main points. He said that India, although not directly interested, for geographical reasons, in the work carried out in connection with refugees and currency stabilisation, welcomed it and took note of its great success. The best testimony to its success was the fact that one country after another had applied to the League for assistance. He said that the question of double taxation and fiscal evasion did not arise in a practical form in the case of India except in relation with other parts of the British Empire, and was, therefore, not for India an international problem. He spoke also of the interest of India in connection with the question of gold and with that of Central Bank statistics, and in conclusion he bore testimony to the important work of the Financial Committee in the after-war reconstruction of the world.

WORK OF THE HEALTH ORGANISATION.

35. The work of the Health Organisation has figured prominently in the reports of our predecessors because this Organisation was the first and, up to now, has been the most successful of the League Organisations to put its work on a really world-wide basis and to direct its attention to problems and activities which are the concern as much of Asia as of Europe. It has established an Epidemiological Bureau at Singapore, which, having succeeded in the collection and transmission of information from the majority of ports in its area, is now being furnished with intelligence relating to the hinterland of ports and to countries as a whole. The Bureau furnishes to Eastern Governments information which is necessary for effective action against epidemic diseases. The Health Organisation also organises a system of public health interchanges which consist really of study tours in which medical and sanitary experts of different countries participate with a view to gaining and imparting knowledge and experience which has accumulated in different countries on particular subjects and aspects of sanitary and scientific work. One of these tours was successfully carried out in India last winter and was attended by the President of the Health Committee and by representatives of many Eastern health administrations. This is the first occasion on which an activity of the League has been organised in India. The Organisation is also conducting studies of Malaria, Plague, Cholera, Leprosy, Infant Welfare and Rural Hygiene. The cardinal principle of the Health Organisation, as of every League technical organisation, is to promote and co-ordinate contacts between national organisations rather than to supersede them or to attempt to act as a central authority. A full account of its methods and activities is contained in an unusually interesting report submitted to the Assembly on behalf of the Second Committee by Professor O'Sullivan (Ireland), which will be printed with our Final Report.

36. Mr. Mallik made a speech on the subject in the Second Committee in which he began by congratulating Professor O'Sullivan on his report, and especially on the emphasis which he had given to the subject of rural hygiene. He then went on to express deep appreciation of the humanitarian side of the work of the Organisation and congratulated it on paying attention rather to quality than quantity. He referred particularly to the Singapore Bureau, to the system of interchange tours, which was particularly beneficial to a country like India, in placing at her disposal the experience of other countries, to the problem of malaria, which was the cause of so much devitalisation, and economic loss in India, to the Government of India's invitation that the Malaria Commission should visit India, to the work on plague which is being carried out in India, especially in regard to the possibility of developing the bacteriophage method, and to the work on leprosy, which, though it is being taken up primarily as a measure of collaboration between the League and the countries of Latin America, would also be of advantage to India. He said that the question of rural hygiene which the League was beginning to study had recently been a subject of consideration by the Royal Commission on Agriculture in India, which had indicated the serious consequences of neglect, and he observed that the study of this subject by the interchange method would produce results of value to India. Finally, he submitted a proposal, which was accepted, that the resolution of the Assembly on the work of the Health Committee should contain a clause congratulating the Organisation on the increasing success of its far-sighted policy of practical collaboration with the extra-European countries. We believe that this compliment has been well earned and we hope that other Organisations of the League will be inspired to qualify themselves for a similar compliment in the near future.

ORGANISATION FOR COMMUNICATIONS AND TRANSIT.

37. This Organisation has a considerable mass of technical work in hand, but much of it is of no direct importance to India, and there are no developments of special significance to record. It will suffice to illustrate the main features by the following summary of some brief remarks made by Mr. Yusuf Ali. He said that although India had few important communications of an international character by land she recognised the advantage of securing a uniform system of road signals. India has, on the other hand, international maritime communications of great importance, and the principle of unifying systems of buoyage and of the lighting of coasts, on which the League was working, presented primâ facie many advantages. Before, however, practical agreement could be achieved the Transit Organisation would have to find a solution satisfactory to two of the most important maritime nations of the world, namely, Great Britain and the United States of America, and until this was done his Government hesitated to regard the scheme as a practical proposition. It was understood that the scheme was in the course of undergoing considerable modification. Mr. Yusuf Ali further stated that the proposals for the simplification of the Christian Calendar were not of primary importance to India in view of the multiplicity of calendars connected with other religions which prevailed. The Government of India had consulted commercial opinion on the subject and had found it either hostile or indifferent. He finally entered a caveat with regard to the new credits demanded for the collection and exchange of information on transit questions which he said would have to be examined carefully by the Fourth Committee.

RELATIONS BETWEEN THE LEAGUE AND INSTITUTES UNDER ITS AUTHORITY.

38. This question arose out of an offer made in 1927 by the Italian Government to set up an Institute for the Educational Cinema under the auspices of the League, which had aroused certain misgivings as to the reality of the international character which the Institute would possess and as to its relations with other international bodies, in particular with the Organisation for Intellectual Co-operation, which had already interested itself in the subject of cinematography. The Assembly had under consideration a report which had been referred to it by the Council. This report divided the subject matter into two categories: (1) the principles to be followed in placing international bureaux under the protection of the League in accordance with the general provision of Article 24 of the Covenant, and (2) the general rules to govern the acceptance of international institutes by the League which were not intended for direction under Article 24. In regard to bureaux falling under the first category no question of difficulty arose. The important principle is that the League should see that the Organisation always preserves a strictly international character and that its work is carried on in an efficient manner and that the direction of the League must be established by a definite legal act. Under the second category, that in which it is proposed to create institutes under the auspices of the League but not under its direction the rules are based on three principles, namely, that the object of the institute must come within the sphere of activity of the League of Nations, the institute serving as a working instrument; that the legal status of the institute should provide for its independence vis-à-vis the local authorities; and that the constitution of the institute should be such that the League organs can exercise supervision over its work. Examples of institutes of this character already established are the Institute for Intellectual Co-operation, the Institute for the Unification of Private Law and the Institute for the Educational Cinema. It is contemplated that the Institute of Agriculture at Rome should be brought within this category in the near future. There is, in our view, a danger that the supervisory staff of such institutes may not be sufficiently international, and this is partly a matter of finance, as an international staff costs more than a national one. We were anxious that the rules should provide that the superior staff of such institutes should be recruited on an international basis and the institutes themselves assured of sufficient funds to render the employment of an international staff possible. Mr. Yusuf Ali and the British delegate made suggestions to this end. There were formal difficulties to the acceptance of these suggestions in exactly the form that we should have desired, but satisfaction was given to our point of view in the report presented by the Second Committee to the Assembly and approved.

ALCOHOLISM.

39. Our immediate predecessors described how the proposal of the Finnish Delegation, that the League should take up generally the question of alcoholism with special reference to the international control of smuggling, and should create a special Advisory Body for the purpose, met with considerable opposition in 1927, was withdrawn, and was replaced by a similar proposal in a new form to be considered this year. Before this proposal came before the Second Committee this year the chief protagonists, Finland and France, had come together and drawn up a compromise to the effect that the Health Organisation should collect statistical information bearing upon the abuse of alcohol and particularly of alcohol of bad quality, and that the Economic Committee should study the terms in which conventions for preventive action against the contraband trade might be drawn up. The text of the resolution concluded with the remark that it did not refer to wine, beer or cider. It will be noted that this compromise greatly restricts the scope of the enquiry and utilises only existing machinery. It naturally met with a lukewarm reception in the Second Committee but as no one felt inclined to awaken a troublesome controversy by pressing objections, it was accepted. There was no necessity for us to intervene in the debate. We need not comment on the solution adopted except to say that for the sake of producing the appearance of satisfaction to contending parties it imposed upon two League Organisations, whose programmes are already sufficiently arduous, enquiries which are never likely to lead to practical results.

COMMITTEE III—Reduction of Armaments.

WORK OF THE PREPARATORY COMMISSION FOR THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

40. The Assembly was faced with the fact that during the past year the League had not made any direct progress with this all-important question. The Preparatory Commission had met twice, and after its second session in March had adjourned, leaving its President free to fix the date of the next session. The debate in the Third Committee turned largely on the question of fixing dates for the next meeting of the Preparatory Commission and for the meeting of the Disarmament Conference itself. The French Delegation desired a recommendation which would hasten the solution of the difficulties which hinder the progress of the work and which are the subject of negotiations between the Governments principally concerned, so that the Commission might meet at the end of the present year or at the beginning of next year. The German Delegation recognised the importance and desirability of direct negotiations between the Governments, but considered that if such negotiations were not attended by early success the Disarmament Conference should itself decide those which were left unsettled, and they wished the Council to be requested to fix a date for the meeting of the Disarmament Conference in 1929. The resolution eventually adopted, although the German delegate abstained from voting for it, proposed to the Council that the President of the Preparatory Commission should be instructed to keep himself informed of the negotiations proceeding between Governments with a view to convening the Commission at the end of the present year or, in any case, at the beginning of 1929. The Third Committee was unanimous in thinking that the present situation was such as to allow of definite results being obtained in connection with the first step towards the reduction and limitation of armaments, and it noted further that the various difficulties which had hitherto held up the Preparatory Commission's work were beginning to diminish. Unfortunately events since the Assembly in connection with the Anglo-French arrangement for the treatment of trained reserves and the method of effecting naval disarmament have not tended to confirm this latter view.

PACIFIC SETTLEMENT OF INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES.

41. The Assembly of 1927 had authorised the Preparatory Committee for the Disarmament Conference to create a new Committee, which has become known as the Committee on Arbitration and Security, for the purpose of considering "the measures capable of giving to States the guarantees of arbitration and security necessary to enable them to fix the level of their armaments at the lowest possible figures in an international disarmament agreement." The Assembly had further recorded its opinion that these measures should be sought "in action by the League of Nations, with a view to promoting, generalising and co-ordinating special or collective agreements on arbitration and security." The Committee on Arbitration and Security had accordingly prepared two groups of model treaties, one relating to arbitration and conciliation and the other to non-aggression and mutual assistance, together with draft resolutions regarding the submission and recommendation of these treaties and the good offices of the Council. It had also prepared a resolution concerning the optional clause of Article 36 of the Statute of the Permanent Court of International Justice.

42. The texts concerning non-aggression and mutual assistance and also that concerning the optional clause were passed without much controversy, and, as the interest mainly centred upon arbitration and conciliation, we shall confine ourselves to that subject in our Interim Report, leaving it to our Final Report to record formally the resolutions passed on the first-mentioned subjects.

43. The Committee on Arbitration and Security had prepared six model conventions for the pacific settlement of international disputes, three of which were model general or multi-lateral conventions and three were model bi-lateral conventions. The three texts in each group were designed so as to vary with the different degrees in which States might be prepared to accept obligations for the settlement of disputes by pacific methods either in regard to other States generally or in regard to particular States. These texts were first considered in detail by a Sub-Committee, consisting of members appointed both by the First and the Third Committees.

44. The Sub-Committee found no great difficulty in regard to the three model bi-lateral conventions. These texts were nothing but models designed for the convenience and assistance of States wishing to enter into arrangements with each other for the pacific settlement of disputes and preferring the bi-lateral method. If States desire to use these models, they may use them as they stand or with any modifications that may be desired.

45. But in the case of the texts intended for general or multi-lateral use two important points came to light. In the first place it became clear that these texts were not "models" in the sense in which the term was applied to the bi-lateral texts. They were prepared for adoption by the League sooner or later in a form which would be final and operative and in which States who were prepared to do so could definitely adhere to them. In the second place it became clear that the object to be attained, which was that of bringing as many States as possible together in some common arrangement for the settlement of disputes, would not be attained with three separate texts lacking any organic connection. One State might adhere to the first text, another to the second and another to the third; and although there would be some common, if not co-extensive, measure of willingness to submit disputes to a pacific method of settlement, there would be no actual obligation or provision for doing so in three such cases. Some link or fusion was therefore necessary.

46. The Sub-Committee eventually decided upon and produced a text, in which the three original texts were fused together into a single General Act. The General Act is not a draft for negotiation or for signature with ratification to follow; it is for acceptance in a single operation. But it need not be accepted in whole. Provisions for conciliation may be accepted or provisions for conciliation and judicial settlement or provisions for conciliation, judicial settlement and arbitration, together with, in each case, common general provisions applying to each or all of these three methods. Further, acceptance can be made subject to certain specified reservations. The text consists of 47 articles, and, as might be expected, is extremely elaborate and ingenious and certainly provides a considerable degree of elasticity.

47. The first thing that impressed us, when this remarkable draft was presented for general discussion, was that it was something essentially different from the three so-called model general conventions which had been prepared by the Committee on Arbitration and Security and sent to the Sub-Committee. We were of opinion that a text so novel, so ingenious and so complicated ought to be submitted to the most careful technical examination, not only of experts, but of Governments, before being finally adopted by the League. We believed that further reflection was desirable in order that an instrument acceptable to the largest possible number of Governments might be produced and in order that the League might be saved from the risk of once more making the mistake of producing an important convention which might not be adequately justified in the extent to which it was afterwards found acceptable. This opinion was shared by other delegations, including most, but not all, the delegations of the British Empire, and it was a question whether we should insist upon the text being put back for examination by Governments and for further consideration at the next Assembly. On the other hand, we knew that our Government favoured the bi-lateral method and was not likely to be practically interested in a multi-lateral instrument on this subject in whatever terms it might be adopted, and we did not wish to create a false impression that India might eventually adhere to the General Act if its terms could be further examined and perhaps modified to meet any views which might be expressed on behalf of the Government of India. We decided eventually, as did others of the same opinion, not to press our view, but to content ourselves with recording our apprehensions and the fact that our reason for not demanding more thorough examination was the improbability of our Government finding themselves able to adhere to the Act. Sir Edward Chamier spoke to this effect and protested against the undue haste with which the matter was being treated. At one stage when intricate points of drafting were being discussed in a meeting attended by nearly 100 delegates, the translation of a speech into English was dispensed with for the sake of saving time, against which also Sir Edward Chamier protested.

48. There was, without doubt, a certain pressure to obtain the adoption of the text at all costs and to magnify its importance. There was also at one stage a disposition to regard the multi-lateral type of treaty as a more civilised and enlightened mode of procedure than the bi-lateral type. This the British delegate, supported by Sir Edward Chamier and others, took steps to correct, and the report adopted by the Assembly recognised the bi-lateral method as in no way inferior to or less commendable than the other.

49. We think it desirable at this point to mention that the hurried adoption of a complicated text in order to secure unanimity in the first instance has sometimes in the past resulted in a convention failing to secure subsequent ratification. There is, we fear, a danger that a similar regrettable consequence may result from the inadequacy of the discussion which took place this year over the General Act. We believe that some of the existing conventions which have been ratified by only a few States would have secured more complete support if their terms had been more carefully considered and discussed in the first instance. There is a very natural impatience in the Assembly of any demand for delay which would have the effect of preventing a final draft being agreed upon in the course of the session, but experience has shown that even the loss of a year in agreeing the original draft would be preferable to the inability to ratify, which results from a too hasty agreement. The present procedure seems to require some modification, and we consider that any Government which took well-considered steps to promote this end would do the League a useful service.

ARTICLES 10, 11 AND 16 OF THE COVENANT.

50. The Committee on Arbitration and Security has been studying these articles of the Covenant and the results of their study came up for consideration and approval. We do not here propose to offer the long and technical examination which would be necessary for a proper understanding of the subject, but we would call attention to the main tendencies of the present time, which are to concentrate rather upon the means of preventing war than on the application of measures of repression; to avoid the establishment of a hard-and-fast procedure to be applied on the occurrence of a crisis; and to recognise that for the States Members of the League taken as a whole the Covenant both provides an adequate measure of security and is the limit of the obligation which they are prepared to accept. The resolution adopted by the Ninth Assembly may be taken as representing reaction from the Geneva Protocol of 1924.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE TO STATES VICTIMS OF AGGRESSION.

51. This scheme, which arose out of a proposal of the Finnish delegates submitted to the Preparatory Commission for the Disarmament Conference in regard to the financial assistance provided for under Article 16 of the Covenant, has been worked out mainly by the Financial Committee of the League in collaboration with the Committee on Arbitration and Security. The general idea of the scheme is that of assisting a country, which is the victim of aggression and might otherwise find difficulty in borrowing, by the association in its financial operations of the Members of the League so that the credit of the individual country may be strengthened by association with that of other States. It is contemplated that credits should be obtained in the ordinary way in the money market and that the attacked State should itself contract a loan on the security of its general revenues, but with the aid of an international guarantee.

52. The technical examination of the scheme had revealed points on which decisions of the Assembly were required. The Third Committee recommended, and the Assembly agreed, that it should be understood that the Convention in which the scheme would eventually be embodied would come within the framework of the League's general programme for the limitation and reduction of armaments; further, that the scheme should provide for assistance not only in the case of war as contemplated in Article 16 of the Covenant, but also in the case of threat of war, as referred to in Article 11; and finally, that the Council should have authority to decide upon the application of the scheme to a particular case without the necessity of obtaining the previous assent of signatories of the Convention who do not happen to be represented on the Council at the time.

53. These decisions will enable the technical bodies to complete their preparation of the scheme which will come before the Disarmament Conference or a Special Conference of Government delegates in due course. Until then Governments are in no way committed to it except in so far as they have agreed that the preparation should proceed on the lines indicated above. Lord Lytton spoke with the object of making this point clear. While expressing sympathy with the general objects of the scheme, he said that it was most important, both in general and in this particular case, that Governments should have the fullest opportunity for examining the details of any particular convention, as he thought that there had been too many cases of conventions in which enthusiasm for a particular policy and desire to secure unanimity at the outset had operated against sufficient attention being paid to details which might subsequently prove to be obstacles to ratification.

CONSTRUCTION OF LEAGUE WIRELESS STATION.

54. As part of the measures designed to enable the organs of the League to operate promptly and effectively on the occurrence of international crises, the Advisory and Technical Committee for Communications and Transit had been studying the question of providing the League with its own wireless station. The Committee on Arbitration and Security had passed a resolution which emphasised the desirability of taking steps to put into effect certain schemes concerning the communications of the League in cases of emergency, more particularly as regards the establishment of a radio station. Two proposals were laid before the Assembly—one providing for a station belonging permanently to the League, and the other a station consisting of short wave and medium wave apparatus to be equipped and operated in ordinary times by the Swiss administration, and to be handed over in time of emergency to the exclusive control of the League. The capital cost of first scheme was estimated to be about 2,000,000 francs capital and about 100,000 francs nett recurring. The second scheme would have cost much less, as the local authorities are prepared to put up and run a medium wave station as a commercial enterprise, and the cost to the League would arise almost entirely out of the addition to the medium wave station of a short wave station, which was represented as being desirable, if not necessary, for communication with the more distant countries. There was some doubt, however, as to the accuracy of the estimates and as to the necessity and utility of the proposed short wave station. Further, a legal difficulty arose on account of the peculiar neutral status of Switzerland as to the control of the station when taken over by the League for use in time of emergency.

55. We had been instructed to oppose any scheme which would throw considerable additional charges upon the League Budget in normal times, and we had been informed that there was not at present in India any station with which it would be possible to arrange for reciprocation with the proposed station at Geneva. Lord Lytton made a speech when the matter came before the Third Committee in which he first of all protested against the view which had been expressed that the question of principle had already been decided when the Assembly resolved last year to authorise the preparation of the scheme. He said that he would object to further examination of the scheme if that meant that the principle would not remain open to discussion. He pointed out that the operation of a wireless station depended upon the co-operation of two parties, and that, while the problems connected with the station at Geneva had received much attention, the actual possibilities of reciprocal action in the countries with which it was desired to communicate had not been fully explored. He hoped that the Committee which was to pursue the enquiry would take steps to ascertain how far the various Governments were at present in a position to deal with communications from a station at Geneva.

56. Eventually the Assembly decided to place the matter on the Agenda of its Tenth Session and requested the Council to have a further study undertaken. Meanwhile the Swiss authorities intend to proceed with the establishment of a medium wave station near Geneva on a commercial basis and terms will be arranged for the use of it by the League.

SUPERVISION OF THE PRIVATE MANUFACTURE AND PUBLICITY OF THE MANUFACTURE OF ARMS.

57. This subject has long been under the consideration of the League. Agreement is important, not only intrinsically, but for the effect which it would have on the ratification of the Convention on the International Trade in Arms of 1925 and on the general disarmament position. A Special Committee was convened in 1927 and drew up a draft Convention which, in important respects, was not unanimous. The Special Committee met again just before the Ninth Assembly and still found itself unable to reconcile the different points of view. While the principle of publicity has been accepted for Government manufactures, differences of opinion remain as regards the extent of such publicity. The Assembly decided to request the Council to make an immediate appeal to the Governments represented on the Special Committee to re-examine the points on which differences still existed in the hope that the Special Committee might be convened again at an early date.

COMMITTEE IV.—Financial Questions.

THE LEAGUE BUDGET.

58. In the Budget presented to this year's Assembly the total estimates for 1928 were placed at 26,871,244 francs, representing an increase over those approved for 1928 of 1,537,427 francs. Of this total increase the Secretariat and special organisation accounted for 924,166 francs, the International Labour Organisation 528,810 francs, and the Permanent Court of International Justice 84,451 francs. This was the largest increase which had occurred for some time and was likely to be substantially increased by supplementary estimates. The situation plainly required most careful consideration, especially in view of the resolution passed on the motion of the Indian Delegation in 1926, when the estimates approved amounted to 24,512,341 francs, to the effect that it was desirable, without putting obstacles in the way of the development of the League, to keep in view a maximum limit of expenditure with the object of securing that the contributions of individual States should not normally, in future, exceed their contributions for that year. The Supervisory Commission in their report on the estimates for this year had spoken of them as presenting "features of such grave importance that the Commission must depart from its ordinary practice and devote the main part of its report to certain broad financial considerations which the draft Budget evokes." The Commission invited the Assembly to consider the question of the functions attempted by the different organisations of the League, and indicated that substantial reductions could only be effected if the Assembly saw fit to suspend or postpone certain of the tasks which it had formerly approved. We had general instructions to press strongly for the adoption of some method of limiting the growth of expenditure.

59. The Supervisory Commission is a creation of the Indian Delegation, and the policy of the Indian Delegation, as also of the British Delegation, has been to give it all possible support. It is capable of being the most authoritative and effective organ for controlling the Budget in the League's possession, but its authority is not very precisely defined. It was considerably criticised last year when, in order to make room for a new credit demanded for the codification of International Law, it proposed to suppress a credit already included in the Budget for an aspect of that subject which had already been taken in hand, and it was further criticised for proposing to suppress a credit for services which had been recommended by the General Conference on Transit and Communications. The view had been held in certain quarters that the Commission should confine itself to checking and pruning the estimates submitted for measures otherwise approved, and that it was going beyond its powers in making suggestions on matters of policy such as whether specific measures should be undertaken or continued. We had hoped that, in view of the serious financial situation, the Fourth Committee would accept the wider, rather than the narrower, view of the Supervisory Commission's functions. We therefore supported a proposal of the British delegate to the effect that the Budget should be referred back to the Supervisory Commission in order that that Commission might work out the effect of making reductions up to a total of 1,000,000 francs and submit the result to the Fourth Committee so that the latter would be in a position to decide what economies could in fact be recommended to the Assembly.

60. His Highness the Nawab of Palanpur made a speech, of which the following is a summary. He wished, in the first place, to explain why the Indian Delegation was one of the most persistent advocates of economy. India ranked sixth on the list of contributing States and thus contributed more than any country that did not occupy a permanent seat on the Council. On the other hand, she was one of the countries least directly concerned in most of the League's activities. Although this fact was largely due to geographical reasons, it was difficult to justify the contribution of India when it had to be recognised that India was directly affected only by certain secondary aspects of the League's work. The money which India paid to the League was money which could be employed for necessary, and even urgent, national services. India's interest in the League was increasing, and it would be most regrettable if this growth of interest in the League were counteracted by growing irritation at the amount of the contribution, which had been the object of marked and persistent criticism in India. He believed that the Supervisory Commission, both on account of its small size and of its experience, was better qualified than a large body like the Fourth Committee to undertake reductions with a prospect of success, and he naturally wished to ensure that full use should be made of the Supervisory Commission's services, as India had been responsible for its creation. He did not wish to rule out an increase of modest dimension on good cause being shown, but he expressed concern at the prospect of continuous increases of the amount proposed this year. He did not wish to insist too strongly on the application of the Indian resolution of 1926, but he felt that there was a wide difference between the spirit of that resolution and the demands now before them. While desiring to leave the Supervisory Commission discretion as to details, he wished to express doubt whether Governments would be able to give the necessary degree of collaboration in the large programme projected for the Economic Organisation, and he thought it would be advantageous if that programme were to be reduced. He also hoped that the Supervisory Commission would not confine their scrutiny to the Budget of the Secretariat, but would also examine the Budget of the International Labour Organisation.

61. The proposal of the British delegate to refer the Budget back to the Supervisory Commission was found to be unacceptable, as the general view of delegates was that the economies which had not already been effected by the Supervisory Commission concerned points which the Assembly itself must decide. The Fourth Committee eventually adopted a resolution which drew the special attention of the other Assembly Committees to the position, asked them to bear in mind the necessity for a reasonable limitation of expenditure, and requested them to revise the programme of conferences projected for 1929, referring in particular to the Budgets of the Economic Organisation, the Transit Organisation, the opium and humanitarian activities and for the work of codifying International Law. This resolution, which, it will be noted, had no application to the Budget of the International Labour Organisation, did not represent any advance on the existing position, and it would, in our view, be difficult to maintain that it had any appreciable influence in the direction of economy. The general discussion which led up to it was interesting and important and is summarised in the report presented by the Fourth Committee to the Assembly. In view of its special importance this discussion was, as a special case, fully reported in the Proceedings of the Committee, although ordinarily such Proceedings merely record a note of the results emerging from the discussion.

62. We now pass to the detailed examination of the Budget, and as no question arises in the case of the Permanent Court of International Justice, whose Budget showed only normal and inevitable increases, we shall confine ourselves to:—

(1) The Secretariat and Special Organisations of the League; and

(2) International Labour Organisation.

63. The discussions were long and at times unusually heated. Mr. Yusuf Ali, on our behalf, took an active part in them, and the result undoubtedly had a certain, though in our view inadequate, effect on the credits proposed. We cannot do more in this Report than refer to certain outstanding points.

(a) Wages and allowances of Secretariat.—There had been a growing feeling, which had lately come to a head in certain well-informed articles in newspapers, that there was what has been described as a malaise in the Secretariat. The principles which were to regulate the appointment and employment of the staff were defined in a report submitted by Lord Balfour to the Council and adopted in 1920, which emphasised the necessity for international considerations in the distribution of posts and the purely international character of the League's staff. There was a feeling this year that the international spirit had lost some of its vigour. One Government in particular was understood to claim an undue authority over its nationals employed in the Secretariat. There appeared to be an increasing tendency for Secretariat posts to be filled by diplomats and others seconded from national services and likely in due course to return to them. The higher posts in the League services are held by nationals of Great Powers, and there was a feeling that certain Great Powers at any rate regarded those posts as permanent perquisites. These views were freely and fully ventilated in the Fourth Committee and a resolution was adopted recalling and endorsing the principles of the Balfour Report of 1920. All speakers were at pains, which were obviously genuine, to make it clear that their criticisms were not directed against the Secretary-General himself, who enjoys the highest possible degree of confidence, but were intended rather to support the Secretary-General against certain influences to which he was believed to be exposed. The Secretary-General stated emphatically that the British Government had never endeavoured in any way to influence him in the exercise of his duties and that he would immediately resign if they did so.

(b) Economic and Financial Organisation.—The total estimates for this Organisation, 1,734,000 francs, represented an increase of 358,000 francs over the previous year. Although this increase was large, it was not our intention, for several reasons, to make a heavy attack on this part of the Budget. This Organisation is perhaps the most practical and efficient part of the League machinery. It has shown marked sympathy lately towards India, and it has been, perhaps, the slowest of the League Organisations to develop, so that a curtailment of its growth at the present stage would be less reasonable in this case than in the case of other Organisations. We had, however, intended to argue that the large number of Conferences projected for 1929 might prove to be in excess of the capacity of Governments to collaborate adequately and to suggest that some curtailment of the programme of Conferences might be desirable. His Highness the Nawab of Palanpur had indicated this in his speech in the opening debate, while at the same time saying that India appreciated the value of the work of this Organisation, expected important results from it and desired to support it in every way. Since the original Budget was prepared the Economic Consultative Committee had recommended that the Organisation should undertake tasks which would involve supplementary estimates. In the course of the debate in the Second Committee the programme of the Economic Organisation was modified so as to include the work recommended by the Economic Consultative Committee and also some work thrown upon it by a decision of this year's Assembly on the subject of alcohol, and at the same time part of the original programme, including some of the Conferences, was omitted. When the estimates reached the Fourth Committee finally, after adjustment in the light of this change of programme and after scrutiny by the Supervisory Commission, in the course of which certain economies were effected, it was for the same amount as the original estimate, namely, 1,734,000 francs. In all the circumstances the avoidance of additional credits was all that could be hoped for and we accepted the situation.

(c) Conference for the Codification of International Law.—The Assembly of 1927 had decided that a Conference for the Codification of International Law should be convened at The Hague in 1929. The estimates accordingly included provision for this Conference amounting to 337,000 francs, of which it was reckoned that 128,500 francs was required for holding the Conference at The Hague rather than at Geneva, owing to the cost of transporting and lodging the Secretariat Staff. The questions before the Fourth Committee were whether it was really necessary and desirable to hold the Conference in 1929, and whether it was desirable that the League should incur the extra expense of holding it at The Hague. There was no substantial practical reason, so far as the League was concerned, for holding it at The Hague, and it was generally believed that the preliminary work would not be finished in time for the Conference to take place before the late autumn of 1929—if then. It would, in our view, have been reasonable to decide forthwith to hold the Conference in the early part of 1930 and at Geneva. This view did not, however, prevail, and a very long and at times somewhat embarrassing discussion followed both in the full Committee and in a Sub-Committee, of which Mr. Yusuf Ali was a member. Eventually it was agreed that the credit should be suppressed, and that the Codification Conference should not be held in 1929 unless the Disarmament Conference failed to take place in that year, in which case 208,500 francs of the credit voted for the Disarmament Conference might be used for the Codification Conference. The Dutch Government undertook responsibility for the additional 128,500 francs which the Conference would cost if held at The Hague. This decision was due to the fact that it was scarcely practicable for the Disarmament Conference and the Codification Conference to be held simultaneously next autumn, and it is expressly stated in the report of the Fourth Committee that the reasons for the decision were purely administrative. This was the only saving of any magnitude achieved in the course of the Budget debates, and its history will sufficiently illustrate the extent to which the Fourth Committee was animated by the motive of economy which only served to obtain a concession from the Dutch Government.

(2) International Labour Organisation.

64. The Director of the International Labour Office normally expects the Fourth Committee to accept the Budget of the International Labour Organisation without reduction, as passed by the Governing Body of the Organisation. The Budget was eventually passed unaltered, but after a very long and at times heated debate, in which the unusual course of taking a division was adopted on several points.

65. The nature of the relations between the International Labour Organisation and the League are lacking in precision. The Organisation was created by Part XIII of the Treaty of Versailles. The whole machinery which constitutes the Organisation is described in the Treaty as "associated with that of the League of Nations." The Office itself is described as "part of the organisation of the League." The principal links between the Organisation and the League are that membership of the League carries with it membership of the Organisation, and that the expenses of the International Labour Office and of meetings of the Conference and the Governing Body have to be paid to the Director by the Secretary-General out of the general funds of the League. The Organisation has an autonomous character, and Article 6 of the Financial Regulations of the League provides that all Organisations of the League, autonomous and non-autonomous, shall comply with these regulations and with every decision in the Assembly governing financial and budgetary administration.

66. The constitutional position thus created was the subject of much discussion in the Fourth Committee. It was argued on one side that the determination of the programme of the work of the Organisation rested solely with the Organisation itself, and that the Assembly could not in practice do more than insist upon general conformity between the International Labour Office and the Secretariat of the League in matters affecting the staff, etc. The other side, with which we ourselves were identified, maintained that the Assembly could not leave a large part of the reality of financial control to the Governing Body of the Organisation, a Body which consists as to half only of the Government delegates, those delegates representing only 12 Governments and not being in a position to appreciate and take account of the financial position of the League as a whole. Finally the Fourth Committee in its report expressed the opinion that only the Assembly had the right to approve or amend the Budget of the International Labour Organisation; that it was necessary, however, for the Assembly, in the exercise of this indisputable and undisputed right, to take account of the system in force in the International Labour Organisation, which provides that the Budget submitted to the Assembly is that approved by the Governing Body. We feel that the matter requires to be carried further.

67. In the debate on the detailed estimates discussion took place principally on two subjects:—

(a) The General and Maritime Conference in 1929.—It was argued by Mr. Yusuf Ali on our behalf, together with other delegates, that, if it was necessary to hold two Conferences in 1929, which was open to doubt, they might be held consecutively with the object of saving 27,000 francs in the Budget of the Organisation and a considerable sum in national budgets for the expenses of the delegates of the more distant countries. In spite, however, of all objections, the Director declared himself unable to make any concession and the estimate was passed by the Committee after a vote. The Committee, however, passed a resolution expressing the hope that if, in future, it was decided to hold two Labour Conferences in the same year the dates would be chosen so that the Conferences would take place consecutively for reasons of economy.

(b) The creation of new posts.—The Budget contained provision for the creation of 17 new posts at a cost of 219,900 francs. At the time when the Budget of the International Labour Organisation was before the Governing Body the representative of India, Sir Atul Chatterjee, moved a resolution to the effect that, in view of the extraordinary expenditure to be incurred in 1929 on account of the Special Maritime Conference, the creation of new posts should be postponed, as far as possible, and that there should be a reduction of 150,000 francs under the heading of the creation of new posts. This resolution had been defeated in the Governing Body by 15 votes to 7, but it had the effect of leaving our representative on the Fourth Committee entirely free from any commitment. A special objection to these new posts was that it was generally known that at least one of them, and that the chief one, was intended rather to satisfy the claims of one of the Great Powers, which considered itself insufficiently represented in the International Labour Office, than to meet the actual requirements of the work in hand. When the credit came before the Fourth Committee Mr. Yusuf Ali made a declaration to the effect that the Indian Delegation, having carefully considered the tenour and nature of the preceding discussion on the two Conferences, was of opinion that a similar discussion on the much more important question of the new posts would serve no useful purpose, and that he simply wished to make a statement as follows. He recalled the resolution mentioned above which had been submitted by Sir Atul Chatterjee to the Governing Body, and he stated that this resolution had been moved with the deliberate intention that the Indian Delegation at the Assembly might be entirely free in the matter. This fact relieved the Indian Delegation of any charge of inconsistency if it now voted against these credits and demonstrated that it was the view of India, on the Governing Body as well as in the Assembly, that the authority of the Assembly was not only theoretical but real. He stated that the Indian Delegation was not satisfied, and did not think that it was possible to maintain, that the creation of all the new posts was necessitated purely by the exigencies of the work in hand, which, in their view, was the sole reason to justify the provision of funds, and that he opposed the credit and would vote against if it was put to the vote. He further reserved the liberty of the Delegation to raise the question later in the Assembly and to adopt any attitude that might be considered necessary.

68. The Director was unwilling to offer any compromise, and at the end of the debate certain proposals were put to the vote. A proposal to suppress the whole credit for 219,900 francs for new posts was defeated by 24 votes to 4. Mr. Yusuf Ali's proposal to reduce the credit by 150,000 francs was defeated by 21 votes to 3. A proposal to suppress the credit for the creation of a new post of Chief of Division was defeated by 16 votes to 10. The creation of this post was again put to the vote in the Assembly, as will be mentioned later. In each division we voted in the minority. It is of some significance that about 20 delegates abstained from voting.

69. Throughout these discussions the Director of the International Labour Office, who spoke at great length and very eloquently on various occasions and who made his appeal as much to sentiment and emotion as to reason, represented himself as the spokesman of the Governing Body and as not being in a position to enter into any compromise on their behalf. In the case of the other estimates with which it has to deal, the Fourth Committee has the opportunity of entering into negotiations with the authorities responsible for the demands for funds, namely, the other Committees of the Assembly. But in the case of the estimates of the International Labour Organisation it has no opportunity of doing so, as the Governing Body, which is responsible for the demands, is not in session. The Fourth Committee is, therefore, in the difficult position, if it wishes to make any reduction in the estimates of the Labour Organisation, of having to do so on its own exclusive authority and against the protests of the Director, and in a manner which may, in the absence of any opportunity for negotiation, be somewhat arbitrary. This consideration would seem, in our opinion, to point to the conclusion that if the Director of the International Labour Office cannot be authorised to enter into any arrangements with the Fourth Committee, the Governing Body, or at least its Finance Committee, should be in session at Geneva at the same time as the Assembly. Another reason for this would be that under the present system the Fourth Committee may have to, and on occasions has had to, consider supplementary estimates submitted by the Director which have not been considered by the Governing Body.

70. The result of the proceedings on the Budget was that the Fourth Committee approved an addition of 562,736 francs to the original estimates and a deduction of 405,700 francs from them. The net addition is thus 157,036 francs, making a total Budget approved for 1929, 27,026,280 francs, an increase of 1,692,463 francs as compared with the estimates approved for the current year. India's net contribution will be increased by about £5,180.

AMENDMENTS TO THE FINANCIAL REGULATIONS.

(a) Procedure.

71. As a result of experience in 1927, the Supervisory Commission had been asked to investigate the procedure in connection with supplementary estimates and in dealing with divergences which might arise between the Fourth Committee and other Committees of the Assembly in regard to budgetary credits. They had produced proposals designed in the first place to obviate the undue haste with which the Fourth Committee had on occasions been required to decide upon supplementary estimates, and to settle the difficulties which arose when the views of the Fourth Committee differed from those of another Committee as a result of inconsistent views being expressed by members of the same delegation acting in the Fourth Committee and in one of the other Committees. The amendments to the Financial Regulations were approved by the Fourth Committee, with minor drafting corrections. These will provide satisfactorily for the difficulties which have been experienced in the past and will improve the regularity and deliberation of the proceedings of the Committee. Whether they will directly strengthen the capacity of the Fourth Committee for securing economy is open to doubt.

(b) Appointment of Supervisory Commission.

72. The Supervisory Commission consists of five members, of whom at least one has to be a financial expert, and it has to include persons who belong to countries not represented on the Council. The Financial Regulations further provide that the term of office of each member is three years. Hitherto appointments have been made by the Council A proposal was submitted by the Norwegian delegate that the members should, in future, be appointed by the Assembly. It is desirable to record the way in which this proposal arose.

73. In March last the Council had approved expenditure on the enlargement of the present Council Hall without reference to the Supervisory Commission and subject only to report to the Assembly, although no provision existed for such expenditure in the Budget for 1928. This action was considered by the Fourth Committee to conflict with the very important principle that the Assembly is the sole authority in matters of expenditure. The Supervisory Commission recorded the unanimous opinion that the position of the Assembly as the only authority competent to take decisions in matters of expenditure must be upheld. This opinion was confirmed by the Fourth Committee and by the Assembly

74. The incident called attention to the anomalous fact that while the Assembly is supreme in matters of expenditure the Supervisory Commission is appointed by the Council. The Norwegian delegate's proposal that the appointments should, in future, be made by the Assembly was approved by the Fourth Committee after a vote and later by the Assembly. The decision will not take effect before the 1st January next as the Assembly was not able at short notice to deal with the situation which will arise from the expiry at the end of this year of the term of office of Lord Meston. Although the decision is logically sound the Assembly itself is not a good electoral body for appointments for which expert rather than political or representative qualifications are required. It is very important that the members of the Supervisory Commission should be well chosen, and it is therefore desirable that the Assembly should adopt some method such as that of a Selection Committee for having the qualifications of possible candidates thoroughly examined and reported upon before the election takes place. It is possible that appointment by the Assembly will result in the Supervisory Commission being entrusted by the Assembly with wider powers. This would be a gain from the financial point of view.

ALLOCATION OF LEAGUE EXPENSES.

75. The scale of assessment which was agreed to provisionally for three years in 1926 has never been regarded with satisfaction from the Indian point of view, and it was hoped that when the three years' agreement came to an end it might be possible to obtain a reduction. The Committee on Allocation had met during the last year and had recommended for sufficiently convincing economic reasons that the national budgets of 1930 should be taken as the earliest on which a final revision of the scale could be based. The Committee proposed to bring forward a scheme on the basis of the 1930 national budgets for the consideration of the Assembly of 1932, so that the new scale might come into force for payments to be made after January 1933. We had been instructed that we need not resist this proposal, on the understanding that India was not finally committed to the acceptance of the scheme which the Allocation Committee would submit on this basis. Mr. Yusuf Ali made this clear on our behalf and further enquired why it was not possible for proposals based on the national budgets of 1930 to be brought before the Assembly of 1931 so that the approved scheme might be applied to payments due in 1932. Explanations were forthcoming as to the difficulty of earlier application of the new scheme from the technical point of view, and Mr. Yusuf Ali said that he would raise no objection if an earlier date was not possible. The provisional scale accepted in 1926 will accordingly remain in force during the four years 1929-32 inclusive.

THE LEAGUE BUILDING SCHEME.

76. It had been hoped at the time of the Eighth Assembly that final decisions would be taken during the following year and that the Ninth Assembly would only have to give those decisions their formal confirmation. But this expectation has not been realised. A plan for the Assembly Hall and the Secretariat buildings had been agreed upon, but it had also been necessary to take into account the construction of a library as a result of the munificent gift of Mr. J. D. Rockefeller, Junr. It was eventually found that the site which had been secured in 1926 on the edge of the lake for the Assembly Hall and the Secretariat was not large enough to provide suitably for the construction of the library in addition. Efforts were made to acquire a neighbouring private property, but without success. After negotiation with the Swiss authorities and with the authorities of Geneva, the Special Committee on the building scheme secured for the League the right to make use for the League buildings of a public park known as the Ariana Park, situated above the lakeside property, in consideration of which the latter will be handed over to the public of Geneva. The new scheme is understood to give complete satisfaction to all parties as far as the site is concerned. But the plans, and especially the procedure connected with the competition of architects, were severely criticised by the delegate from Norway, who based his arguments on the protests lodged by Architects' Associations in various countries of Europe. The change of site makes a considerable modification in the plans necessary. The discussion lasted into the small hours of the morning, but it was decided not to delay construction. A Committee of five was authorised to obtain all the expert advice necessary from the technical point of view, and to give final approval to revised plans adapted to the new site, subject to ratification by the Council of the League. It may be hoped that this important matter is at last settled and that the work will be well in hand before the next Assembly meets.

CONTRIBUTIONS IN ARREARS.

77. This serious but delicate matter was, in accordance with the usual procedure, considered confidentially by the Fourth Committee, after reference to a Sub-Committee. The prospect of substantial payments being made in the near future seems brighter than for some time past.

COMMITTEE V.—Social and Humanitarian Questions.

CHILD WELFARE.

78. The Child Welfare Committee has been pursuing various lines of enquiry. Its report presented nothing which required criticism or called for a decision. The Child Welfare Committee has, in the past, been subject to criticism for diffusing its energies in unprofitable directions. But it has recently endeavoured to narrow its field of action and to concentrate on a small number of important questions. The Fifth Committee commended this endeavour and expressed the opinion that the Committee should be encouraged to persevere in this direction.

79. Mr. Mallik took the opportunity in the Fifth Committee to express appreciation of the ideals in view and to give some account of the work which is being carried on in India. He said that the Government and the educated public had taken up the question of child welfare earnestly and that great assistance was being received from Europeans in India and particularly from European ladies and from the Christian Missions. Centres for child welfare and maternity work had been created at almost every important station in India. But much remained to be done, and he explained the great difficulties to be contended with arising from the ancient traditions of civilisation in India and its unfortunate economic and climatic conditions. It was not possible or desirable either to make rapid progress or to copy western methods without discrimination. He assured the Committee that in spite of the serious and deliberate misrepresentations which had been made in recent times, the age of marriage was steadily rising in India and child marriage was constantly diminishing. He did not agree with the delegate of Roumania who said that 18 years should be established as the universal age of marriage; there could be no uniform age for reasons of race and climate. He referred to the testimony of many Europeans in India—officials, social workers and missionaries—as to the conditions of mothers and children, which dispelled the ignorant and prejudiced allegations of persons who had spent only a short time in the country. The most hopeful sign of the future was the way in which the rising generation of educated Indian women were taking to child welfare and other social work. He said that much mischief was being done in India by the exhibition of objectionable and unsuitable cinematograph films from the West, and he thought that the League should take up a strong attitude in this matter, which was a source of serious international trouble. He supported the view that the Governing Body of the Cinema Institute at Rome should contain women and also representatives of the East. (We may here note that Dr. R. P. Paranjpye has since been appointed by the Council of the League to this Governing Body.) With regard to the question of women police, he said that female criminals were practically unknown in India and that women were at present little concerned with out-door or public life. The key-note of the life of women in India was not material enjoyment but sacrifice for others.

TRAFFIC IN WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

80. The main points which the Committee on this subject had been considering during the last year arose out of the report of the Special Body of Experts. They concerned (1) the extension of the enquiry of the Special Body; (2) the abolition of the system of licensed houses; (3) measures to be taken against souteneurs. As to the first, the Committee itself had discussed whether the Special Body, if it resumed its operations, which was dependent upon the provision of funds from outside sources, should renew its enquiries in the countries which had already been examined, or whether it should undertake a new field of enquiry, particularly in the East. The Committee itself had come to no decision on this point, but the Assembly expressed the hope that it would be possible to extend the investigations to countries where no investigation had yet taken place. As to the abolition of licensed houses, the Committee had passed a resolution expressing the hope that the Governments of those countries which still retain the system should examine the question in the light of the report of the Special Body and, in order to facilitate this examination, the Secretariat had been asked to make a study of the laws and regulations in force in those countries where the system has been abolished. Delegates from such countries were unanimous in stating that the policy of abolition had been attended by nothing but good results. As to the third matter, there was unanimity that stricter measures against souteneurs should be adopted and general satisfaction that a concise study of the laws and penalties was being prepared by the Secretariat.

81. As in the case of the preceding subject, Mr. Mallik took the opportunity of expressing recognition of the value of the work which was being accomplished. He said that the information contained in the report of the Special Body would be valuable to all countries in spite of differences of practice, methods and social conditions. As India had been the object of serious misrepresentation outside the League, Mr. Mallik explained to the Committee what had been done in India in recent years. There was still one practice known as devadasi, the continuance of which he deeply deplored. But a strong body of public opinion had grown up which protested against this practice. The Madras Legislative Council had recently passed a resolution recommending the Government to promote legislation on the subject, and Mr. Mallik thought that there was every reason to hope that the practice would be suppressed in the near future. He went on to say that India had no objection to the extension of the enquiries of the Special Body to the East, including India, provided that these enquiries related only to the international traffic and not to internal conditions. If the scope of the enquiries were to be enlarged so as to embrace internal aspects of the question, it would be reasonable that the enquiries should be continued in this form in those countries where they had already been carried out in their restricted form. The question of the abolition of licensed houses had been discussed on the one side from the point of view of science and statistics and on the other side from the more humane point of view. Mr. Mallik was in favour of the humane rather than the scientific attitude in social matters. He ended by saying that the abolition of commercialised prostitution was pre-eminently a suitable subject for the League.

TRAFFIC IN OPIUM AND OTHER DANGEROUS DRUGS.

82. The outstanding fact of the year is that the Geneva Opium Convention of 1925 has received the necessary number of ratifications and will shortly come into operation. At the date of the Assembly there were 29 parties to the Convention and four more States were expected to ratify it shortly. The Central Board to be set up under the Convention will probably be in existence before the end of the year. The Geneva Convention of 1925, if strictly applied, should prove a powerful instrument in the suppression of the traffic in drugs.

83. The Advisory Committee regard the position of the illicit traffic as still highly unsatisfactory. The manufacture of harmful drugs continues greatly in excess of legitimate requirements and the new methods of manufacture are rendering supervision increasingly difficult. The situation is, therefore, in the view of the Committee, extremely serious, if not alarming. The Committee had studied the best methods of ensuring administrative control over the drug traffic and had drawn up a standard set of regulations or code for the suppression of the traffic. The Committee had also requested the Council to urge upon Governments that all factories manufacturing dangerous drugs should either be State-owned or placed under effective Government supervision. These recommendations, after submission to the Council, were communicated to Governments by the Secretary-General. The Committee has dealt with certain points in regard to the status of the Secretariat of the Central Board, recommending by a majority that it should be appointed by the Secretary-General on the nomination of the Central Board, subject to the approval of the Council, and that it should form an integral part of the Secretariat of the League. This matter awaits the final decision of the Council. The Committee has also been concerned at the efforts of certain manufacturers to find substitutes for morphine since the latter was made subject to control, and steps are being taken, as far as possible, to bring these substitutes equally under control.

84. Sir Venkata Reddi made an impressive and reasoned statement on India's attitude in regard to the general position. He applauded the great service which the Advisory Committee was rendering and, after paying tribute to the efforts of others, he claimed attention to the service which had been rendered to the world by India. He summarised the history of international efforts for the suppression of the opium traffic from the Conference of Shanghai in 1909 up to the Geneva Conferences of 1924 and 1925. He justified the attitude of India when differences arose at the Geneva Conference leading to the withdrawal of the United States and China. China was the greatest user of opium in the world, and India had at one time been the greatest producer, but now Persia and Turkey seem to be producing as much opium as India, and China much more. He asked what opium-producing country had done as much as India to fulfil the obligations which had been undertaken. The Committee was being asked to congratulate certain countries for making the production of drugs a Government monopoly. But this had been the position in India for many years. He gave the statistics showing the reduction of acreage under poppy cultivation in India in the last 20 years, and the reduction of revenue, which worked out at an average of at least £4 million a year. In 18 years India had sacrificed a revenue of £72 million. India had made this sacrifice, not because she could afford to do so, but in order to show respect for international opinion, and to assist in the task of suppressing vice connected with the use of drugs. India did not consider that her great sacrifices had met with an adequate response from other countries, either producers or consumers of opium. There had rather been an increase of opium smoking and a larger production of narcotic drugs. He mentioned incidentally that the work of the Advisory Committee had in recent years been concerned more with the traffic in drugs than with the questions of opium production and opium smoking. He described the successive steps taken by India for controlling the opium trade, concluding with the Government of India's decision in 1925 to reduce progressively, and ultimately to extinguish, exports to all destinations except for medical and scientific purposes. In 10 years from 1925 those who wished to obtain opium for smoking or for similar purposes would have to get their supplies from countries other than India. Passing on to the Central Board, which is to be set up under the Geneva Convention of 1925, he laid emphasis on the necessity for the independence of this Board being secured and maintained at any cost. The members of this Board would have to be persons of experience in regard to the production of opium and the control of the traffic, and he thought that India, in view of her sacrifices and her great experience, should be regarded as qualified to supply a suitable candidate for the Board. (It is gratifying to be able to add that Sir B. K. Mullick has since been appointed by the Council to the Central Board.)

COMMISSION OF ENQUIRY ON OPIUM SMOKING IN THE FAR EAST.

85. A Conference of the parties to the Geneva Opium Agreement of February 1925 is due to be held next year. The British Government believed that it would greatly facilitate the work of this Conference if a previous study were made of the problem of controlling the practice of opium smoking under the conditions which exist in the Far East at the present time. Control is hampered, if not nullified, by the difficulties which arise from the illicit traffic and which have increased rather than diminished since 1925. These difficulties are specially prominent in Hong Kong and, to a lesser extent, in Malaya. But they are by no means confined to these two countries. It was anticipated that an independent Commission, appointed by the League, would be able to present an unbiased statement of the actual position and valuable suggestions as to the means to be adopted for regulating it.

86. Sir Venkata Reddi was among those who supported the proposal of the British delegate. He said that the Government of India approved the suggestion. The Commission would not find anything of interest in India except in the province of Burma, which was practically the only part of India in which opium smoking existed, and he assumed that the Committee would wish to visit Burma. Before the Conference met in 1929 it seemed essential that reliable information should be available in regard to opium smoking in the East. The Commission was intended to undertake preliminary work for this Conference, and if the proposal, which the Chinese delegate had made, that the Commission should extend its enquiries to the whole subject of narcotic drugs was approved, the Conference would have to be indefinitely postponed. He suggested that it was for the Fifth Committee to say whether, and to what extent, the Commission was desirable and that the question of whether funds could be found for it should be left entirely to the Fourth Committee.

87. The Fifth Committee eventually decided by 13 votes to 1, with 17 abstentions, to recommend the appointment of the Commission. After consideration by the Fourth Committee the sum of 100,000 francs was included in the Budget of the League as a contribution towards the expenses of the Commission. The British Government has offered a contribution towards the expenses and certain other Governments are ready to make contributions and to offer hospitality. It was made clear that the Government of India are not prepared to contribute financially.

REFUGEES.

88. Since the early days of the League the High Commissioner for Refugees (Dr. Nansen) has, with the League's support and approval, been occupied with the problem of resettling and providing legal status for the large populations (mainly Russians and Armenians) which were left without homes as a result of the war and the events immediately following the war. The total number of Russian and Armenian refugees was originally estimated at 1,300,000, and there now remain some 200,000 unemployed though capable of work. The service is regarded as one of a temporary character, and it is hoped that the time may eventually come when the League will have completed its mission. It was recognised by the Assembly that in present circumstances international action was still necessary for some time to come. The Assembly noted that a complete solution could only be provided by the return of the refugees to their country of origin or their assimilation by the countries at present giving them shelter, and it urged the Governments concerned to provide the refugees with all possible facilities for acquiring the nationality of the countries in which they at present reside. For some time past the administrative work of finding employment for refugees has been mainly carried out by the International Labour Office, which no longer finds itself qualified to deal with this problem. In future the High Commissioner, assisted by a mixed Commission consisting of representatives of the League and representatives of the Governing Body of the International Labour Office, will be entrusted with the whole responsibility under the League.

COMMITTEE VI.—Political Questions.

SLAVERY CONVENTION.

89. In the last 12 months the number of ratifications or final accessions to the Slavery Convention of 1926 has increased from 14 to 26, but there are still several States whose adhesion is most important to ensure the universal application of the Convention. The Sixth Committee noted the receipt of information concerning the abolition of slavery from certain countries, of which India is one. The delegate for Abyssinia maintained that the fact that Abyssinia had not yet ratified the Convention was not preventing her from applying all its provisions. It is considered, however, that the ratification of the Convention by Abyssinia remains greatly to be desired.

MANDATES.

90. The Sixth Committee had only to express approval of the manner in which the mandatory principle is being carried into effect by the Powers who hold mandates under the League and by the Mandates Commission. An admirable spirit of co-operation exists between the Commission and the mandatory Powers. The only controversial element in the discussion on this subject was introduced by the Persian delegate, who made certain allegations of a political character in regard to the relations between Persia and Iraq. His statement concluded with a complaint as to the introduction of plague and cholera into Persia from Iraq, India being the source of these diseases. Sir Venkata Reddi protested against this irrelevant and unexpected charge. He said that the Government of India took the utmost care in the matter of quarantine, and suggested that if the Persian Government had any representations to make on this subject they should convey them to the Government of India through the usual channels. When the discussion was resumed the British delegate made a categorical statement in reply to the political allegations of the Persian delegate, and Sir Venkata Reddi added some remarks on the allegation that India was the source of plague and cholera.

ESTABLISHMENT OF ARMENIAN REFUGEES IN ERIVAN.

91. The High Commissioner for Refugees, Dr. Nansen of Norway, has for some years been endeavouring to find a financial basis for certain schemes which have been prepared with this object. Dr. Nansen has now received offers from certain Governments and from Armenian organisations which would permit of the execution of part of these schemes. The question was whether the Assembly would agree to provide funds for the administrative expenses. The proposal met with some opposition, and Sir Venkata Reddi spoke with the object of raising doubts as to the advisability of taking up a task which there seemed little prospect of carrying out completely and in a manner which would increase the prestige of the League. It was, however, eventually decided that the work should be carried on, so far as funds permitted, under the auspices of the League, and that the League should provide 65,000 francs to meet the administrative expenses.

ORGANISATION FOR INTELLECTUAL CO-OPERATION.

92. This subject has hitherto been dealt with by the Second Committee, but it was transferred to the Sixth Committee this year as a temporary arrangement with the object of making the work of the Committees more equal. The work of this Organisation received an unusual amount of attention this year, and it would appear that its value is being increasingly recognised. The funds of the Institute in Paris have been augmented by an increase of the contribution from the French Government and by additional contributions from other Governments.

93. Intellectual co-operation is described in the Report of the Committee for Intellectual Co-operation presented this year to the Assembly as having two aspects: first, that of promoting and co-ordinating intellectual life in all its departments by means of the improvement or creation of instruments of work, which is the more practical aspect; and secondly, that of bringing intellectual workers to realise that their interests and duties are everywhere identical, and to create among them a spirit of universality and intellectual harmony on which all other forms of reconstruction need to be based. There is, however, a feeling that the Institute at Paris is in danger of diffusing its energies, and it is therefore satisfactory that the Committee has decided to take stock of its work and to review at its next session all schemes submitted to it and all work in hand, so that the Organisation may concentrate its efforts on essential tasks and may reduce the administrative or bureaucratic element to a minimum.

94. Sir Venkata Reddi took part in the discussion and said that while the first object of the activities of this Organisation had been to strengthen the links in the intellectual life of the different countries of Europe, he thought that it would be useful if these activities were extended to the East. There were scholars in the East whose researches might be associated with those of Western scholars with valuable results. The world, and the League in particular, had been engaged since the Great War in trying to outlaw war. There had been a Great War in India also, known as the Mahabarata War, which had in a sense been more disastrous than the Great War of 1914—18, because in addition to the human and material loss which it had caused, it had destroyed arts and sciences and a whole civilisation. The Mahabarata War had been followed by the establishment of the doctrine that non-violence is the supreme law, which might be likened to the Paris Pact of this year. This doctrine had not succeeded in preventing further wars, and research into the causes of its failure by intellectual co-operation between East and West might possibly contribute to a more happy development of the present situation. He believed that the solution of the problem of preventing future wars rested with the intellectual rather than with the political world. He then went on to speak of some of the particular subjects referred to in the report, and he noted that the Organisation for Intellectual Co-operation was concerned, not only with the opinions of Governments, but with those of the non-official public. He anticipated that on the subject of the protection of scientific property the opinion of India might lay more stress on the importance of preserving the public interest than on that of securing the rights of private individuals, which seemed to be the principle underlying the draft Convention which had been prepared and which was now under the consideration of Governments. It had not yet been possible for special reasons to form a National Committee in India. The Central Government in India is no longer exclusively, or even mainly, concerned in the subject of education, and it would be necessary to secure agreement between the provincial authorities before any central body could be formed for intellectual co-operation. In regard to the exchange of teachers between different countries and the sending of students from one country to another, obvious difficulties arose in the case of India of a geographical and financial nature. But a considerable amount of work was being done in India to promote the education both of children and of adults in the ideals and work of the League and in the value of international co-operation, and he hoped that still more would be done in the near future as the results of consultations which are taking place between the Central and the local authorities.

Lord Lytton's Speech in the Assembly on the Budget.

95. As already stated in paragraph 67 above, we had expressly reserved our liberty of action when the Budget came before the Assembly. We had, in the meantime, asked for and obtained from the Secretary of State instructions as to the attitude which we should adopt, and it was in accordance with these instructions that Lord Lytton made the speech of which the following is a summary.

96. He said that the inadequacy of the concessions to the views of the Indian Delegation at an earlier stage compelled him to take this last opportunity of expressing emphatically the great anxiety of the Indian Delegation at the upward tendency of the Budget. He wished to direct attention to—

First, the unsatisfactory character of the existing procedure for determining the League's expenditure;

Secondly, the responsibility of the Assembly for the Budget of the International Labour Organisation equally with those of the Secretariat and the Permanent Court; and Finally, the special circumstances of India's membership of the League.

97. In regard to the first point, he recalled that the Assembly of 1926 appeared to be in general agreement that the contributions of States had reached their limit. Last year the increase in the Budget was only moderate, but this year the Assembly was asked to approve an increase of no less than 1,700,000 francs, or nearly 7 per cent. of the total approved last year. India could not agree to a normal increase at this rate. There were no circumstances to justify an exceptionable increase of expenditure this year, and if this increase was to be regarded as normal the total expenditure of 1926 would be doubled in 10 or 12 years' time. This increase was not merely due to increasing appreciation of the League and to increasing use of it, but to defective procedure for controlling and limiting expenditure. The budgetary control of the League was very weak compared with that of an efficient national government. National governments had independent finance departments whose influence was continually exercised in the direction of economy and whose ability to find money governed all decisions to spend it. There was also the more remote control of the taxpayer. The League, on the other hand, had no executive government with whom rested the intiative of expenditure. All the departments of the League were more interested in spending than in saving. The Supervisory Committee did not discharge all the functions of a Finance Ministry and the control of the Fourth Committee was not that of a body responsible for finding the money for such expenditure as it approved. Lord Lytton recognised that these defects might be inherent in the constitution of the League. He referred to them with the object of emphasising that, in the absence of the safeguards which exist in the government of a State, the League was dependent for economy soley on the exercise by its members of self-restraint and the spirit of reasonableness. This year's proceedings showed little indication of either goodwill or self-restraint. Those whose duty it was to bring forward and defend claims for expenditure had not acted with moderation and those who had to scrutinise the merits of those claims had acted with too little determination. The necessary balance between considerations of policy and finance could only be achieved if the members of the Fourth Committee not only possessed special qualities of judgment and experience, but were also given a reasonable discretion in the use of them. As it was, those who spoke favourably of economy in general had been among the first to criticise proposals for reduction. New services had been approved which might be desirable, but were neither urgent nor essential. New posts had been created, the necessity of which for the actual purposes of the work in hand had not been established.

98. In regard to the control of the Assembly over the Budget of the International Labour Organisation, Lord Lytton said that that Organisation could not be regarded as independent since it was financed by the League. It was in the case of this Organisation that there had, this year, been so conspicuous an absence of any disposition to meet demands for economy in a reasonable spirit. He maintained that it was wholly inadmissible to claim that the International Labour Organisation was autonomous to a degree which would deprive the Assembly of any practical financial control and would require the Assembly merely to vote money for programmes which had already been finally settled.

99. Coming to the last point, Lord Lytton said that India was probably the country whose Government found the most difficulty in justifying the contribution due from her. The proportion of the League's work which could be represented as being of benefit or interest to India was far from corresponding with India's share in its expenditure, which was higher than that of any State not permanently represented on the Council. The fact that the amount of her contribution could be employed for important national services, for which funds were needed, was not the whole difficulty. There was a view in India, as in other Eastern countries, not only that the League did not carry out much work of value to Eastern countries, but that its tendency was to strengthen European interests at the expense of those of other continents and races. If the League might now be regarded as firmly and finally established in Europe that was by no means the case in Asia. It was important that the work of those who were supporting the interests of the League and its ideals in the East should be made as easy as possible. The more the East could be brought into direct contact with the work of the League, and the more the League demonstrated that it worked as much and as impartially for Asia as for Europe, the less would be heard of financial grievances. The best solution lay along the line of increasing collaboration between East and West. But pending such a development the claim for a limitation of the financial burden involved in membership of the League was, in the case of India, an urgent one which needed to be received with greater sympathy and attention. Every increase of the financial burden, without a corresponding extension of the sphere of work, increased the difficulty of maintaining that membership of the League was worth the price.

100. Lord Lytton ended by reminding the Assembly that, weak as the normal procedure of the League might be, there existed, in the last resort, one method by which a dissentient member might insist upon its views being respected, namely, by refusal to vote the Budget, which, like everything else, requires unanimity. He appealed to all those concerned not to force the Indian Delegation to resort to this method. While the Indian Delegation refrained from this extreme step this year there might be no alternative, if this protest were disregarded in framing future Budgets, but to make the assent of the Indian Delegation to the Budget conditional upon obtaining some limitation of expenditure.

101. Lord Lytton was followed by the Norwegian delegate, Mr. Hambro, who had taken a leading part in the proceedings in the Fourth Committee. Mr. Hambro strongly supported the criticisms which had been made by Lord Lytton. The only speaker who attempted to reply to Lord Lytton was the Portuguese delegate, who had acted as Chairman of the Fourth Committee, and his remarks did not appear to be very effective.

102. Mr. Hambro had stated in the course of his speech that he wished to move a reduction of the Budget of the International Labour Organisation by 38,500 francs, this being the amount provided for the creation of a new post of Chief of Division intended to satisfy the demands of a State which did not consider itself adequately represented in the Office. Mr. Hambro's motion to this effect, on being put to the vote, was defeated by 18 votes to 6 with 11 abstentions. Mr. Hambro and Lord Lytton stated that they did not intend to press their view and the whole Budget was accordingly passed with unanimity.

103. Although Lord Lytton's speech had necessarily to be made at the very end of the Assembly Session, when some of the delegates had already left Geneva, it has undoubtedly served to draw attention, not only to the financial administration of the League, but to the importance of broadening the basis of the League's activities. It was inevitable that, in the years immediately following the war, international activity should concentrate upon the urgent problems of European reconstruction. But the phase which demanded that concentration is passing, and it was timely to remind the nations that the preoccupation of the League with European affairs must pass with it. Actual insistence upon reasonable economy is, in itself, an important function The part which Indian Delegations have consistently played at Geneva in demanding the observance of sound financial principles has, we believe, been of value to the League in promoting its efficiency and in maintaining its prestige. But it is of at least equal importance to secure that the League observes in practice that universality which it claims in principle. We believe that financial pressure may be usefully and legitimately employed to this end, provided it is used with discretion and with a full sense of responsibility. Fairminded persons are beginning to recognise that the non-European countries, and India in particular, cannot reasonably be expected to acquiesce in a constantly increasing Budget, which is distributed among the States Members on the assumed basis of an interest proportionate to economic capacity, so long as the main incidence of the League's activities remains unchanged. We hope that the action which we took this year may, in the near future, have its due effect upon the total cost of the League's activities, upon the relative share of India in that cost, and upon the relative value to India of the results of the League's expenditure.

104. We conclude by observing that if India is to demand that her practical interest in the work of the League should approximate more closely to her share of the expenditure, it is all the more necessary that the advantages which India already enjoys in consequence of her membership of the League should be appreciated at their true value. Nothing that we have said should be taken as supporting the view that the advantages which India already derives from the League are negligible. These advantages have always, on the contrary, been considerable and they are becoming more so. They include in particular a degree of international status which India would not now enjoy, nor be able to obtain, if her separate signature to the Treaty of Versailles had not made her an original member of the League.

(Signed) LYTTON.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Report on the Cotton Crops of Bengal, 1928-29.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27, the area under the cotton crops in Bengal has represented some 0·2 per cent. of the total area under cotton in India.)

There are two crops—early and late. The "early" crop is chiefly grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State, and to a small extent also in other districts. The "late" crop is grown in Bankura and Midnapore.

Character of the Season.—Since the publication of the third forecast in December last, the outturn of the early crop is reported to have been reduced in the important district of the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the Tripura State owing to excessive rain before plucking time in October.

A fairly satisfactory outturn is expected for the late crop.

Area sown.—The total area sown with early cotton is returned at 77,396 acres (revised), and that with late at 1,403 acres (revised), against 76,863 acres and 903 acres, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

Outturn.—The outturn of the early crop is estimated at 17,446 bales (revised) and the late crop at 379 bales (revised), against 19,784 bales and 125 bales, respectively, in the corresponding forecast of last year.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT ON THE FOREST ADMINISTRATION IN THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR ENDING 31ST MARCH 1928.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Revenue Department.

Forests.

CALCUTTA, THE 6TH FEBRUARY 1929

RESOLUTION—No. 1732 For.

READ—

The Annual Progress Report on the Forest Administration in the Presidency of Bengal for the year ending 31st March 1928.

READ ALSO—

The reports of the previous three years and the Government Resolutions thereon.

Mr. E. O. Shebbeare was Conservator of Forests, Bengal, till the 15th November 1927. From the 16th November 1927, i.e., from the date of the division of the Bengal Forest Department into two circles, to the end of the year, he was in charge of the Northern Circle and Mr. J. Homfray of the Southern Circle.

The foreword to the report indicates the main problems which are before the department. The revenue from forests continues to increase. The difference between revenue and expenditure which in 1883-84 was only Rs. 3·60 lakhs rose in 1926-27 to Rs. 14·10 lakhs and in the year under report amounted to Rs. 16·47 lakhs. Considering that the total expenditure includes both capital and revenue expenditure, the financial results are very satisfactory. Increase in expenditure has always resulted in substantial increase in revenue; and with this fact in view the officers of the Department from time to time suggest schemes involving fresh expenditure. Several paragraphs of the report referring to such schemes betray a certain impatience on the part of the officers of the Forest Department, of the delays which occur in providing funds for necessary and profitable schemes Government recognize the zeal of the officers of the Department but have had occasion to remark that a certain amount of avoidable delay and unnecessary misunderstanding has arisen owing to the unfamiliarity of the Department with the Financial Rules of Government. It is necessary for the Forest Department to adhere scrupulously to the financial rules framed under rule 37 (g) of the Devolution Rules. Provided they do so, the Department may rest assured that Government will consider their schemes for the necessary conservancy and profitable development of the State forests with the greatest sympathy.

2. The reorganisation of the administration of the Sundarbans Forest Division is the most pressing improvement under the consideration of Government.

The proposal about the formation of a Silvicultural Division is also under consideration.

The scheme for the re-adjustment of boundaries between reserved forests and Government estate forests in Cox's Bazar and Chittagong Divisions involving release of some forest land for cultivation and transfer of certain areas of khas forests to the Forest Department is an important improvement. The scheme was started by the Department before its financial aspect as a whole had been considered and before it had gone into the budget through the schedules of new expenditure. Steps are now being taken to regularize the position

3. Area.—The area of reserved forest increased by 4 square miles to 5,303 square miles. The area of protected forest diminished by 1,630 acres in the Dacca-Mymensingh Division due to its reservation. There was no change in the area of unclassed forests. Including the unclassed and other forests, the total area under the control of the Forest Department thus practically remained unchanged.

4. The average cost of demarcation of boundaries of khas forests in Chittagong Division decreased from Rs. 20 to Rs. 15 per mile.

Orders approving the final boundary between the Cinchona and Forest Departments in the district of Darjeeling were issued after the close of the year.

5. Working plans.—The revised working plans for the Jalpaiguri and Buxa Divisions were under compilation and the revision of the Kurseong working plan was in progress. The period for revision of the Sundarbans working plan has been extended.

The full programme of regeneration could not be carried out but 2,435 acres were taken up during the year, against 1,994 and 1,511 acres in the two previous years. Some striking figures are given which demonstrate the value to the State of the new plantations which are being laid down under the present system of artificial regeneration. Five square miles of sâl (shorea robusta) against 15 prescribed in the working plans have been raised artificially. The crop on this comparatively small area will be worth about Rs. 224 lakhs on maturity The total outlay on this area, including the cost of formation and upkeep of the area, with compound interest, will be recovered from the sale of thinnings long before the crop matures.

6. Natural calamities.—A cyclone passed through the Ramgarh Sita kund and South Sitakund Ranges in the Chittagong Division in April 1927 and caused considerable damage to the forest buildings. The Tista, Mechi and Hasimara rivers caused some damage this year also. The Basra is showing a tendency to alter its course. The river Sankos has returned to its old bed. The silting up of rivers in the Chittagong Hill Tracts is taking a serious turn.

In the Kalimpong Division the planting up of landslips was taken up.

7. Utilisation.—The band mill which was started at Siliguri in April 1926, was employed on the conversion of sal and did good work. The largest demand for sawn timber was from the Eastern Bengal and other Railways.

8. Khedda.—Departmental khedda operations in the Buxa Division resulted in a net profit of Rs. 5,048 against Rs. 2,319 in the previous year. Departmental khedda operations in the Chittagong Hill Tracts resulted in the capture of 32 elephants, of which 4 died, 1 escaped, 1 was shot and 5 were released. The profits of these operations amounted to Rs. 14,400.

9. Outturn, revenue and expenditure.—The steady increase in outturn and revenue was maintained. The revenue increased from Rs. 31,23,842 in 1926-27 to Rs. 33,49,479 in 1927-28. The total expenditure was Rs. 17,02,455 in 1927-28 against Rs 17,34,759 in 1926-27. The expenditure included little over Rs. 9 lakhs on conservancy, maintenance and regeneration and the balance of about Rs. 8 lakhs on establishment.

The amount spent on construction and repairs of roads and bridges, was less than that in the previous year. The important new works carried on during the year were the conversion of a portion of the Sukia-Manibhanjang and Rambi-Lalkuti bridle paths in the Darjeeling Division into cart roads. Seven bridges commenced in 1926-27 in the Buxa Division were completed during the year and one new bridge was constructed.

The amount spent on construction of buildings was slightly less than that in the previous year. The most important building constructed was the Divisional Forest office at Darjeeling. The amount spent on upkeep of existing buildings was, however, a little more than that of the previous year.

10. General.—The total value of sales of forest produce during the year was about Rs. 50,000 more than that in the previous year. The value of forest produce given away free of royalty was Rs. 49,193 against Rs. 47,600 in 1926-27. The free grants included timber granted for repairs to and construction of public institutions in the Sundarbans Forest Division, for the relief of the people affected by the cyclone in the Chittagong Division and for use by the Buddhist students of the Rangamati High School. A small experiment directed to the problem of afforestation in the district of Bankura was carried on last year.

Rupees 2,440 were paid as rewards for killing tigers. Only one person was killed by a tiger during the year against an average of 13 during the previous five years.

The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to Messrs. Shebbeare and Homfray for their successful administration of the Forest Circles. His Excellency in Council also notices with pleasure the record of good work done by other officers of the Department referred to in the report.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

ORDERED also that a copy of the above resolution be forwarded to the Conservators of Forests, for information.

By order of the Governor in Council,

H. C. V. PHILPOT,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.)

48. Traverse Survey.—The cadastral survey of the notified area shall be based upon a traverse survey, and such traverse shall ordinarily be carried out by theodolite observations. If possible, the traverse survey shall be connected with one or more points which have been fixed by previous surveys.

49. Cadastral Survey.—(1) In the course of proceedings under section 101 of the Act, a large-scale map showing roads, rivers, railways and other physical features of the country, as well as homesteads and other fields, shall be prepared for each village contemplated by section 115A of the Act as the unit of survey and record.

(2) When the area contained within the external boundaries of the village maps of the previous survey contemplated by section 115A is unsuitable as the unit of survey and record, or, if there has been no such previous survey, the Settlement Officer shall, after ascertaining, as far as possible, the opinions of the landlords and tenants concerned, submit his proposals for the determination of the area to be adopted as the unit of record and survey to the Board of Revenue through the controlling officers to whom he is subordinate. That unit shall, if sanctioned by the Board of Revenue, be adopted in framing the record-of-rights, but shall not be deemed to constitute a village within the meaning of the Act until a notification has been issued under section 3 (10) (b). The Board of Revenue shall submit a copy of its order in each case to the Local Government for the issue of the notification.

50. Erection of Boundary Marks.—Boundary marks of a permanent nature shall ordinarily be erected at every point where the boundaries of three villages meet, and may also be erected at any other points where this is necessary, in the opinion of the Revenue Officer, for the definition of any boundary.

51. Preliminary Record-writing.—At this and the two following stages the draft record shall be prepared. The draft record shall consist of statements of rights which are hereinafter styled the khatians. There shall ordinarily be a separate khatian for each person interested, or each group of persons jointly interested, in the land, whether as proprietor, tenure-holder, raiyat, under-raiyat or occupant, and each khatian shall show the rights and liabilities of each person or group of persons according to the particulars which have been specified in the notification under section 101. At this stage all such particulars shall find entry, with the exception that no entry shall be made as to the revenue, rent or cess, the class to which the tenant belongs, or the special conditions and incidents of the tenancy. At this stage there shall also be prepared a field-index or khasra arranged according to the serial numbers of the fields in the village. This field-index shall not form part of the draft record. Disputes regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by a Revenue Officer or a kanungo in a summary manner and on the basis of actual possession.

52. Local Explanation.—When the areas of the fields have been extracted and entered in the preliminary record, a copy of each khatian shall be made over by a Revenue Officer or a kanungo to the person or body of joint persons in whose names the khatian has been opened, or to their representatives. Each khatian shall then be examined on the ground, with reference to the village map, by a Revenue Officer or a kanungo, and shall be explained to the person or persons concerned, or their representatives, if present. The Revenue Officer or kanungo shall make such corrections as are necessary in the map, in the draft record, and in the copies of the khatians which have been distributed, if they can be produced for this purpose. At this stage entries of the rent which is payable according to the statement of the landlord and according to the statement of the tenant shall be made in the draft khatians of the tenants and in such copies as are produced; but the other particulars which were omitted at the stage of preliminary record-writing shall be deferred until the stage of attestation.

53. Attestation.—This stage of the operations shall be taken up after the landlords and tenants have been allowed a sufficient interval to study their copies of the khatians. The attestation of each village shall be taken up at a convenient place in or near the village. Before attestation begins, a proclamation shall be published in the village giving due notice to the landlords and tenants and calling on them to appear before the Revenue Officer on the date fixed, bringing with them their copies of the khatians. As each person appears before him the Revenue Officer shall examine his khatian, read out all the important entries, make corrections where required, and see that the khatian is complete in all particulars. Disputes regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by the Revenue Officer in a summary manner and on the basis of actual possession. In the khatian of each proprietor or group of proprietors he shall enter with his own hand the revenue payable to Government. In the khatian of each tenant or group of tenants he shall enter with his own hand the class to which the tenant or group of tenants belongs, the special conditions and incidents (if any) of the tenancy and the rent lawfully payable or deliverable to each landlord or group of landlords. In the khatian of each cultivating raiyat as defined in the Cess Act, the Revenue Officer shall, and in the khatian of each tenure-holder as defined therein, the Revenue Officer shall, as far as possible, record the cess lawfully payable to each landlord or group of landlords. The Revenue Officer shall then sign and date the office copy of the khatian, and if the copy of the khatian, which was given to the person or persons concerned, is produced, the Revenue Officer shall see that it corresponds with the office copy as attested. When the Revenue Officer has completed the attestation of all the khatians of a village, he shall draw up a formal proceeding to this effect. Ben. Act IX of 1880.

54. Publication of the Draft Record.—The Revenue Officer shall publish the draft record-of-rights by placing it for public inspection, free of charge, during a period of not less than one month, at such convenient place as he may determine. A proclamation shall previously be published in each village, informing the landlords and tenants of the place at which the draft record of that village will be open to public inspection, the period during which it will be open to such inspection, and the last date on which objections may be filed. Notwithstanding anything contained in the proclamation, the Revenue Officer may extend the period during which the draft record will be open to inspection and during which objections may be filed.

55. Objections under section 103A.—(1) Blank forms of objection shall be supplied free of charge and objections shall, as far as practicable, be made on such forms. Along with the original objection, the objector shall file a copy or copies for service on all other persons who, in the opinion of the Revenue Officer, are materially interested in the case. The Revenue Officer shall issue notices informing the objector and all other persons so interested of the date and place fixed for the hearing of the objection, and with each notice to a person other than the objector he shall forward a copy of the objection. Objections regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by the Revenue Officer on the basis of actual possession. The record shall contain the names of the witnesses examined and an abstract of the reasons for the decision. When a Revenue Officer directs that a change shall be made in the rent recorded as payable by any tenant he shall direct that a corresponding change shall be made in the cess, if any recorded as payable by such tenant. Objections shall not be disposed of in the absence of any of the parties materially interested, or their representatives, unless the Revenue Officer be satisfied, for reasons to be recorded in writing, that the notice was duly served on the person concerned.

(2) Whenever the Revenue Officer has been unable, before the publication of the draft record, to enter the cess payable by all or any of the tenure-holders in any local area, and whenever, owing to a revaluation duly made after the publication of the draft record, there have been changes in the cess lawfully payable by all or any of the tenure-holders in such local area, the Collector may, at any time before the final publication of the record, make an objection to the omissions or entries in question, and the Revenue Officer shall thereupon proceed, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (1) of this rule, to consider the objection, and, if necessary, to make in the draft record of such local area entries or revised entries of the cess which is then lawfully payable by each tenure-holder concerned:

Provided that no such entry or revised entry shall be made unless the tenure-holder has been previously informed of the proposed entry and has been given an opportunity of objecting thereto.

56. Preparation of a settlement rent-roll.—Where land revenue is being, or is about to be, settled, the Revenue Officer shall prepare a rent-roll for each village, in accordance with the following procedure:—

(i) Before preparing the rent-roll the Revenue Officer shall issue a proclamation informing the landlords and tenants of the time and place at which the preparation of the rent-roll will begin. If any tenant be absent, the Revenue Officer shall make no entry in the rent-roll which would have the effect of altering the rent of that tenant until a special notice has been duly served on that tenant.

(ii) When the Revenue Officer is preparing the settlement rent-roll on the basis of a table of rates, he shall consult the landlord and tenants of the village regarding their own classification of the lands therein and regarding the relative capability of each class of land, according to that classification. When specifying in the table of rates the rate of rent which is fairly and equitably payable in respect of each class of land, the Revenue Officer shall specify and have regard to the rate of rent which is now being paid in respect of each class of land, and shall also have regard to the statements of the landlords and tenants as to the classification and relative capability of lands. Before settling any rent upon the application of the table of rates, the Revenue Officer shall consider the circumstances of the tenant and shall compare the total rent which he is now paying with the rent which he would pay according to the table of rates. He shall also consider whether the land held by the tenant is good or bad land of its class.

(iii) When determining the final entries to be made in the rent-roll, the Revenue Officer shall read out, or cause to be read out in his presence, the principal entries relating to the holding and rent of each tenant whose rent is to be settled, and shall enter in the rent-roll with his own hand the fair rent settled for each such tenant.

(iv) The Revenue Officer shall enter in the settlement rent-roll the cess which is payable by each tenant to his landlord after the determination of the fair rent.

(v) The publication of the draft table of rates, if any, and of the draft settlement rent-roll shall be carried out in the manner and for the period prescribed in the case of the publication of the draft record-of-rights.

(vi) Objections under section 104B (3) or under section 104E of the Act shall ordinarily be disposed of by the Revenue Officer, in or near the village in which the land is situated. The Revenue Officer shall record his reasons for each order on an objection. Appeals will lie against these orders to the superior Revenue authority mentioned in rule 45.

57. Preparation of the Final Record.—When all objections under section 103A of the Act have been disposed of, and when the settlement rent-roll, if any, has been prepared, sanctioned and incorporated with the record, and when the draft record has been corrected in accordance with the original and appellate orders on all objections, the Revenue Officer shall proceed to frame the final record. The final record shall be prepared in conformity with the draft record corrected as above, and shall consist of a series of khatians prepared on forms which are generally similar to the forms used for the khatians of the draft record. The khasra shall not form part of the final record. The final record shall be printed or prepared in manuscript, according as the Local Government may, by general or special order, determine.

58. Publication of the Final Record.—The Revenue Officer shall publish the final record-of-rights by placing it for public inspection free of charge, during a period of not less than one month, at such convenient place as he may determine. A proclamation shall previously be published in each village, informing the landlords and tenants of the place at which the final record of that village will be open to public inspection and the period during which it will be open to such inspection.

59. Distribution of printed maps and of copies of the Final Record.—The maps which have been prepared under rule 49 (1) may be printed under the authority of the Local Government, and may be distributed to public officers, to landlords and tenants and to others, in such manner as the Local Government may, from time to time, by general or special order, direct. Copies of the final record-of-rights, or of portions thereof, shall be printed or prepared in manuscript and shall, after certification under section 76 of the Indian Evidence Act, be distributed to public officers, to landlords and tenants and to others, in such manner as the Local Government may, from time to time, by general or special order, direct. The printed maps and the copies of the record or of portions thereof, which are distributed under this rule to persons other than public officers shall be distributed free or on payment, according as, in the case of each local area, the Local Government may direct. When payment is required the sums so received shall ordinarily be adjusted against the expenses incurred on account of survey and settlement, should the account of those expenses still be open. 1 of 1872.

Part III.—Procedure After Final Publication.

SETTLEMENT OF FAIR RENTS UNDER SECTIONS 105 AND 105A.

60. (1) When the landlord or tenant applies for the settlement of a fair rent, he shall be considered as plaintiff and the opposite party as defendant. The proceedings shall be dealt with as suits and, subject to the directions contained in this rule, the Revenue Officer shall adopt, as far as it is applicable, the procedure laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the trial of suits.

(2) When the estate or tenure is managed by the Court of Wards or by a manager appointed by the District Judge under section 95 of the Act and a settlement of revenue is not being or is not about to be made, the procedure laid down in this rule for recording and settling rents shall be followed, the manager of the estate or the tenure being regarded as the landlord.

(3) When a landlord or tenant applies for the settlement of fair rent notice shall be served on every person interested in the application, together with a copy of the application, or extract therefrom, or summary thereof, so far as the application concerns such persons.

(4) With the consent of the Revenue Officer, any number of tenants occupying land under the same landlord in the same village may make a joint application for the settlement of rent, or may be joined as defendants in the same proceedings on a similar application by the landlord:

Provided that, if at any time it appears to the Revenue Officer that the question between any two of the parties, of whom one is so joined with others, cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, he may order a separate trial to be held of that question, or he may pass such order, in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the joint or separate disposal of the application, as he may think fit.

(5) On the date fixed for the settlement of fair rents, or any subsequent date to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the Revenue Officer shall read aloud, or cause to be read aloud in his presence, the name of each tenant whose rent has to be settled, the area of his tenancy, and the existing rent, and shall then proceed to settle a fair rent under the provisions of section 105 of the Act.

(6) When a landlord or tenant does not attend, after due service of notice has been proved, the procedure may be ex parte.

(7) Where a landlord or a tenant appears and the fair rent is not settled under sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of section 105 of the Act, that is, by the acceptance by the parties of a rent proposed by the Revenue Officer, or by compromise, the Revenue Officer shall record evidence in the manner prescribed in clause (f) of section 148 of the Act for the trial of rent suits, and shall settle a fair and equitable rent according to law:

Provided that in important cases the Revenue Officer may, in his discretion, record evidence at length.

(8) When a fair rent has been settled under these rules, it shall be entered in the khatian as the rent payable in respect of the tenancy from the date prescribed by section 110 of the Act.

(9) It shall not be necessary for a Revenue Officer to draw up a separate decree with regard to the fair rent settled; but the entry made in his decision or schedule attached thereto with regard to the fair rent settled shall be held to be a decree.

(10) A proceeding under section 105A of the Act shall be considered as part of the proceeding under section 105 in which the issue arose, and the record of a proceeding under section 105A shall be considered as part of the record of the proceeding under section 105. In trying and deciding issues under section 105A, the Revenue Officer shall record evidence in the manner prescribed in sub-rule (7) of this rule.

61 Suits under section 106.—Proceedings under section 106 of the Act shall be dealt with in all respects as suits between the parties.

62. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, the procedure prescribed in clause (ff) of section 148 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as being applicable to suits for the recovery of rent, shall be applicable mutatis mutandis to proceedings, under sections 105, 105A or 106 of that Act.

Rules under Order XXVI, rule 9, of the Civil Procedure Code, not to apply to proceedings under section, 105, 105A or 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

63. The rules issued by the Local Government under Order XXVI, rule 9, of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, shall not apply to proceedings in the Court of a Revenue Officer under sections 105, 105A or 106 of the Act.

Applications under section 108A by whom to be dealt with.

64. Applications under section 108A of the Act for the correction of bonâ fide mistakes must be dealt with by a Revenue Officer specially empowered by the Local Government. If they are presented to a Revenue Officer not specially empowered under that section, he shall receive them and forward them with his report to the Revenue Officer so empowered. The court-fee payable on every such application is eight annas.

CHAPTER VIII.

General Scale of Fees.

65. Service of notices.—(1) For the service of every notice under this Act, not being a notice issued by any Revenue or Civil Court [fees for serving which are regulated by the Court-fees Act, 1870 (VII of 1870)], and not being provided for any other rule made under this Act, a process fee of 12 annas shall be levied, if the notice be directed to one or more persons residing in the same village.

(2) Where such notices are directed to several persons resident in different villages, a fee of 12 annas shall be levied for service in each village.

Fees for service of notice.

(3) In addition to the above fee, the actual charge which must be incurred if it is necessary to travel by railway or boat, or to cross ferries, shall be levied from and paid by the person at whose instance the process is issued before issue of the process. If a peon carries more than one process involving charges for railway fare, boat hire, etc., the sum leviable shall be charged in equal shares upon all the processes so carried. The rate at which such boat hire is to be charged shall be the same as those fixed for criminal processes under rule VII of the Rules prescribed by the High Court under clause (ii) of section 20 of Act VII of 1870, and shall be sufficient only to cover, on the whole, the actual cost of hiring boats, or of such boat establishment as it may be necessary to maintain for the purpose of serving processes of this nature.

(4) If a peon is detained at the place of service for more than 24 hours at the request of the person at whose instance the process was issued, or of his agent, such person or agent shall then and there pay demurrage at the rate of 5 annas a day and obtain a receipt from the peon Unless this demurrage is paid, the peon shall decline to wait. No demurrage shall be charged if the delay was not due to the person requiring the process or to his agent.

66. For the cost of transmission of money deposited in cases (a) and (b) of section 61 referred to in section 63 (l) of the Act, the fee payable for sending the amount by postal money order shall be levied.

67. Deposits of rent.—For deposits of rent under section 61 (2) of the Act fees in cases (c) and (d) of that section shall be levied according to the following scale:— Fees for deposits of rent.

	As.
On any sum not exceeding Rs. 5	1
On any sum exceeding Rs. 5 but not exceeding Rs. 10 ...	2
On any sum exceeding Rs. 10 but not exceeding Rs. 25 ...	4

On any sum exceeding Rs. 25, four annas for each complete sum of Rs. 25 and four annas for the remainder; provided that, if the remainder does not exceed Rs. 10, the charge for it shall be only two annas; provided also that in no case shall the fee exceed the sum of Rs. 5.

Fourth publication.

No. 21—The 18th January 1929.—The following draft of rules which, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make for the regulation of traffic in the line of navigation known as the Mahananda river (100 miles in length) in the districts of Malda and Rajshahi which has been declared under section 2 of the said Act in Bengal Government notification No. 10-I., dated the 18th October 1927, published in Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th idem, is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 10th April 1929, and any objections or suggestions received by the undersigned before that date will be considered:—

Draft Rules.

1. All vessels, when moored, must be made fast by the bow and stern along the bank so as not to obstruct other vessels passing in the river.

2. In such portions of the river where only one towing path exists, vessels must be moored on the off-side and the towing path side kept clear.

3. Only one vessel is allowed to make fast along and in line with the river banks, and no other vessel is to be made fast or to be placed outside of vessels so secured without the special permission of the Supervisor. No vessel or raft is to be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety, or obstruct the passage, of other vessels, and all vessels are to be moored in such places and in such a manner as the Supervisor may at any time direct.

4. The Supervisor may, by notification, prohibit the dropping of anchors or the erection of bamboos or luggees in or on any portion of the river or banks, and no anchors may be dropped or bamboos or luggees erected at such prohibited sites.

5. No vessel shall be moored at a distance of less than 500 feet from the junction of two or more rivers.

6. Vessels are not permitted to anchor or moor in the restricted portions of the channels maintained by training works.

7. Before entering such restricted channels the person in charge of the vessel must lighten his vessel sufficiently to prevent grounding in the channel.

In the event of any vessel running aground, the person in charge of the vessel must arrange for its immediate release by all means possible, failing which it will be lawful for the Supervisor or his subordinates to arrange to remove such vessel and to recover the costs of such operation from the owner of the vessel as provided for in rule 11 below.

8. No person is allowed to place any obstruction on the river banks so as to impede free passage along them. No person is permitted to place any obstruction in the river bed so as to impede navigation or cause any deterioration of the channel.

9. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the river.

10. In every case of a sunken vessel, whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

11. If three days after the occurrence of a wreck it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner, provided that, when the wreck obstructs the fairway, they may take action at once to remove the same.

A notice must be affixed on the wreck when recovered, calling on those concerned to pay to the Supervisor all expenses incurred in the recovery or removal of the wreck, and intimating that if the sum be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the vessel and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold, the proceeds of the sale being dealt with as directed in section 9 of the Canals Act of 1864.

12. Every Canal Officer is authorized to remove any vessel, anchor, pole or any other thing which he may find in a position in contravention of these rules and to deal with it in such manner as may be necessary to give effect to the rules.

13. Whenever any laden vessel which has been sunk, has been recovered, or when a laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Canals Act or of these rules, the Supervisor must give immediate notice of the same to the owner or his agent, calling upon him to remove the cargo without delay and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

14. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and the place of business or abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel seized under the said Act, he must notify the seizure by advertisement in his office and in at least one public newspaper. Such notice shall require the owner to cause the immediate removal of the cargo and to pay all expenses incurred in providing for its proper custody and storage.

15. The Supervisor may incur whatever expenses are necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Act and, if the cargo be not removed within ten days from the date of seizure, he may sell the same at a public auction to be held in his office or at the place of seizure to the highest bidder, after giving ten days' notice of the auction by advertisement in at least one newspaper.

16. The money realized at such a sale is to be applied, in the first instance, to defray any expenditure that may have been incurred by the Supervisor on account of the cargo sold, and the balance, if any, is to be held in deposit to be paid to the owner of the said cargo on his applying for the same.

17. No officer of any description or rank employed on the river shall, either directly or indirectly, bid for or purchase any article sold under these rules or under the provisions of the Act.

18. Any person (other than the Supervisor or his subordinates), who infringes any of these rules, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for any one infringement and to an additional fine at a rate not exceeding five rupees a day if the infringement be continued.

Establishment.

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers, and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the fund are—(1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits ; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominee predecease them after five years of admission. The second quinquennial valuation of the Fund has been completed by the Actuary to the Government of India, and his report discloses very favourable results. For forms of application and rules of the Fund apply to the Accountant-General, Bengal, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

Enhancement by suit.

48D. (1) The landlord of an under-raiyat may, subject to the provisions of this Act, institute a suit to enhance the rent of the under-raiyat, and to eject the under-raiyat if he refuses to pay the rent determined by the Court.

(3) The Court shall thereupon inquire from the under-raiyat if he agrees to pay the rent so determined. If the under-raiyat agrees, he shall be entitled to remain in occupation of his holding at that rent for a term of fifteen years from the date of the agreement.

48E. When a raiyat has ejected an under-raiyat on the grounds specified in clause (c) or clause (d) of section 48C, the under-raiyat may apply to the Court by which the decree for ejectment was passed to be put in possession of the holding from which he was ejected by way of restitution if, within four years of the ejectment, the landlord sublets the holding or any portion thereof; and thereupon the Court may, if satisfied after inquiry that the landlord did not use the land for his homestead, or for cultivation by himself or by hired servants or by members of his family or with the aid of partners, order a recovery of possession on such terms, if any, with respect to compensation to the persons injured as to the Court may seem just.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Third and Final Report on the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1928-29.

(NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27, the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 18·4 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.)

Character of the Season.—In the second forecast issued in December last, the weather was already reviewed as having been favourable for the crop. The period covered by this forecast is that of the harvest, during which conditions were also favourable for field operations.

Acreage.—According to the estimates returned by the District Officers, the total area under winter rice is 15,357,400 acres, as compared with 13,210,100 acres last year. The large increase in area is attributed to favourable weather at the time of transplantation.

Outturn.—From the summary of the district returns appended, it will be seen that Khulna, Bankura, Rajshahi and Rangpur report more than a normal crop (i.e., 108, 110, 117 and 105 per cent., respectively). Twelve districts report a normal crop of 100 per cent., ten districts a crop varying from 80 to 99 per cent. Only one district, viz., Nadia, reports a crop of 67 per cent.

As compared with the second forecast a better crop has been harvested in six districts, while in the district of Bakarganj only the crop has slightly deteriorated from the previous estimate. In the remaining districts there has been no change.

According to the above estimates, the provincial outturn works up to 99 per cent. as against 78 per cent. of the normal last year. In my opinion the same percentage outturn as estimated in the second forecast, viz., 105 was reaped for the province as a whole.

Accepting 105 per cent. as the provincial outturn, the gross yield of the crop, on the basis of a normal yield of 12½ maunds of clean grain per acre, is estimated at 7,404,500 tons this year as against 4,731,400 tons last year, or an increase of about 56 per cent.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal (offg.).

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for January 1929.

I. Character of the Season.—During the first sixteen days of the month the weather was dry, but since then heavy showers fell almost throughout the Presidency. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Harvesting of winter paddy was completed; thrashing continued in full swing. Transplantation of summer paddy seedlings and cutting and pressing of sugarcane were proceeding favourably. Preparation of lands for jute and other autumn crops was facilitated by the recent showers.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of standing spring crops was reported to be generally fair.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects of late spring crops improved by the rainfall in the latter part of the month. The outturn of sugarcane crop is estimated at 81 per cent. of the normal and a fairly satisfactory outturn of spring crops is anticipated.

V. Damage to standing crops.—The rainfall during the latter part of the month is reported to have caused slight damage to the standing rabi crops in parts of Burdwan, Bankura, Hooghly and Bogra.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of live-stock was reported to be generally fair. Sporadic cases of cattle-disease were, however, reported from about five districts of the Presidency and from the Cooch Behar and Tripura States.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—The supply of fodder was reported to be generally sufficient throughout the Presidency.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second half of the month the price of common rice of the cheapest quality rose in three districts, fell in eight and remained stationary in the rest of the Presidency. The prices ranged from 5¼ seers per rupee in the 24-Parganas to 10 seers per rupee in the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

IX. Condition of agricultural population.—The condition of agricultural population was, on the whole, fair.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Fifth publication.

No. 21—The 18th January 1929.—The following draft of rules which, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make for the regulation of traffic in the line of navigation known as the Mahananda river (100 miles in length) in the districts of Malda and Rajshahi which has been declared under section 2 of the said Act in Bengal Government notification No. 10-I., dated the 18th October 1927, published in Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th idem, is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 10th April 1929, and any objections or suggestions received by the undersigned before that date will be considered:—

Draft Rules.

1. All vessels, when moored, must be made fast by the bow and stern along the bank so as not to obstruct other vessels passing in the river.

2. In such portions of the river where only one towing path exists, vessels must be moored on the off-side and the towing path side kept clear.

3. Only one vessel is allowed to make fast along and in line with the river banks, and no other vessel is to be made fast or to be placed outside of vessels so secured without the special permission of the Supervisor. No vessel or raft is to be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety, or obstruct the passage, of other vessels, and all vessels are to be moored in such places and in such a manner as the Supervisor may at any time direct.

4. The Supervisor may, by notification, prohibit the dropping of anchors or the erection of bamboos or luggees in or on any portion of the river or banks, and no anchors may be dropped or bamboos or luggees erected at such prohibited sites.

5. No vessel shall be moored at a distance of less than 500 feet from the junction of two or more rivers.

6. Vessels are not permitted to anchor or moor in the restricted portions of the channels maintained by training works.

7. Before entering such restricted channels the person in charge of the vessel must lighten his vessel sufficiently to prevent grounding in the channel.

In the event of any vessel running aground, the person in charge of the vessel must arrange for its immediate release by all means possible, failing which it will be lawful for the Supervisor or his subordinates to arrange to remove such vessel and to recover the costs of such operation from the owner of the vessel as provided for in rule 11 below.

8. No person is allowed to place any obstruction on the river banks so as to impede free passage along them. No person is permitted to place any obstruction in the river bed so as to impede navigation or cause any deterioration of the channel.

9. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the river.

10. In every case of a sunken vessel, whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

11. If three days after the occurrence of a wreck it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner, provided that, when the wreck obstructs the fairway, they may take action at once to remove the same.

A notice must be affixed on the wreck when recovered, calling on those concerned to pay to the Supervisor all expenses incurred in the recovery or removal of the wreck, and intimating that if the sum be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the vessel and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold, the proceeds of the sale being dealt with as directed in section 9 of the Canals Act of 1864.

12. Every Canal Officer is authorized to remove any vessel, anchor, pole or any other thing which he may find in a position in contravention of these rules and to deal with it in such manner as may be necessary to give effect to the rules.

13. Whenever any laden vessel which has been sunk, has been recovered, or when a laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Canals Act or of these rules, the Supervisor must give immediate notice of the same to the owner or his agent, calling upon him to remove the cargo without delay and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

14. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and the place of business or abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel seized under the said Act, he must notify the seizure by advertisement in his office and in at least one public newspaper. Such notice shall require the owner to cause the immediate removal of the cargo and to pay all expenses incurred in providing for its proper custody and storage.

15. The Supervisor may incur whatever expenses are necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Act and, if the cargo be not removed within ten days from the date of seizure, he may sell the same at a public auction to be held in his office or at the place of seizure to the highest bidder, after giving ten days' notice of the auction by advertisement in at least one newspaper.

16. The money realized at such a sale is to be applied, in the first instance, to defray any expenditure that may have been incurred by the Supervisor on account of the cargo sold, and the balance, if any, is to be held in deposit to be paid to the owner of the said cargo on his applying for the same.

17. No officer of any description or rank employed on the river shall, either directly or indirectly, bid for or purchase any article sold under these rules or under the provisions of the Act.

18. Any person (other than the Supervisor or his subordinates), who infringes any of these rules, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for any one infringement and to an additional fine at a rate not exceeding five rupees a day if the infringement be continued.

RESOLUTION.

New Delhi, the 11th February 1929.

No. F.-81-R.-I/24.—In supersession of the rates of contribution for pension and leave-salary, fixed in this Department letters No. 64-E.B., dated the 27th January 1922, and No. F.-81-C. S. R./24, dated the 4th August 1924, for officers other than military officers in foreign service, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to prescribe, with reference to Fundamental Rules 116 and 117 as amended by the Secretary of State in Council in his Resolution dated the 5th September 1928, and published with this Department Resolution No. F.-81-R.-I/24, dated the 1st November 1928, the rates of contributions shown in the Annexure to this Resolution. The general principles on which the revised rates have been calculated are explained below.

2. The rates of contribution for pension have been based on the pensionary benefit admissible to an officer according to the Service or the grade to which he belongs instead of on the actual pay drawn in foreign service, as was the case with the rates which are now being superseded. The pensionary benefit admissible to a member of the Indian Civil Service has been taken at £1,000 per annum, which is the amount of full pension earned by him after 25 years' service; and to a member of any of the Superior Civil Services other than the Indian Civil Service, Rs. 8,800 per annum, which is made up of Rs. 7,000 earned by him as ordinary pension after 30 years' service, and Rs. 1,800 the estimated amount of additional pension which is earned on the average by members of these services who are transferred to foreign service. The pensionary benefit admissible to a member of a Provincial or Subordinate Service has been taken to be one-half of the maximum pay of the grade substantively held by him in Government service. The reason for calculating the rates of contribution in respect of members of these two classes of services in a manner different from that adopted in the case of other services is that in their case pension is not subject to any fixed maximum. The rates have been calculated in sterling where the pension is a sterling pension or is payable in sterling at a privileged rate of exchange, and the calculations have been so made as to provide a sliding scale of contribution according to length of service roughly parallel to the annual increase of pay in Government service.

3. The rates of contribution for leave-salary have been calculated, as before, on the basis of actual pay drawn in foreign service. The increase in these rates is due to the fact that, when the previous rates were calculated, the more liberal leave rules of 1920 and 1922 had just been introduced, and there were no data on which to base an estimate of the amount of leave which an officer would normally take under these rules. It has now become possible to gauge with fair accuracy the amount of leave taken by officers of the various services, and the revised rates are based equitably on recent experience.

4. The rate of interest adopted in the calculations is 4½ per cent. per annum, and the rates of mortality assumed for the various classes of Government servants are based on expert actuarial advice.

5. The revised rates take effect from the 1st March 1929. The question, however, of the rates at which contribution for pension will be recovered in the case of Government servants transferred to foreign service before the 5th September 1928, who do not belong to the Superior Services and who retire either directly at the end of their present sanctioned term of foreign service or within three years of its conclusion and are entitled, in accordance with the provisions of the old Fundamental Rule 116, to a pension calculated wholly or partly, as the case may be, on their pay in foreign service, is still under consideration, and the decision arrived at will be announced in due course.

6. The rates of contribution for pension and leave-salary in respect of military officers in foreign service are at present under revision, and will be promulgated as soon as possible.

7. A Government servant who is a subscriber to a Contributory Provident Fund and who is transferred to foreign service will, if he is allowed to retain that privilege, continue to pay such monthly subscriptions as he would have paid from time to time had he not been transferred to foreign service. The foreign employer, or the officer himself, according to the arrangement made under clause (c) of Fundamental Rule

115, will in addition pay, at such times as Government may prescribe in each case, a contribution equal in amount to what Government would have contributed to his account in the Fund had he not been transferred to foreign service.

ORDERED that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Legislative Department.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 431L., dated Calcutta, the 16th February, 1929.—The following Bills which were introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 8th February, 1929, are hereby published for general information, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto:—

THE PREVENTION OF DANGEROUS DISEASES BILL, 1928.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the control and prevention of dangerous diseases in Bengal;

And whereas the previous sanction of the Governor-General has been obtained under sub-section (3) of section 80A of the Government of India Act to the passing of this Act; 5 & 6, Geo. V, c. 61; 6 & 7, Geo. V, c. 37; 9 & 10 Geo. V, c. 101.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (i) This Act may be called the Prevention of Dangerous Diseases Act, 1928.

(ii) It extends to the whole of Bengal (except places where the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923, is in force).

(iii) It shall come into force on

2. For the purpose of this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "Dangerous diseases" mean—

(i) cholera, plague, small-pox, cerebrospinal meningitis, diphtheria, open tuberculosis, and

(ii) any other epidemic, endemic or infectious disease which the Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare to be a dangerous disease for the purposes of this Act.

3. Every medical practitioner who, in the course of his practice, becomes cognizant of the existence of any dangerous disease in any private or public dwelling house, other than a public hospital, shall give information of the same with the least practicable delay to the President of the Union Panchayet, or Chairman of the Municipality or the Health Officer, within whose jurisdiction the disease happens to occur in such form and with such details as the Local Government may direct from time to time.

4. The President of the Union Panchayet, or the Chairman of the Municipality, or the Health Officer, or any officer employed and authorised by the aforesaid in their behalf may, at any time by day or by night without notice or by giving such notice of his intention as may in the circumstances appear to him to be reasonable, inspect any place within his jurisdiction in which any dangerous disease is reported or suspected to exist and take such measures as he may think fit to prevent the spread of the said disease beyond such place.

5. (i) If it appears to the President of the Union Panchayet, or the Chairman of the Municipality, or the Health Officer that the water in any well, tank, or other place within his jurisdiction, is likely, if used for the purposes of drinking or for any other domestic purpose, to endanger or cause the spread of any dangerous disease, he may, by public notice, prohibit the removal, or use of the said water for such purpose.

(ii) No person shall remove or use for such purpose any water in respect of which any such public notice has been issued.

6. (i) If the President of the Union Board, or the Chairman of the Municipality, or the Health Officer or any officer authorised by the aforesaid in their behalf, is of opinion that the cleansing or disinfecting of any building or any part of a building or any article therein which is likely to retain infection, or any tank, pool, or well adjacent to a building, would tend to prevent or check the spread of any dangerous disease, he may cleanse, disinfect such building, part, article, tank, pool, or well and may by written notice require the occupier of such building or any part thereof to vacate the same for such time as may be prescribed in such notice.

The Prevention of Dangerous Diseases Bill, 1928.

(ii) The cost of cleansing or disinfecting any building or part thereof or any article therein under sub-section (i) shall be paid by the occupier of such building and the cost of cleansing or disinfecting any tank, pool or well under the said sub-section shall be paid by the person in actual possession of such tank, pool or well or, if there be no such person, by the owner thereof:

Provided that if, in the opinion of the President, Union Panchayet, or the Chairman of the Municipality, or the Health Officer, the owner or occupier is from poverty unable to pay the said cost, the President of the Union Panchayet, or the Chairman of the Municipality, or the Health Officer may direct payment thereof from the funds at their disposal.

7. The President of any Union Board, or the Chairman of any Municipality, or the Health Officer may give a reward of any sum not exceeding one rupee to any person giving information about the existence of any dangerous disease at any place within his jurisdiction.

8. It shall be competent for the Local Government to prescribe from time to time what diseases are to be deemed dangerous diseases for purposes of this Act and to publish the same in the Calcutta Gazette and to prescribe the form and details to be supplied by medical practitioners under section 3 of the Act.

9. Whoever knowingly contravenes the provision of this Act, shall be liable to pay a fine not exceeding Rs. 25.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The incidence of infectious and epidemic diseases in Bengal is very high. Every year a large number of people fall victims to the ravages of these diseases, which, under proper control, has been greatly reduced in other countries. The control and prevention of such diseases in this province are an immediate necessity. Prompt supply of information about the existence of any such disease to the authorities in charge of sanitation concerned, particularly from medical men who are conversant with the causes and effect of diseases, should be ensured; and the said authorities should have more powers of control for enforcing notification, so that necessary preventive measures may be taken with the least possible delay. It is with these objects in view that the Bill has been introduced.

Short title, local extent and commencement

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Cattle Act, 1928.

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal.

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Local Government may, by notification in the Local Government Gazette, direct.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "Brahmini bull" means a bull dedicated to the public by a Hindu in a funeral or other religious or ceremonial occasion;

(2) "Epizootic disease" means diseases which come to one part of the country from another which affect a great many animals at the same time and behave as epidemic diseases do in human subjects;

(3) "Khodai bull" means a bull dedicated to the public by a Muhammadan in any religious, ceremonial or other occasion;

(4) "Cattle" means and includes a cow, heifer, bull, bullock, calf, he-buffalo, she-buffalo and buffalo-calf;

(5) "Local authority" means any authority legally entitled to the control or management of any Local or Municipal fund;

(6) "Notification" means a notification published in the Local Government Gazette.

Penalty for knowingly selling cattle having epizootic disease.

3. Whoever knowingly sells or keeps for sale or gives in pledge any cattle having epizootic disease shall be punished with fine which may extend to twenty-five rupees or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month or with both.

Penalty for killing or poisoning, etc., of Brahmini or Khodai bulls.

4. Whoever kills, poisons, maims, renders useless a Brahmini or Khodai bull or uses such animal for any purpose other than for breeding shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees or with both.

Maintenance of a minimum number of stud-bulls by a local authority.

5. (1) Every local authority shall maintain or cause to be maintained within its jurisdiction a minimum number of stud-bulls as may be prescribed by the Local Government and shall lend stud-bulls for service to the cattle of the locality under such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by such authority in the rules made under this Act.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law it shall be lawful for such authority to allot a portion of its funds for the purpose of maintenance of such stud-bulls; and the local authority shall allot for such purpose at least one-fourth of all monies received in the area within its jurisdiction under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871.

The Bengal Cattle Bill, 1928.

Power to local authority to take possession of Brahmini or Khodai bulls.

6. A local authority may, for the purpose of section 5, take possession of Brahmini or Khodai bulls. A register shall be maintained by a local authority of all bulls taken possession of by such authority under this section.

Grants to any person by local authority for the purchase and maintenance of stud-bulls.

7. It shall be lawful for a local authority to make suitable grant or grants to any person or persons from its funds for the purchase and maintenance of stud-bulls to be kept within the local limits of its jurisdiction and under such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by such authority from time to time by rules made under this Act.

Power to Local Government to fix the number of stud-bulls for a local authority.

8. The Local Government shall after consideration of the views of a local authority, by notification, fix the minimum number of stud-bulls to be maintained by such authority.

Power to make rules.

9. (1) A local authority may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, make rules:—

(a) prescribing the terms and conditions for lending any stud-bull for breeding purposes to any persons or other local authorities;

(b) prescribing the terms and conditions of a grant under section 7;

(c) prescribing fees for services rendered by its stud-bulls and for the levy of such fees;

(d) for the proper upkeep, maintenance and periodical inspection and medical examination of stud-bulls; and

(e) generally for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) Rules made under this section shall be posted up in a conspicuous position at the office of such local authority, and in such other public places as that local authority may direct.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bill intends in the main to make provision for the protection and maintenance of Brahmini and Khodai bulls by local authorities. The need of adequate and suitable stud-bulls is being keenly felt in the Province. The Brahmini and Khodai bulls which helped to serve the purpose of breeding have now become scarce, and the res-nullius judgments of the High Courts reported in I. L. R. Calcutta, Vol. 17, page 852, 11 Mad., 145, 10 All., 150, etc., go to prove that the destruction and diversion to other purposes of such bulls can be carried on with impunity. There is no special provision in the Local Self-Government Acts enjoining the maintenance of stud-bulls by local bodies especially for breeding purposes. Provision has been made in this Bill for rectifying the existing defects in Legislature concerning cattle and cattle-breeding.

(b) prescribing the form of receipts to be granted to payees; and

(c) prescribing the form in which the extent, situation, and boundaries, etc., of pasture lands are to be kept.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Bill intends to secure the right of pasturage in lands formerly used as such but since encroached for cultivation or otherwise and also to fix the total quantity. The need for such a measure will be apparent on reading cattle census reports and settlement reports of various provinces which complain of the serious want of pasturage and encroachment of land for cultivation. Similarly, one of the causes ascribed for the deterioration of cattle of this country has been the gross inadequacy of pasture land which is also considered to be a circumstance adverse to cattle-breeding. The grazing grounds that exist in this country now are very poor, both in quality and in quantity. The proportion of grazing lands to total land area of India is the minimum of all the countries being 1:27, whereas the proportion in Japan is 1:6, in Germany 1:6, in New Zealand 1:3 and in Great Britain and Ireland 1:3. The great shortage of pasture land will also be apparent from a comparison of the number of acres that is available for grazing per head of cattle in different countries. It is only ·17 in Bengal and little more in other provinces in India, 1·6 in the United States of America, 1·35 in New Zealand and 1·44 in Germany.

(3) no rule made under section 21 shall have any validity unless and until it is sanctioned with or without modifications by the Local Government.

Restrictions regarding state aid.

22. No state aid shall be given by the Local Government to any industry, except agriculture, save in accordance with the provisions of this Act:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall apply to or affect the power of the Local Government, on the recommendations of the Board of Industries,

Cost of administration.

25. All cost of establishment and other charges necessary to maintain an efficient office for the Board for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act shall be paid by the Local Government out of the provincial revenue in such manner as may from time to time be prescribed. Such sums as may from time to time be required for payment for the purpose of this Act shall be charged on and issued out of the provincial revenue.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It is admitted that the natural resources of Bengal afford large scope for the development of numerous industries for the economic improvement of the people. Many of the existing industries are languishing for want of financial and other support. There are not a few others which have to be first tentatively initiated and successfully worked before they can become popular with the investing public. It is necessary therefore to invest the Local Government with power to raise the necessary funds and therewith to undertake directly or render financial or other help in the initiation and improvement of industries. It is desirable also that the Local Government should have the assistance of an impartial and representative Board in administering such system of state aid to industries. The main lines on which such state aid can be given or new experiments conducted have also to be laid down.

The Bill is designed to meet all these requirements and thereby help in the industrial regeneration of Bengal.

to improve the tenancy conditions in Calcutta.

WHEREAS it is expedient to improve the tenancy conditions in Calcutta.

And whereas the previous sanction of the Governor General has been obtained under sub-section (3) of section 80A of the Government of India Act, to the passing of this Act,

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Calcutta Rent Act, 1928.

(2) It extends to the whole of Calcutta.

(3) The Local Government may, after previous publication, direct by notification that the Act shall come into operation in any other town, or local area in Bengal on such date as may be specified in the notification.

Provided that this Act shall not apply to any premises the rent of which exceeded five hundred rupees a month or six thousand rupees a year on the 1st day of April, 1927.

Provided also that the expiration of this Act shall not render recoverable any sum which during the continuance thereof was irrecoverable, or affect the right of a tenant to recover any sum which during the continuance thereof was under the Act recoverable by him.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,

(a) "Calcutta" means the area described in Schedule I to the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923;

(b) "Controller" means the controller appointed under this Act;

(c) "notification" means a notification published in the Calcutta Gazette;

(d) "premises" means any building, part of a building, hut or part of a hut let separately for residential, charitable, educational or public purposes, or for the purposes of a shop, godown, garage or an office, including any land fixture or furniture appertaining thereto and let therewith;

such expression includes a room or rooms in a hotel, boarding house or lodging house but does not include a stall let at variable rents at different seasons of the year for the sale of goods in a market as defined in section 3 (39) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1923;

(e) "standard rent" in relation to any premises means—

(i) the rent at which the premises were let on the 1st day of April, 1927, or where they were not let on that date, the rent at which they were last let before that date and after the 1st day of April, 1924, with the addition, in either case, of ten per cent., on such rent;

(ii) in the case of any premises which were or shall be first let after the 1st day of April, 1927, the rent at which the premises were or may be first let;

(iii) in the cases specified in section 15, the rent fixed by the Controller;

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1928.

(f) "landlord" means any person for the time being entitled to receive rent in respect of any premises, whether on his own account, or on account, or on behalf, or for the benefit of any other person, or as trustee, guardian, or receiver for any other person; it includes a legal representative, as defined in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, a tenant who sublets any premises, every person from time to time deriving title under a landlord, and also includes the Government;

(g) "tenant" means any person, by whom or on whose account rent is payable for any premises, and includes a legal representative, as defined in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and every person from time to time deriving title under a tenant.

3. (1) The Local Government may by notification appoint a Controller for any area in which this Act is in operation,

(2) The Controller shall be either—

(a) a member of the Executive or Judicial Branch of the Imperial or Provincial Civil Service, of not less than ten years' standing in such service, or a retired officer of the Government having similar qualifications, or the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta or of the Calcutta Improvement Trust; or

(b) a Barrister, Advocate or Attorney of the High Court of Calcutta, of not less than ten years' standing, who has practised as such, and has experience of rent values and land acquisition cases in Calcutta.

4. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, where the rent of any premises has been or is hereafter, during the continuance of this Act, increased so as to exceed the standard rent, the amount of such excess shall, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary, be irrecoverable.

Provided that nothing in sub-section (1) shall apply—

(i) to any rent which accrued due before the date of the commencement of this Act;

(ii) to any periodical increment of rent accruing due under any written agreement entered into before the first day of April, 1927;

(iii) to the rent payable under any lease or any agreement to lease entered into before the date of the commencement of this Act, for a period of five years or upwards: or

(iv) to the rent payable under any lease or agreement to lease for a period of five years or more, provided the terms embodied in such lease or agreement to lease are certified by the Controller to be just and fair.

(2) For the purpose of sub-section (1), the rent shall be deemed to have accrued from day to day.

5. Where the landlord has, since the first day of April, 1927, incurred, or during the continuance of this Act incurs, expenditure on the improvement or structural alteration of any premises (not including expenditure on decorations or necessary repairs), he may apply to the Controller to alter the standard rent.

6. (1) Where, as the result of any alteration of the terms of the tenancy, the terms, on which any premises are held, are on the whole less favourable to the tenant

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1928.

than the previous terms, the rent shall be deemed to be increased within the meaning of this Act, whether the sum payable as rent is increased or not.

(2) Where, as the result of any alteration of the terms of the tenancy, the terms, on which any premises are held, are not on the whole less favourable to the tenant than the previous terms, the rent shall not be deemed to be increased within the meaning of this Act, whether the sum payable as rent is increased or not.

7. Where the landlord pays municipal rates, taxes, or cesses in respect of any premises, he may apply to the Controller to increase the standard rent to the extent of the increase in the amount for the time being payable by the landlord in respect of such rates, taxes, cesses over the amount paid in the period of assessment which included the first day of April, 1927.

8. (1) Wherever an increase of the rent of any premises is allowable under the provisions of this Act, no such increase shall be recoverable until the expiry of one month after the landlord has served on the tenant a notice in writing of his intention to increase the rent, accompanied by a certificate from the Controller fixing the standard rent.

(2) Where such a notice has been served on any tenant, the increase may be continued without service of any fresh notice on any subsequent tenant.

9. (1) It shall not be lawful for any person in consideration of the grant, renewal, or continuance of a tenancy of any premises, to require the payment of any fine, premium, or any other like sum in addition to the rent.

(2) Where any such payment has been made after the date of the commencement of this Act, the amount shall be recoverable by the tenant by whom it was made from the landlord, and may, without prejudice to any other method of recovery, be deducted from any rent payable by him to the landlord:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect any such payments made in accordance with an agreement entered into before the fifteenth day of March, 1927.

10. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 9, a landlord may receive a premium or other like sum in addition to the rent in respect of any premises which are let out on a lease for a period of not less than twenty years for the purposes of development either by building or rebuilding, if the Controller is satisfied that such premises are bona fide required for such purposes:

Provided that the rent payable for the premises during the continuance of this Act shall not exceed the standard rent.

11. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, or the Indian Contract Act, 1872, no order or decree for the recovery of possession of any premises shall be made so long as the tenant pays rent in conformity with the provision of this Act, and performs the conditions of the tenancy:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply where the tenant has done any act contrary to the provisions of clause (m), clause (o), or clause (p) of section 108 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, or has been guilty of conduct which is a nuisance or an annoyance to adjoining or neighbouring occupiers, or where the premises are bona fide and reasonably required by the landlord either for purposes of building or rebuilding, or for his own occupation, or for the occupation of any person for whose benefit the premises are held, or where the landlord can show any cause which may be deemed satisfactory by the Court:

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1928.

Provided that, where the landlord seeks recovery of possession on the ground of building or rebuilding, he must obtain a certificate from the Controller to that effect which must be filed with the plaint of the suit for ejectment and without such a certificate from the Controller no such ejectment suit will be entertained.

(2) Where the landlord recovers possession on the ground that the premises are required for his own occupation or for the occupation of any person for whose benefit the premises are held, the tenant shall have a right of re-entry if the premises are let to another tenant within a year from the date of recovery of possession. The tenant shall also have a right of re-entry, if the premises required for building or rebuilding are not so built or rebuilt within one year from the date of recovery of possession.

(3) The fact that the period of the lease has expired, or that the interest of the landlord in the premises has been transferred, shall not of itself be deemed to be a satisfactory cause within the meaning of the proviso to sub-section (1), provided that the tenant is ready and willing to pay rent in conformity with the provisions of this Act.

(4) Where a landlord refuses to accept the rent referred to in sub-section (1) offered by a tenant, the tenant shall deposit it with the Controller within a fortnight of its becoming due.

(5) No tenant shall be entitled to the benefit of this Act in respect of any premises, unless within three months of the date of the commencement of this Act he has paid all arrears of rent due by him in respect of the said premises, and also unless he pays the rent due by him in conformity with the provisions of this Act within the time fixed in the contract with his landlord, or, in the absence of any such contract, by the fifteenth day of the month next following that for which the rent is payable: Provided, however, that where the tenant does not pay the rent regularly or where the tenant is a defaulter inspite of deposit of rent with Controller but upon being served with a summons for the recovery of possession tenders the rent in arrear or the balance of the standard rent recoverable by the landlord such tender will preclude the landlord from obtaining an order for the recovery of possession.

12. Where any order or decree of the kind mentioned in section 11, sub-section (1), has been made on or after the 1st day of April, 1927, but not executed before the date of the commencement of this Act, and if such order or decree could not have been made if this Act had been in operation at the date of the making of the order or of the passing of the decree, the Court may rescind or vary the order or the decree, as the case may be, in such manner as the Court may think fit, for the purpose of giving effect to this Act.

13. No distress warrant shall be issued under Chapter VIII of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, and no process under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, in execution of a decree passed exparte thereunder, shall be issued, either for the attachment of property, or for the arrest of any tenant, in connection with recovery of rent of any premises situated in any area to which this Act may apply, unless the person applying execution shall, when making his application, swear or affirm by affidavit or otherwise that none of the rent, in respect of which execution is applied for, is irrecoverable under this Act.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1928.

14. (1) Where any sum has, after the date of the commencement of this Act, been paid on account of rent, being a sum which is by reason of the provisions of section 15 of this Act irrecoverable, such sum shall at any time within the continuance of this Act be recoverable by the tenant by whom it was paid from the landlord who received the payment, and may, without prejudice to any other method of recovery, be deducted by such tenant from any rent payable by him to such landlord.

(2) In this section the expression "landlord" includes, in the case of joint family property, the joint family of which the landlord, if deceased, was a member.

15. (1) The Controller shall, on application made to him by any landlord or tenant, grant a certificate certifying the standard rent of any premises leased or rented by such landlord or tenant, as the case may be.

(2) The Controller may, on application by any tenant or occupant of a room or rooms in a hotel, boarding house, or lodging house fix the rent or charge at such sum as having regard to the provisions of this Act and the circumstances of the case, including the cost of food, furniture, and service, and the rent or charge paid for such room or rooms on the first day of April, 1927, he deems just.

(3) In any of the following cases, the Controller may fix the standard rent at such amount as, having regard to the provisions of this Act and the circumstances of the case, he deems just:—

(a) where by reason of any premises having been let at one time as a whole and at another time in parts, or where a tenant has sublet the whole or a part of any premises let to him, or where for any reason any difficulty arises in giving effect to this Act;

(b) where any premises have been, or are let rent free, or at a nominal rent, or for some consideration in addition to rent;

(c) where the rent paid on the first day of April, 1927, or, where the premises were not let on that date, the rent at which the premises were last let before that date was low or did not represent the fair rent; or

(d) where there has been a change in the condition of any premises or a change in the condition of the neighbourhood or an increase in the municipal rates, taxes or cesses in respect of any premises since the 1st day of April, 1927, or during the continuance of this Act:

Provided that under clause (d) the Controller shall not increase the rent by more than ten per cent. per annum on the amount expended on the improvement or structural alteration of the premises as provided for in section 5.

(4) Before exercising any of the powers conferred on him by this Act, the Controller shall give notice of his intention to the landlord and tenant, if any, and shall duly consider any application received by him from any person interested, within such period as shall be specified in the notice.

(5) All orders of the Controller passed under this Act shall be in writing, and a certified copy thereof shall be affixed to some conspicuous part of the premises to which it relates, or to some conspicuous object near such premises, and a certified copy shall also be delivered to the landlord, or his authorised agent, in such manner as the Local Government may by rule prescribe.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1928.

(6) Any person affected by any order of the Controller shall be entitled to be furnished with a copy thereof, duly certified by the Controller to be a correct copy, on payment of such sum as the Local Government may prescribe. Such copy shall be admissible in evidence in any Court of law to prove the order of the Controller.

16. For the purpose of any inquiries under this Act, the Controller, or any person duly authorised by the Controller, in writing either generally or specially in this behalf, may enter any building or land with or without any assistants between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.:

Provided that no building shall be so entered, without the consent of the occupier, unless twenty-four hours' previous notice in writing has been given.

17. (1) For the purposes of any inquiry under this Act, the Controller may by written order require any person—

(a) to furnish him with particulars, in such form, within such time, and at such place, as may be specified in the order, as to the rent at which, and the manner in which, any premises were let in the year 1922 or subsequently, and as to any other matter relevant to the inquiry;

(b) to produce for his inspection such accounts, rent receipts, books or other documents relevant to the inquiry, at such time and at such place, as may be specified in the order.

(2) The Controller shall, subject to any rules made under this Act, and in so far as such powers are necessary for carrying out the provisions of this Act, have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses, and to compel the production of documents by the same means and, so far as may be, in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Court by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

18. If the decision of the Controller fixing the standard rent for any premises is questioned, either the landlord, or the tenant may, in respect of premises in Calcutta, appeal in respect of such order to the President of the Tribunal appointed under section 72 of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, and, in respect of premises outside Calcutta, to the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in the district. A certified copy of the order of the Controller shall be filed with the memorandum of appeal. The memorandum of appeal shall bear a court-fee stamp of eight annas. Any such memorandum shall be filed within thirty days from the date of the order passed by the Controller. The time taken in obtaining a certified copy of the order of the Controller shall be excluded in computing the period in which the memorandum must be filed. The decision of the President of the Tribunal, or of such other Court as aforesaid, shall be final.

19. (1) Whoever knowingly receives, whether directly or indirectly, on account of the rent of any premises any sum in excess of the standard rent or any fine, premium, or any other like sum in addition to the standard rent, except as provided in section 10, shall, on the complaint of the party aggrieved, be liable, on the first occasion, to a fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and on a second or subsequent occasion, in regard to the same, or any other premises, to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, to be imposed, after summary inquiry, by the President of the Tribunal, or the principal Civil Court, as the case may be.

The Calcutta Rent Bill, 1928.

(2) A person shall be deemed to receive a sum in excess of the standard rent, if he receives any consideration representing a money value in excess of such standard rent.

20. Whoever, in any case in which an order or decree for the recovery of any premises is prohibited under section 11, without the previous written consent of the Controller, or save for the purpose of effecting repairs or of complying with any municipal requisition, wilfully disturbs any easement annexed to any premises, or removes, destroys, or renders unserviceable, anything provided for permanent use therewith, or discontinues any supply or service comprised in such rent, shall, on the complaint of the party aggrieved, be liable, on the first occasion, to a fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and on a second or subsequent occasion, in regard to the same, or any other premises, to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees to be imposed, after summary inquiry, by the President of the Tribunal or the principal Civil Court, as the case may be.

21. The fine imposed under section 19, or section 20, shall be levied by the Controller by the distraint and sale of a sufficient portion of the moveable property of the person fined in accordance with rules prescribed under section 23.

22. No complaint under this Act shall be brought against any person without the previous sanction of the Controller, or after the expiration of three months from the date of the commission of the acts referred to in sections 19 and 20.

23. (1) The Local Government may, after previous publication, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Local Government may make rules—

(a) prescribing the method of publication of a notification under section 1, sub-section (3);

(b) prescribing the manner of delivery of a certified copy of an order made by the Controller under this Act;

(c) regulating the procedure to be followed in inquiries by the Controller, the President of the Tribunal and the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in the district, under this Act;

(d) prescribing the manner of giving notice to the landlord in case of a deposit of rent under section 11, sub-section (4), and the method of withdrawal of the rent by the landlord;

(e) prescribing the method of distraint and sale of moveable property of landlords under section 21;

(f) prescribing a scale of costs and fees, and providing for the charging or remitting of costs and fees.

24. In dealing with the appeals from the decisions of the Controller, the President of the Tribunal, or the principal Civil Court shall follow, as nearly as may be, the procedure laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the hearing of appeals and the President of the Tribunal or the principal Civil Court shall have all the powers of an appellate court as laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, while dealing with such appeals.

25. During the continuance of this Act, the Corporation of Calcutta, or any other local authority shall not raise its assessment of any premises above the standard rent on the ground of the increase of rent or value.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

With the discontinuance of the Calcutta Rent Act, 1920, the condition of tenants in Calcutta has become worse than before, more particularly with regard to (1) fixity of rent and (2) security of tenancy. Although landlords are entitled to a legitimate increase in the return upon their investment in house property, the disparity of position as between landlord and tenant very often leads to an abuse of legal rights, and tenants are left without any protection against the rapacious and unreasonable demands of landlords. Monthly tenants require some measure of statutory help against uncertain and precarious tenancy as also against extortionate demands for increase of rent. The object of this Bill is to remedy the aforesaid and other evils attending tenancy conditions in the City.

Reports from the Commissioners of Divisions on the working of municipalities in the Bengal Presidency (except Calcutta) during 1927-28.

Number of municipalities.—A new municipality was created at Gouripur in the district of Mymensingh; the total number of municipalities in Bengal thus became 116. As, however, the new municipality was not empowered to levy taxes during the year the statements of income and expenditure appended deal with statistics for 115 municipalities.

The boundaries of the Kishoreganj Municipality were revised by the exclusion of areas which were more rural than urban. There were also slight alterations in the boundaries of two other municipalities, viz., Krishnagar and Basirhat.

2. Elections.—The elective system was in force in all but three municipalities, viz., Bhatpara, Garulia and Titagarh. General elections were held in 59 municipalities. In most municipalities the elections were hotly contested. In the small town of Ramjibanpur 90 per cent. of the voters in one ward attended the polling station and in Burdwan the contest was so keen in one ward that out of 277 voters only 18 did not turn out to vote. These contests do not necessarily indicate a sense of civic responsibility; in too many instances far greater keenness is shown in securing the honour of being a municipal commissioner than in performing the duties attached to that office. Civil suits continue to hamper municipal administration. In two wards of the South Suburban and in one ward of the Ranaghat Municipality elections could not be held owing to injunctions issued by the civil court. Civil suits were also instituted or were pending during the year in four other municipalities, viz., Champdany, Khulna, Chittagong and Dinajpur. The number of such suits and the time taken to dispose of them are strong arguments for the establishment of special tribunals with powers of final decision of election disputes. The Bengal Municipal Bill, which was thrown out by the Legislative Council in 1925, contains provisions for setting up such tribunals. The Minister for Local Self-Government recently consulted the Local Self-Government Standing Committee about re-introduction of the Bill. It has been decided to re-introduce it if there is any chance of the Bill becoming law during the lifetime of the present Legislative Council.

The number of commissioners of the Jalpaiguri Municipality was increased from 15 to 18.

3. Meetings.—Out of 2,447 meetings held during the year, 151 proved abortive for want of a quorum and 199 were adjourned, against 152 and 223, respectively, in the previous year.

Attendance was poorest in Joynagar, Hooghly-Chinsura and Baduria, where 8 out of 13, 36 out of 69 and 13 out of 27 meetings, respectively, proved abortive. At Narayanganj nearly half, and at Budge Budge and Baruipur more than one third, of the meetings held were unsuccessful. Hooghly-Chinsura held the largest number of meetings, viz., 69; then comes Bansberia with 49, Comilla with 43 and Kalna with 41. On the other hand, the commissioners of Dainhat, Ramjibanpur, Baidyabati, Kotrung, Gobardanga, Debhatta and Murshidabad failed to meet once a month. Mr. Cook, Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, suggests two possible explanations for this failure "Either that there is almost complete lack of interest in things municipal or that one faction is so strong that the minority party does not think it worth while attending."

The attendance of commissioners in Garulia was cent. per cent., next come Kanchrapara and Champdany with more than 80 per cent. while it was very poor at Baduria, viz., 16·6 per cent.

4. Number of rate-payers.—The total number of rate-payers rose from 324,917 to 326,172; the percentage to total population being 16 against 16·11 in the previous year. The increase was shared by all the divisions except Burdwan where the number declined from 107,651 to 106,485. The Commissioner of the Division finds no satisfactory explanation for this but observes that revision of the voting list is said sometimes to be fraught with danger to the party not in power and that this may be a factor in the fall. As in the previous year, the percentage was highest in Kumarkhali (40·7) and lowest in Titagarh (3·2)—a mill town with a large cooly population. There was an appreciable decrease in the number of rate-payers in Kishoreganj and Rajbari due to the exclusion of certain areas from the municipal limits. Other towns in which rates are paid by less than one-tenth of the population are the hill stations of Darjeeling and Kurseong and the several riparian mill municipalities, such as Naihati, Bhatpara, Garulia, Kamarhati, Champdany and Narayanganj, which are towns with a large floating population of factory operatives who pay no rates themselves.

5. Assessment and taxation.—The average incidence of taxation for the Province as a whole was Rs. 3-4 against Rs. 3-3-9. It was highest in the hill municipality of Darjeeling (Rs. 10-12-3). Next come Kurseong (Rs. 9-9-7), Howrah (Rs. 8-13-6) and Chittagong (Rs. 5-6-2). In 10 other towns, viz., Burdwan, Hooghly-Chinsura, Uttarpara, South Dum-Dum, Krishnagar, Berhampore, Dacca, Narayanganj, Mymensingh and Bogra, the ratio was above Rs. 4. The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division observes in this connection that it is doubtful if the rate-payers of Hooghly-Chinsura and Uttarpara got value for their money. No explanation has been furnished for the comparatively high incidence in the town of Bogra. It may be due to the revision of assessment on Government holdings, which has increased the municipal income by more than Rs. 2,000 per annum. On the other hand, the incidence was as low as 7 annas in Bazitpur and Debhatta and in 19 other municipalities it ranged from 8 annas to one rupee. Generally speaking, the incidence of municipal taxation in the Presidency is extremely low, although it does show a slow upward tendency, the figures being Rs. 3-1-5 in the year 1925-26, Rs. 3-3-9 in 1926-27 and Rs. 3-4 during the year under review.

A general or partial revision of assessment was made in 89 municipalities, the net result being an increase of about Rs. 2½ lakhs in the municipal revenue of the Presidency as a whole. The largest increase, viz., Rs. 35,049, was obtained in Rangpur by the revision of assessment of the latrine fees alone. Then come Tollygunge with an increase of Rs. 18,360, Jalpaiguri Rs. 18,061 and Raniganj Rs. 13,736. These figures, however, represent gross increases which were likely to be reduced when objections came to be heard. Baranagore has added Rs. 16,768 to its income by the imposition of a lighting rate and Bankura Rs. 8,364 by the substitution of the rate on holdings for the tax on persons, with effect from 1st April 1928. The Assessment Committee having considerably increased the annual valuation of holdings in Uttarpara, the municipal commissioners decided to reduce the percentage at which rates are levied, the net result being a decrease of Rs. 1,353 in the annual income from water rate and an increase of Rs. 4,821 from other rates. Mr. Cook makes the following remarks in connection with the assessment of municipal taxes:—

"That the assessments give a genuine estimate of the real values is doubtful, as the assessments are made usually by the commissioners themselves and it is not expected that they should have the requisite professional knowledge needed for a proper valuation, even if we eliminate the unconscious bias which must operate when a commissioner's continued further existence hangs in the balance."

6. Collections.—The total collections for the Presidency as a whole rose from Rs. 62⅔ lakhs to nearly Rs. 63⅔ lakhs, but the percentage of collections on the current demand fell from 95·6 to 95·5, the lowest ratio being returned by Raniganj. The low percentage in Raniganj is attributed to delay in the disposal of objections against the general revision which were kept pending far too long and also to the decrease in the number of carriages and carts in the town. In 10 municipalities the collections were over 99 per cent. On the other hand, in 13 municipalities the ratio was under 85 per cent., falling as low as 54·4 per cent. in Rangpur. The poor collection in Rangpur is reported to be due mainly to delay in the disposal of a large number of objections made against the assessment. The comparatively low percentage of collection in Tollygunge (80·5) is attributed to non-payment of taxes by some big rate-payers against whom civil suits have been instituted.

As usual, Nalchiti and Garulia collected cent. per cent. of the demand without any remission. Titagarh and Champdany also collected practically their whole demand, granting one-tenth per cent. remission and leaving no outstanding balance. Bhadreswar had an outstanding balance of only Rs. 29 at the end of the year. In these towns, however, the bulk of the taxes is paid by the mills leaving only a small percentage to be collected in the ordinary way.

Remissions of rates both arrear and current for the province as a whole amounted to Rs. 2,61,716 and represent nearly 4 per cent. of the current demand. Rajbari remitted more than one-fourth and Debhatta nearly one-fourth of their current demand, Baraset and Jainagar more than 20 per cent. while three others, viz., Rajpur, Satkhira and Rangpur, remitted more than 15 per cent. Large remissions are the logical sequence of careless and illegal assessment, inefficient collection and reluctance to resort to the coercive procedure provided in the Bengal Municipal Act. Grant of remissions must be considered an unsatisfactory method of disposing of large outstanding balances.

The following are some of the most glaring instances of irregular remissions granted by the municipal commissioners which were noticed by the Examiner of Local Accounts in his report on the working of the Local Audit Department for the year 1926-27:—

(i) Taxes amounting to Rs. 1,045 were remitted by the Barisal Municipality as irrecoverable, on the report of a municipal commissioner that most of the persons concerned could not be traced.

(ii) The Perojpur Municipality reduced the tax of a municipal commissioner, although he had a large income within the municipality, from Rs. 52 to Rs. 42 in consideration of his services to the municipality.

(iii) A certain rate-payer of the Baidyabati Municipality prayed for some reduction of his taxes but the commissioners out of generosity granted him entire exemption.

(iv) In Basirhat and Barisal taxes due from persons holding appointments under Government or Local Funds were remitted as irrecoverable when they were transferred from the station.

In the Presidency as a whole the balance outstanding at the close of the year amounted to more than Rs. 15¾ lakhs. The Minister observes with regret that the accumulation of such heavy arrears reflects credit neither upon municipal commissioners nor upon their executive. Howrah shows the largest balance outstanding, viz., Rs. 5,63,120, for which no explanation has been given. Next comes Dacca with an outstanding balance of Rs. 2,34.273, which, however, was the outcome of litigation in regard to the assessment. A civil suit instituted to challenge the validity of the re-assessment at Dacca was decided in favour of the municipality but an appeal has been preferred against this decision in the Privy Council. In the meantime heavy arrears of taxes have accrued and it will be very difficult for the poorer rate-payers to pay up fully such large arrears. Other municipalities which had balances outstanding of more than Rs. 25,000 were Mymensingh, Barisal, Tollygunge, Santipur, South Suburban, Hooghly-Chinsura, Bally and Bankura. The reason for the large amount outstanding in Tollygunge has already been given. The balance in Santipur was due to the reluctance of the old Board to take coercive measures, some of the commissioners, including the Chairman himself, being among the worst defaulters. South Suburban attributes the large arrears to default on the part of rice mill owners who closed their mills. The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division makes the following observations:—

"Generally speaking, the heavy arrears are always due to laxity on the part of the municipal executive in taking coercive steps to realise taxes in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the usual cause for the laxity is fear of the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of losing popularity or their seats at the next election. The size of the arrears will probably vary with the nearness of the next election. The existing Boards are not responsible for the accrual of all the arrears. Some have inherited a heavy load, such as in Hooghly-Chinsura and in Bankura. I have no hesitation, however, in saying that in not a single instance, not even in Bally, has the municipality done all it might have done to reduce the arrears. Outstandings of some size more than 2 years old, due from men known to be able to pay, are allowed to remain uncovered by suit, ' for amicable realisation '. The likelihood of a man being willing to ' pay amicably ' 2 or 3 years' dues, when he has not paid one year's, either through inability, or cunning, seems so remote that one begins to doubt the bona fides of the plea and to look for some other reason."

Unwillingness to adopt stringent measures is no doubt largely responsible for this heavy accumulation but there are other factors also. There is no such system, as there is in Madras and in Bihar and Orissa, for recovering from persons responsible amounts that have been lost through their negligence.

7. Income and expenditure.—The total receipts, including opening balance, amounted to Rs. 1,12,10,926 against Rs. 1,12,17,720 in the year 1926-27. The total disbursements were Rs. 96,37,905 as against Rs. 96,50,331.

8. Closing balance.—The total balance at the close of the year rose from Rs. 15,67,389 to Rs. 15,73,021. The largest balances were held, as in the previous year, by Dacca (Rs. 2,78,584), Howrah (Rs. 2,66,859) and Darjeeling (Rs. 1,01,413); other municipalities which had unduly large balances were Naihati (Rs. 68,216), Bhatpara (Rs. 62,226), South Dum-Dum (Rs. 55,350) and Narayanganj (Rs. 52,568). The large balance in Darjeeling is attributed to restriction of expenditure and postponement of certain undertakings. The greater part of the balance in Bhatpara represents funds for the sewerage, water-supply and town improvement scheme while in South Dum-Dum the large accumulation is described as being meant for the improvement of roads, primary education, dispensary buildings and improvement of water-supply. In other cases no explanations have been furnished.

On the other hand, a number of municipalities failed to keep adequate working balances and in several towns balances were insufficient to meet outstanding liabilities. In Mymensingh, Barisal, English-Bazar, Dinajpur and Midnapore, the outstanding liabilities largely exceeded the closing balances. The worst offenders in this respect were Baruipore and Satkhira, which had outstanding liabilities of Rs. 3,700 and Rs. 3,526, respectively, against actual balances of Rs. 78 and Rs. 74 only. Sirajganj, Jiaganj-Azimganj and Bhola had also outstanding liabilities of Rs. 15,020, Rs. 4,673 and Rs. 3,281 against cash balances of Rs. 615, Rs. 846 and Rs. 540, respectively. Hooghly-Chinsura and Santipur closed the year with sums of Rs. 7,012 and Rs. 9,646 against liabilities exceeding Rs. 49,000 and Rs. 23,000.

9. Education.—The amount spent on education, including the Government grant of Rs. 1,11,591, was Rs. 4,31,641 as against Rs. 4,46,699 in the preceding year. The expenditure on primary education also showed a corresponding fall of Rs. 5,000. The decrease was most marked in Darjeeling and Asansol and was due to the fact that in 1926-27 extraordinary capital expenditure was incurred in both places. An income of Rs. 5,920 was derived from the education cess which is at present levied by the municipalities of Rangpur and Berhampore. Twelve municipalities or roughly one in ten failed to spend on primary education 3·2 per cent. of their ordinary income, the percentage which is taken to represent the amount required for the education of half the number of boys of primary school-going age. On the other hand, the ratio was over 5 per cent. in 48 municipalities and over 10 per cent. in 19 municipalities. In Burdwan two new primary schools of the Biss type were opened and in Kalna the construction of an additional room in the municipal primary school was undertaken. In Berhampore the first free primary school was started at Kasimbazar; the construction of a second municipal school at Saidabad was in progress. Barisal paid Rs. 1,920 towards the cost of establishment of a free primary school and Nalchiti maintained a primary patshala on the lines of Mr. Biss's scheme at a cost of Rs. 440. Free and compulsory primary education for boys was introduced in Chittagong with effect from January 1928, and the municipality provided 34 schools for boys and 31 for girls. It is remarkable that out of 2,500 boys and 1,400 girls between the ages of 6 and 10 in the town no less than 2,120 boys and 1,052 girls are at school. The municipality has also demonstrated that the cost of the scheme is not prohibitive as its own contribution is not likely to exceed Rs. 11,000 per annum. This is an excellent example but it has been little followed. It appears that too many of the municipalities—especially in the Burdwan division—spend too much money on secondary schools while neglecting primary education. The Minister is constrained to repeat the advice given previously that the municipal commissioners should not devote their funds to secondary education when this involves neglect of other important services including primary teaching.

10. Water-supply.—The Tollygunge and South Suburban municipalities continued to get filtered water from the Calcutta mains and negotiations were in progress with the Calcutta Corporation for a similar supply to the Baranagore Municipality. Seven municipalities in the Hooghly riparian area got their supply from the local mill filters. Excluding these there are 28 municipalities which have their own water-works. Only five of these systems date from before 1900. The number of persons supplied with filtered water was 971,900, the total quantity supplied averaging 11 million gallons per day.

In Naihati pipe water was, as before, supplied by the Gouripur and Nuddea Companies. The larger scheme for a comprehensive supply to remote corners of the town was completed during the year. The Khulna water-works extensions are nearing completion. Arrangements were made for the free supply of water to the Halisahar Municipality from the local jute mills. A new reservoir with a capacity of 150,000 gallons of water was erected at Raniganj and an efficient supply of water is now being maintained throughout the town. No progress could be made with the scheme for the extension of water-works on the east side of the river Lakshya in Narayanganj as the contractors failed to sink the tube-wells. The tube-well of the Lytton water-works at Faridpur was sunk and proved successful. The excavation of the storage tank in connection with the new Patuakhali water-works was completed. The machinery of the Comilla water-works having broken down early in the year the municipal commissioners first hired a portable engine for pumping and supplied the town with water from the river Gumti, and then decided to sink a tube-well, a work which is in progress. The sinking of a tube-well in connection with the Brahmanbaria water-works scheme was completed during the year. The scheme for the supply of water from the Dakatia river to the northern section of the Chandpur town has recently been administratively approved by Government at an estimated cost of Rs. 1,53,000 while the Noakhali water-works scheme has also been approved. Several municipalities in the Rajshahi Division, viz., Rajshahi, English Bazar and Pabna have inaugurated water-works schemes but none has yet materialised. It may finally be said that nowadays the inhabitants of no considerable town in Bengal are content to do without a system of filtered water supply through pipes. The general willingness to pay water rate in return for the service shows that the public health conscience is awake.

Tube-wells having proved a successful and also a cheap source of supply in certain soils, a large number of municipalities, especially in the Presidency Division, decided upon obtaining water through such wells. Mr. Sachse, Commissioner of the Presidency Division observes in this connection:—

"These wells have attained considerable popularity of late and an impression is gaining ground that these wells may supply a solution of the water-supply problem in many places. The difficulty is that the pumps are apt to get out of order and that there is no guarantee when they will cease to be useful."

The Minister holds the view that when tube-wells can be successfully sunk and kept in order they are at once an inexpensive and a satisfactory source of water-supply. He observes, however, that the life of a small tube-well is apt to be short and he agrees with Mr. Sachse that the difficulty of keeping the pumps in repairs is one that has to be faced. In considering schemes for the supply of water from tube-wells municipal commissioners will therefore be well advised if they make specific provision for renewals and for periodical repairs: the latter object may be achieved by employing a whole-time mistri to look after the mechanism when the number of wells is sufficient to justify such a post.

11. Conservancy.—Expenditure under this head amounted to Rs. 22,70,714, showing an increase of about Rs. 70,000. Motor lorries either for road watering or for scavenging purposes were purchased by several municipalities and this partly contributed to the increase. The largest increase was in Dacca and was due to more being spent on road cleaning and road watering. As usual, the cost of cleansing private privies was nearly Rs. 5½ lakhs in excess of the receipts from latrine fees, which rose by about Rs. 35,000 only. The deficit was, as usual, met from the general fund at the sacrifice of such vital services as sanitation, education and medical relief. The desirability of making the special funds self-supporting by raising the rates to the maximum limit, where they have not yet reached that level, or by reducing expenditure was impressed upon the municipalities in the Presidency Division by the Divisional Commissioner when passing their budgets. The Minister trusts that this course will be followed by other Commissioners of Divisions.

Scavengers are as difficult as ever to recruit. Mr. Durno, Magistrate of Nadia, remarks that even Chakdah's one and only sweeper (mentioned in last year's Resolution) has run away.

The problem of recruiting scavengers and of paying wages that will keep them contented is likely to grow still more acute in the future and it is perhaps only a question of time before municipal commissioners in the larger towns at least are driven to the solution of installing underground sewerage systems.

As usual the conservancy departments were in charge of the Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors where there are such officers. The total cost on account of these officers amounted to Rs. 1,85,981 against Rs. 1,80,685 in the preceding year.

12. Drainage.—The total expenditure under the head fell from Rs. 5,96,231 to Rs. 3,20,974. The decrease is due to the fact that in 1926-27 there was a capital expenditure of Rs. 2,56,055 on the Dacca sewerage scheme. A scheme for the drainage of a part of the Suri Municipality was administratively approved at a cost of Rs. 34,100 towards which Government will make a grant of Rs. 10,000. The drainage system of Bally is extremely defective. The Calcutta Chord Railway authorities have agreed to construct drains along the alignments of their approach lines to the Bally bridge with which the municipality and the house-holders will be allowed to connect their drains. This is expected to remove the existing trouble in Ward No. I. A portion of the main outfall drain was taken up by the Bally Jute Mill, Ltd., and the municipality had also in hand a project for a new alignment of this drain for which acquisition proceedings were started.

The Titagarh sewerage scheme was completed and is now in working order. The Bhatpara scheme has recently been sanctioned by Government. A scheme for a sewerage system in Krishnagar had to be kept in abeyance for want of funds. A sum of Rs. 36,386 was spent by the Dacca Municipality on its sewerage scheme. The unspent balance of the Government grant for the scheme was Rs. 24,479 at the close of the year. Chittagong spent Rs. 4,453 on the maintenance, extension and improvement of drains. Minor drainage works were carried out in several other towns. The septic tanks at Kurseong are reported to have worked satisfactorily.

13. Lighting.—The expenditure under this head amounted to Rs. 6,03,502 as against Rs. 5,73,865 and represented 7·2 per cent. of the total ordinary expenditure. The increase is mainly noticeable in Howrah (no explanation given) and in Baranagore (due to the introduction of electric lighting). Other towns in the Province which are lighted with electricity are Dacca, Darjeeling, Howrah, Hooghly-Chinsura, Uttarpara, South Dum Dum, South Suburban, Bally and Burdwan. Only the first two municipalities had electric lighting before 1900, the Howrah system dates from 1913 and all the others have been installed since 1923. Some of the main roads and lanes in Chittagong were provided with electric lights during the year. There is a project for the electrification of the town of Berhampore and the commissioners have agreed to have street lights and also to run the water-works by electricity.

In Murshidabad and some other places the municipal commissioners have installed day-lights at road junctions; this is an example that other municipalities might follow with advantage.

14. Public health.—As in the previous year, most of the municipalities took steps to improve sanitation by filling up, clearing or disinfecting insanitary tanks, ditches and dobas and by removing undergrowth and obnoxious vegetation. Jessore carried out jungle clearing on a comprehensive scale with the help of convict labour while the small municipality of Maheshpur cleared the compounds of the poorer classes with the help of the anti-malarial society and school students. The settlement operations were responsible for a good deal of clearance of jungle in North Dum Dum. The District Magistrate of Hooghly observes that the standard of clearance is in most cases very low, and this is probably true of municipalities in other districts as well. In many municipalities notices were issued to owners of insanitary tanks, dobas and rank vegetation and prosecutions had to be started where the requisitions were not complied with. The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, however, remarks "what happens after the 'notices' and the results of 'prosecutions' we are not told. It would be an exceedingly interesting matter for detailed enquiry to find out what had really been done. The same formula appears every year with such persistence that in time one accepts it as a formula, especially when walking round any of the municipalities you come on the same 'old offenders'."

Preventive measures were taken by a large number of municipalities to check the spread of epidemics. Medicines and disinfectants were freely distributed and special doctors were appointed where necessary. There were outbreaks of cholera and of small-pox in several municipalities. People were warned against using the water of suspected tanks, wells and rivers and were advised to use boiled water. Anti-cholera inoculation and vaccination were pushed on vigorously and all possible steps were taken to cope with the epidemics. In certain municipalities affected houses were disinfected, suspected tanks, etc., were sterilized, markets were regularly inspected by Sanitary Officers, and unwholesome food was seized and destroyed.

Free vaccination was provided by many municipalities and effective measures were taken to secure the vaccination and revaccination of children, permanent vaccinators were maintained by certain municipalities while temporary ones were appointed by some others. A system of free home vaccination is reported to have been working with good results in Naihati and Kamarhati. Two female vaccinators were appointed by the Dacca Municipality.

Malaria and kala-azar were prevalent in some municipalities and preventive and curative measures were taken. It is reported that some of the anti-malarial and kala-azar societies did useful work in co-operation with the municipalities in combating these diseases. The Birnagar Palli Mandali made steady and systematic attempts to drive out malaria by mass administration of quinine and control of carrier species of anopheline mosquitoes. Anti-malarial societies were started in several municipalities while some opened kala-azar centres and distributed quinine and cinchona free. Dacca contributed as usual Rs. 1,200 to the Dacca Maternity and Child Welfare Trust and Chittagong Rs. 1,000 to the local maternity fund which is controlled by a committee of which the Civil Surgeon is the Secretary. A midwife is maintained from this fund who attends delivery cases amongst the poor people free of charge. A midwife was also appointed by the Nawabganj Municipality. Both Chittagong and Krishnagar have training classes for dais for which they receive grants from Government. Nine indigenous dais were trained at Chittagong.

Increasing interest was displayed by some municipalities in examining food-stuffs offered for sale to the public. In Dacca, for instance, 405 samples of food-stuffs were sent to the Public Health Laboratory for analysis, 31·3 per cent. of which were found to be adulterated. About 443 maunds of unwholesome food-stuffs of different kinds were destroyed. Several municipalities started a number of prosecutions under the Bengal Food Adulteration Act, many of which ended in conviction. The Chairman of the Dacca Municipality, however, complains of the inadequacy of the fines imposed by the criminal courts in these cases.

Attempts made to get water-hyacinth removed, by serving notices on the occupiers of holdings or otherwise, were usually successful.

15. Public Works.—The total expenditure under the head rose from Rs. 11,84,052 to Rs. 12,40,246. The increase was noticeable under the sub-head "Roads;" Dacca alone was responsible for an increase of Rs. 33,000 which was due to thorough repairs of several roads which could not be undertaken in previous years for lack of money. There was also an increase of Rs. 20,000 in Chittagong due to the metalling of some important roads and to the purchase of a road-watering motor car which is also to be used as a fire engine. A trial was made with the motor car at an actual fire and the engine succeeded in extinguishing it within half an hour. The percentage of outlay on public works to total expenditure varied from ·5 in the small town of Sonamukhi to 41·3 in South Suburban. Maintenance of roads is a heavy item in most places. The total length of metalled roads maintained by municipalities was 1,376 miles and that of unmetalled roads 1,637 miles. The mileage of both metalled and unmetalled roads is largest in Howrah, viz., 145 and 88 miles, respectively. Krishnagar has 77 miles of unmetalled roads.

Complaints continue to be received regarding the damage done to municipal roads by motor vehicles. The considerations which led to the postponement of legislation for the taxation of power-driven vehicles were set forth in paragraph 14 of last year's resolution, in which reference was also made to the possibility that the Road Development Committee appointed by the Government of India might recommend some special taxation on motors for expenditure on road development in India. The Committee submitted its report to the Government of India recently making comprehensive recommendations about methods by which schemes of road improvement may be financed out of the proceeds of new central and provincial taxes. Local Governments have been asked to express their views on these recommendations and the Government of Bengal have them under consideration.

16. Loans.—Loans amounting to Rs. 27,500 were granted from provincial revenues to the municipalities of Raniganj (Rs. 17,500), and Dinajpur (Rs. 10,000). Altogether 36 municipalities were in debt to Government, their total liabilities amounting to nearly Rs. 28¾ lakhs. Five municipalities, viz., Garulia, Barrackpore, Barasat, Basirhat and Sirajganj liquidated their debts in full.

17. Audit of accounts and embezzlements.—The accounts of all but eight municipalities were audited by the Examiner of Local Accounts and his staff. In the absence of any system of bringing home to municipal commissioners their personal responsibility for improper payments or for revenue sacrificed through their negligence, the control exercised by Government through audit is not very effective. The result is that defects and irregularities are seldom remedied and the same errors are seen over and over again. Repetition of irregularities is not the only fault of the present system. Under existing orders audit notes should be returned to the Examiner of Local Accounts within three months of their receipt with the Chairman's explanations but this time limit is seldom observed.

Embezzlements or misappropriations of money occurred in Baranagore, Jiaganj-Azimganj, Sirajganj, Dinajpur and Rajpur. In Baranagore the tax collector and the sarkar and in Jiaganj-Azimganj the tax daroga and cashier were prosecuted for misappropriating a portion of the collections made by them. These cases are still subjudice. The tax daroga of the Sirajganj Municipality is reported to have absconded after defalcating municipal money. The matter is in the hands of the Police. A small amount was misappropriated by the Registration clerk at Rajpur. The amount was recovered and the clerk was dismissed. In the Dinajpur case the culprit was the Head Clerk and Accountant; the money misappropriated by him was recovered and his services were dispensed with. In view of his old age and length of service the municipal commissioners, however, decided not to prosecute him. It is reported that the Chairman of one municipality in the Burdwan Division opposed a prosecution recommended by the District Magistrate. Municipal commissioners should remember that they are the custodians of the rate-payers' money and no personal considerations should deter them from placing offenders on trial leaving it to the court to take extenuating circumstances, if any, into view.

18. General remarks.—Burdwan Division.—The most noticeable achievements of the Burdwan Municipality were the completion of the municipal market and the construction of a rest-house in the Muhammadan burial ground. A new steam-roller and a new motor car serving the double purpose of road watering and fire extinction were also purchased. Katwa has made considerable progress in extricating its finances from the hopeless condition into which they had fallen 2 or 3 years ago. The drainage and water-supply of the town of Dainhat are as bad as ever. The District Magistrate remarks that it might be an advantage if this municipality were converted into a union board. The drains in Kalna are particularly obnoxious while those in Raniganj are regularly flushed. In the latter place the Bengal Coal Company is constructing a new market on up-to-date lines, which should materially add to the amenities of the town. In Asansol expenditure on conservancy had gone up to more than 42 per cent. of the total expenditure without bringing about any improvement. The municipality has no market and the sanitary conditions of the private markets are disgraceful.

As regards municipal administration in the district of Bankura, the District Magistrate remarks that it cannot be said that any of the municipalities were administered efficiently in respect of roads, drains, sanitation, water-supply or finance. In Bankura road repairs are neglected or done in a very incompetent manner and encroachments are being made with impunity. There are far too many insanitary tanks and dobas in this town.

Mr. Goode, Magistrate of Midnapore, writes as follows on the working of the municipalities in his district:—

" Generally speaking, there seems to me small scope for praise and less ground for blame in reviewing the administration of these municipalities. * * * Most of them possess incomes which are less than those of many union boards; their establishments are meagre. * * * High taxation is necessary if any advance is to be achieved. * * * The incidence of taxation in Midnapore is still only Rs. 3-1-3 per person while in Ghatal it is only Re. 1-5-11. Municipal amenities cannot be purchased at this price. With a 25 per cent. increase in taxation reserved for the service of loans, both these municipalities could advance, but as in the other municipal towns of the district, the poverty of the rate-payers, which is real enough, is urged against any considerable increase in taxation. * * * Adequate revenues are at present beyond the reach of all these municipalities, but I believe that most of them could support an increase in their assessments which would make progress possible. * * * In the Tamluk Municipality there are signs of life and prosperity. A portion of the market has been brought under khas possession; a tube-well 407 feet in depth has been sunk; a pucca ghat has been extended, a pipe distribution system is rendered possible by the munificence of the late Babu Gopal Prasad Garga, Zamindar of Mahisadal, the number of street lights increased and some drains improved. A class for training indigenous dais was opened with the assistance from Government and vigorous measures were taken to cope with a severe outbreak of small-pox. * * * "

Party faction exists more or less in most of the municipalities in the district of Hooghly.

The financial condition of the Hooghly-Chinsura Municipality is deplorable. The income from neither latrine fees nor water-rate pays for the services which they are meant to finance and these services again are far from perfect. The condition of the roads in the town is bad and they are not regularly watered. Drainage is also bad. The lighting of the area served by electric light has been fairly satisfactory but in other areas it is wretched in the extreme.

The Commissioner of the Division observes:—

" There is little to redeem the working of such municipalities as Bankura or Hooghly-Chinsura, and in these cases, one might almost say that the commissioners sin against light. The majority of the commissioners of the Kotrung Municipality are completely out of touch with the more enlightened of the rate-payers and refuse to do work which is recommended by the Sanitary Department and supported by the rate-payers. This state of things comes entirely from the personal ambitions of a very small clique.

There can be no doubt that instances of the worst type of management still are too many, probably even in the majority, among the municipalities. I believe, however, that there are more signs to-day of an awakening and that schemes that must improve health and sanitation are getting the support (actually shown in the form of contributions) of a larger body of the rate-payers. Burdwan and Midnapore are extending their water-supply and the former body is making use of the local electrical supply. Asansol got together for a water-supply nearly two lakhs of rupees in a surprisingly short time. Suri has put through its water-works scheme and is not afraid to undertake a drainage scheme. Tamluk has persisted and is practically assured of its drinking water-supply. Even in Chandrakona, faction has not entire control and the fact that in Bally the various factions contested to elect as Chairman a nominated member to get them out of the financial slough into which they had sunk, in my opinion, shows a real change in the attitude of commissioners towards public duties and testifies to a further growth in the sense of responsibility to the tax-payers."

Presidency Division.—Mr. E. N. Blandy, Magistrate of the 24-Parganas, makes the following remarks on the working of the municipalities in his district:—

"The total of outstanding balances has gone up again, though by a smaller figure than in the previous years. This shows that the Boards in many cases have still not learned the necessity and the duty of collecting taxes promptly. * * * The valuable assistance, both financial and personal, to municipal administration afforded by the mills again calls for remark. Such projects as the sewerage scheme in Titagarh and the Naihati water-supply are largely due to their co-operation. * * * * The municipalities during the period under review seem to have been more interested in water-supply and public health than in other directions and good work is being done. But it is yet to be seen whether this will produce a permanent improvement. If only they would set to and collect their full income and their arrears still more progress in these and in other directions would be possible. Civil suits and election disputes are unhappily common and municipal funds are not infrequently wasted in this unprofitable bickering."

Mr. Durno, Magistrate of Nadia, epitomises the working of the municipalities in his district as follows:—

"Krishnagar tries, and deserves sympathy and help. In Nabadwip they merely quarrel. Santipur was quite incorrigible, but it is hoped that the new board will open a new chapter. Ranaghat is dirty and dusty. A visit to Birnagar is a cure for depression (he adds every municipality that despairs should send its commissioners to Birnagar to see what can be done; it is an object lesson). Chakdah says it has no money. It has a dispensary, four lamps, a few wells, one quarter-time sweeper and one road cleaner who has been in service since the institution of the municipality in 1886; he now pulls the office punkha. Kusthia always seems the cleanest and brightest place in the district. Kumarkhali is a village which tries to be a municipality, and does not make a bad attempt at it, Meherpur people suffer from acute inertia and seem to prefer living in insanitary surroundings sooner than part with any of their money."

The municipal administration of the district of Murshidabad was marked by no special advance. The working of the Jessore Municipality is fairly good and that of Khulna is above the average. There was no improvement in the financial position of the Satkhira Municipality. The outstanding balance was Rs. 8,098 against a current demand of Rs. 17,407.

The Commissioner of the Division makes the following remarks:—

"There is nothing of particular interest that marks the administration of the municipalities during the year. Increased interest was shown at the elections as would appear from the figures at the polls, but when we come to the actual working of the boards, we notice the same apathy in the members and same slackness in the executive that have been the subject of adverse comments year after year. In a few municipalities party feelings played an important part in the administration, and in Nabadwip, which had already acquired considerable notoriety in this respect, the feelings grew acute and eventually culminated in a resolution recently adopted by the required majority of the commissioners removing their Chairman from office.

The incidence of taxation showed a slight upward tendency and so also the percentage of collections over the current demand. But larger outstandings and a smaller surplus maintained at the end of the year will be noticed almost everywhere. This shows that there has been very little change or improvement in the general conception of duty on the part of the members or of the executive. Santipur comes in for severe comments from the Magistrate of Nadia for its mismanagement, but it is hoped that the new board recently formed will put matters straight. Debhatta in Khulna is another that has acquired notoriety for mismanagement and in fact it seems to be an apology for a municipality, and the question whether a union board could not take its place is under the consideration of the local officers. * * * * * * * Attention is being given here and there to free primary education scheme, but no very marked advance was made during the year. Public health and sanitation received attention as far as possible with the funds at the disposal of the municipalities, but no scheme of any comprehensive nature for improvement of sanitation, education or development of roads could be initiated, owing to lack of funds."

Dacca Division.—The following extracts are quoted from the report of the Magistrate of Faridpur on the working of municipalities in that district:—

"The management of the municipalities has outwardly been smooth enough but at Madaripur much discontent has been expressed on the score of the anomalous position in which the municipality is placed by reason of the permanent absence of its Chairman. He has been absent for over 6 months and yet no attempt has been made by the majority to secure his resignation and elect his successor. * * At Faridpur in spite of the existence of two parties or rather the followers of two persons, there was no special difficulty in internal administration."

The insufficiency of funds for carrying out ordinary municipal works is the general characteristic of the municipalities in the district of Faridpur. In Faridpur Municipality there are various works to undertake (e.g., improvement of the market, better sanitation, proper maintenance of roads, provision of primary education) but these cannot now be taken in hand for want of funds. Tax on persons is levied at the rate of one per cent. on the annual income. This is less than the rate levied in many small towns. The District Magistrate observes that if the commissioners are unwilling to levy a tax on holdings, they must, at any rate, increase the present rate of taxation on personal income. It is reported that the rate of assessment at Madaripur is capable of considerable augmentation without hardship.

The financial position of the Barisal Municipality is worse than it was a year ago, its arrear demands being only Rs. 459 less than that of the previous years and even this reduction has been effected by granting remissions of almost Rs. 10,000. Patuakhali is, in parts at least, the most ill kept of the municipalities while party faction has grown at Jhalakati. Pirojpur calls for no special comment and Nalchiti, though it maintains its previous good record, is showing signs of decay. The Bhola Municipality is largely make-believe and the Magistrate doubts whether a union board would not be an improvement.

Chittagong Division.—The Commissioner of the Division observes:—

"The financial condition of the Chittagong Municipality is still far from satisfactory. The Cox's Bazar Municipality continued to do work with its small income. * * * The completion of the tube-well at Brahmanbaria marks a definite advance in the progress of the scheme for the supply of filtered water in that town. The Chandpur Municipality showed progress in all spheres of municipal activities. The municipal commissioners of Noakhali failed to take advantage of the general revision of assessment to place their finances on a stable basis. Their requests for assistance from Government and other quarters are numerous and persistent while they seem oblivious of the useful dictum that they alone deserve help who help themselves."

Rajshahi Division.—The resources of both Rajshahi and Nator are too small for the work to be done. The roads particularly in Nator are being starved of money for repairs. The main problems of Rajshahi are water-supply and drainage. Dinajpur is reported to have been efficiently administered. In Jalpaiguri realisations were somewhat worse than in the previous year. There was no improvement either in the roads or in the sanitary condition of the town. The District Magistrate reports that the general standard of administration of the Rangpur Municipality remained at practically the same level as in the past years. The general health of the town of Gaibandha was fairly good and the administration of the municipality has been satisfactory. The financial position of the Bogra Municipality is still far from satisfactory, as the deficit balance of the general fund has not yet been made up; the conservancy arrangements were on the whole fairly satisfactory and the municipal roads are not very bad. Sherpur is an old decaying town: its income is hardly sufficient to allow of any improvements in roads, sanitation, drainage, water-supply, etc. The financial position of Pabna has improved a little but that of Sirajganj is far from satisfactory. There has been no marked improvement in the municipal administration in the district of Malda. The working of the Kurseong Municipality is reported to be satisfactory.

The Commissioner of the Division observes:—

" There has been no marked improvement in municipal administration in this Division. There is still a disinclination on the part of most of the municipalities to take steps to improve their finances and to realise in full the taxes already imposed, due partly to apathy and partly to the fear of incurring unpopularity. There are still party feuds in some which hamper all good work; and there is still a lack of active sanitary conscience which perhaps prevents them all from taking measures which will increase the amenities of life. Indications are not, however, wanting that these bodies are waking up, although slowly. Several municipalities, e.g., Rajshahi, Pabna, English Bazar and Nawabganj, have realised that good drinking water is an essential necessity and inaugurated water-works schemes which they are doing their best to push on. Others, unable to finance such large schemes, are sinking tube-wells as fast as they can. Some, again have taken measures to extend medical relief and to combat epidemic diseases. These are encouraging signs and lead one to hope for greater improvements in every direction before long."

19. Concluding remarks.—The Minister is gratified to observe that even the Commissioner who has been most outspoken and unsparing in his criticisms of the working of municipalities in his Division nevertheless ends his report on a distinct note of optimism. There has undoubtedly been material progress in several directions, although it is slow. The increase in the number of water-works and electric light installations of recent years has been mentioned in the body of the report.

The complaint of lack of funds is chronic; but it must again be pointed out that most municipalities would be better off if they took a stronger line with defaulters. It is hardly creditable to Bengal that arrears of municipal taxes have increased more than three-fold since 1919-20. This simply means that municipal commissioners are punishing worthy citizens for the sins of the unworthy.

The names of the following Chairmen, Vice-Chairmen and municipal commissioners have been brought to the notice of Government on account of good work done by them, and the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Local Self-Government) desire to express their appreciation of the public spirit shown by these gentlemen:—

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF DISTRICT BOARDS IN BENGAL DURING THE YEAR 1927-28.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Local Self-Government Department.

CALCUTTA, THE 20TH FEBRUARY 1929.

RESOLUTION—No. 673 L.S.-G.

Minister-in-charge: The Hon'ble Raja Bhupendra Narayan Sinha Bahadur, of Nashipur.

READ—

The reports of the Commissioners of Divisions on the working of District Boards in Bengal during the year 1927-28.

District Boards.—The total number of members during the year remained the same as in the previous year, viz., 683, and the percentage of elected members was 62·3. The Darjeeling District Board is the only one that has a Chairman appointed by Government. The privilege of electing its own Chairman has been restored to the Midnapore District Board. The number of meetings held during the year was 418 of which 3 proved abortive for want of a quorum. None of the District Boards except Darjeeling held less than 12 meetings during the year. Generally speaking the members showed interest in the affairs of the Boards and worked harmoniously with their non-official Chairmen.

2. Local Boards.—There were 82 Local Boards as in the previous year and out of them four were presided over by non-official Chairmen appointed by Government, another four by elected official Chairmen and the rest by elected non-official Chairmen. The total number of members was 1,339 against 1,335 in the previous year. The increase was due to the addition of one member to the Manikganj Local Board in the Dacca district and of 3 to the Sadar Local Board of Bakarganj. Of the total number of members 863 were elected. The Local Boards held 817 meetings of which 17 proved abortive for want of a quorum. The question of the future of Local Boards is still under consideration.

3. Village Self-Government.—(As all reports are not to hand this will form the subject of a separate resolution).

4. Finance of District Boards.—Receipts amounted to Rs. 145·5 lakhs against Rs. 138·75 lakhs in the preceding year, the increase being mainly due to larger receipts under the heads "Education," "Civil Works," "Medical" and "Local Rates." Under the sub-head "Tools on ferries and roads" under "Civil Works," receipts increased by Rs. 1 lakh largely as a result of the transfer of provincial ferries to District Boards at the beginning of the year. Receipts declined appreciably under the heads "Police" and "Miscellaneous." Disbursements rose from Rs. 141·2 lakhs to Rs. 149·2 lakhs. The increase was chiefly due to larger expenditure on "Medical," "Debt" and "Education." Outlay on "Civil Works" fell by Rs. 2 lakhs. The closing balance amounted to Rs. 31 lakhs (of which Rs. 16 lakhs were in cash) against Rs. 34·68 lakhs in the previous year.

5. Taxation.—The average incidence of cess throughout the Presidency was 2 annas 10 pies a year per head of population varying in different districts from 1 anna to 7 annas 7 pies.

6. Education.—Expenditure rose by Rs. 2·3 lakhs to Rs. 35 lakhs of which Government contributed Rs. 21·6 lakhs, while other contributions, school fees and miscellaneous receipts amounted to Rs. 4,821, Rs. 44,155 and Rs. 29,486, respectively. District Boards from their own funds contributed Rs. 12·6 lakhs against Rs. 13·8 lakhs in the previous year.

The number of upper and lower primary schools maintained and aided by District Boards rose from 43,701 to 46,416 of which 34,566 were boys' schools and 11,850 girls' schools. The number of pupils attending these schools was boys 1,248,500 and girls 307,841 against 164,738 and 280,668, respectively, in the previous year.

Union Boards continued to maintain free primary schools on the lines suggested by Mr. Biss, but the Palong Union Board in the Faridpur district abandoned the free primary school scheme and similar schools in the Kabirajpur Union of the same district were also abolished. The primary schools in Burdwan continued to be under the management and control of the Union Boards excepting those of the Asansol subdivision and of the jungle mahals in the Sadar subdivision where there are no Union Boards. In Howrah district the management of three upper primary schools, six lower primary schools and one girls' school were transferred to the control of the Union Boards and the aided primary schools situated within ten of the Unions were transferred to the respective Union Boards along with the grants allotted to the schools in the budget. In addition to these, six primary schools started in this district under the Griffith scheme were maintained during the year at a cost of Rs. 100 each per mensem, one half of which was contributed by Government and the other half by the respective Union Boards. The cost of construction of new buildings and of equipment was also paid by Government and the Union Boards in equal shares. Twenty-two free primary schools started in the previous year were maintained by the 24-Parganas District Board and the opening of forty more such schools was under the consideraion of the Board. In Jessore one lower primary school was started by the Muchis of Kagmari in the Jhikargacha thana; the children are taught by Hindu teachers of the higher castes which is said to be an unusual thing in those parts.

Technical and industrial education continued to receive attention. The District Board of Nadia accepted a proposal for the establishment of a peripatetic weaving school on payment of a contribution of Rs. 150 and has further accepted an annual liability of Rs. 300 for the establishment of a permanent District weaving school at Santipur in collaboration with the Santipur Municipality. The newly started theoretical industrial class in the Kashi Kishore Technical School maintained by the Mymensingh District Board is reported not to have been popular. A peripatetic weaving school was established at Sibpur which is a very important weaving centre in the Sadar subdivision of the Pabna district. The Howrah District Board increased its expenditure on the encouragement of hand-spinning in middle schools. With a view to improve the physique of boys the District Board of Midnapore appointed during the year, as an experimental measure, a physical instructor to train the pupils of the Board's schools as well as those of aided middle and primary schools in the methods of physical culture. With the same object the Bankura District Board started a school of physical culture which was placed under the management of a joint committee composed of District Board members and Commissioners of the Bankura Municipality.

7. Medical Relief and Public Health.—The expenditure under these heads increased appreciably and aggregated Rs. 26·1 lakhs against Rs. 21·7 lakhs in the previous year. The increase is in part due to the Government grants towards the rural public health organization which came into being during the year under report. Twelve new dispensaries were opened during the year and the total number of dispensaries maintained and aided were 520 and 357, respectively, against 508 and 346, respectively, in the previous year. Dispensaries were also maintained by some Union Boards. There were also 8 dispensaries subsidised by the District Board of Khulna. Medical relief was as usual provided primarily through these Allopathic dispensaries and also to a small extent through Homeopathic, Ayurvedic and Hakimi diepensaries maintained or subsidized by District Boards. During epidemics of fever, cholera and small-pox additional centres were opened under trained doctors and itinerant doctors were also engaged for the distribution of medicine and the treatment of cases. The co-operative dispensary at Munshirhat in the district of Howrah run by five group societies was visited by the members of the Public Health Commission deputed by the League of Nations. The visitors are said to have approved of the work done. As in the previous year, co-operative societies and health associations did useful work and undertook the treatment of, and initiated preventive measures against, kala-azar and malaria. The extensive propaganda work undertaken in connection with kala-azar has checked the growth of the desease considerably. In the 24-Parganas the District Board's campaign against the disease met with a large measure of success and the practical eradication of this scourge is said to be almost within sight. In Nadia the Vice-Chairmen of the District Board conducted a travelling public health and veterinary exhibition round the district. Mr. Durno, the District Magistrate, remarks that a simple exhibition of this nature by going round to the homes of the villagers does more practical good than an elaborate one held at a fixed centre and has also the advantage of being cheaper. Under the recent rural public health organisation scheme each rural thana is to have a public health staff engaged on preventive work and propaganda work, and the whole cost of the staff is to be met from provincial funds. Such organisations are already working in approximately half the thanas in the rural areas of the province and it is expected that the establishment of these public health centres in all the thanas of the province will be complete by the beginning of 1930-31. Much valuable work is expected from the organisation when it is in full working order. A good beginning has already been made and it is hoped that this bold step towards tackling the very difficult problem of rural health in Bengal will soon come to be appreciated.

Both cholera and small-pox broke out in epidemic form in several districts. Prompt and effective measures were taken by the District Board to cope with these outbreaks. Inoculation with anti-cholera vaccine and disinfection of sources of water-supply checked the spread of the disease in many places within a very short time. Measures were taken to push on intensive vaccination. Vaccination and re-vaccination were thoroughly carried out in Pabna under the gang system and the number of successful vaccinations aggregated 212,750. During the year the Government vaccination inspecting staff was transferred to the control of District Boards.

More attention was paid to maternity and child welfare work and several District Boards opened dai-training centres and held baby shows. In the Jalpaiguri District a promising start was made with dai-training classes and attempts are being made to interest tea garden managers in the organization of such classes in the tea garden areas.

The Bankura District Board made special arrangements for free treatment of lepers. Two more leprosy clinics were opened during the year and placed under the charge of doctors specially trained in Calcutta in Dr. Muir's method of treatment. The doctors were also required to do survey and propaganda work, taking a census of lepers, collecting data and instructing the people.

8. Veterinary.—The charges under this head slightly increased from Rs. 2,09,146 to Rs. 2,17,415, the increase being shared by 12 District Boards and notably by those of Burdwan, Bakarganj, Pabna, Darjeeling and Rangpur. Expenditure decreased in 14 districts, the fall being most marked in Nadia, Chittagong, Midnapore, Rajshahi and Dinajpur. Cattle disease broke out in the Burdwan, Bankura, Murshidabad, Khulna, Mymensingh, Faridpur, Bakarganj, Tippera, Bogra and Malda districts and prompt measures were taken by the District Boards to inoculate the cattle in the affected areas. 984 animals against 2,802 in the previous year are reported to have died from contagious disease in Bakarganj. The Nadia District Board organized cattle shows and veterinary lectures on cattle welfare by means of a touring health exhibition. The Bankura District Board, in addition to the two itinerant veterinary assistants maintained by it, engaged a veterinary propaganda officer to instruct the villagers in matters affecting improvement and treatment of cattle and also to help the regular itinerant officers in times of need. The Dinajpur District Board, on the other hand, did away with the services of the fourth veterinary Assistant Surgeon entertained in the previous year.

9. Civil Works.—The total expenditure under this head, which includes sums spent on water-supply and drainage, fell from Rs. 64·81 lakhs to Rs. 62·8 lakhs. The principle items of expenditure under this head are "Buildings," "Communications," "Water-supply" and "Establishment." Expenditure on the last two items slightly increased while that on "Buildings" and "Communications" decreased by Rs. 1,50,000 and Rs. 64,000, respectively. The outlay on original works under "Water-supply" showed an increase of Rs. 71,000, but the cost of repairs decreased by Rs. 9,000, while in the case of "Communications" capital expenditure fell by Rs. 1·14 lakhs and maintenance charge rose by Rs. 50,000. District Boards were perhaps well advised in adopting a more conservative policy in this respect.

The mileage of metalled and unmetalled roads was 2,545 and 15,792 against 2,513 and 15,447 of the previous year.

As pointed out in last year's Resolution the increasing use of motor vehicles in the mufassal made it very difficult for District Boards to maintain their roads in proper condition. The roads are in consequence rapidly deteriorating and it is recognised that unless additional funds are made available to District Boards the condition of the roads will be most deplorable. The Road Development Committee referred to in the last year's Resolution submitted its report to the Government of India recently making comprehensive recommendations about methods by which schemes of road improvement may be financed out of the proceeds of new central and provincial taxes. Local Governments have been asked to express their view on these recommendations and the Government of Bengal have them under consideration. If the District Boards wish to protect their roads from undue wear and tear they can adopt the model by-laws framed by Government empowering them to close specified roads and bridges to all motor vehicles or to motor vehicles over a certain weight.

The income (Rs. 13,144) of District Boards from roadside trees showed a slight decline while expenditure fell by Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 20,704. The number of trees planted during the year also decreased from 9,165 to 3,265. District Boards in general show no sign of taking a long view in this matter. Timbers and fruit trees are ultimately remunerative and to plant them may be a good investment. Another point which indicate indifference is the unwillingness of District Boards to depute overseers, sub-overseers or road sarkars for courses of training in the classes for arboriculture held by the Curator of the Royal Botanic Garden at Sibpur. The Curator's report on the class held during 1928 shows that none of the officers trained in it came from any of the District Boards in this province.

The percentage of total lapses to the total budget allotment increased, specially in the Nadia (20·8), Faridpur (15·3) and Murshidabad (9·7) districts. The percentage though still high decreased in Burdwan (12·47) and the 24-Parganas (13·2). The large lapse in Nadia was partially due to the preoccupation of some of the subordinate engineering staff with famine test works towards the end of the year and that in the 24-Parganas was due to the fact that some works provided for in the budget could not be taken up as land acquisition proceedings were not complete in some cases and preliminaries could not be finished within the year. The high percentage in Burdwan is attributed to the fact that there was a partial suspension of civil works payments during the latter part of the year necessitated by lack of funds and the low balance at the close of November 1927. The lapses at Faridpur and Murshidabad have not been explained. There was a marked decline in the lapses in Jessore, Pabna, Darjeeling, Noakhali and Bankura, while in Chittagong, Rajshahi and Malda the expenditure exceeded the budget allotments.

10. Water-supply.—Expenditure on water-supply rose from Rs. 8·62 lakhs to Rs. 9·25 lakhs. Many of the Boards displayed much activity in this respect. Interesting features of the divisional reports are the following :—

The Hooghly District Board sank 199 tube-wells bringing the total number of such wells in the district to 362. It is reported that tube-wells have proved a great success in this district. In the 24-Parganas the sinking of 150 tube-wells, excavation of 5 tanks, re-excavation of 25 tanks and two masonry wells were completed and in addition a good number of tube-wells were sunk by Union Boards. The total number of tube-wells in this district came to 841 and the Board maintained a staff consisting of one Inspector, one mechanic and five mistries to look after them. In Faridpur three sets of apparatus for sinking tube-wells were purchased and mistries were trained. During the latter half of the year about 50 tube-wells were sunk in different localities at a cost much below what contractors charge for similar work. The water of these wells is very much used and appreciated and as soon as one tube-well was sunk there came a rush of demands and the Union Boards and villagers came forward to contribute liberally. One particularly noticeable effect of the tube-wells was that the localities which they served remained immune from epidemics which were raging throughout the district. In view of the large demand for tube-wells the District Board contemplated an increase in the number of trained mistries. The Noakhali District Board adopted a scheme of granting loans without interest to private owners for the improvement of selected tanks, the loans to be recovered in ten annual instalments and the Chittagong District Board resolved to undertake the re-excavation of private tanks on the owner's bearing a portion of the cost and executing agreements to allow access to the public.

In view of the impossibility of providing sources of pure drinking water in rural areas out of sums which Government and local bodies can spare out of current income and in pursuance of the principle that the cost of works of a more or less permanent nature should be spread over a series of years, Government enunciated a loan policy for rural water-supply in their circular No. 103-07-T—P.H., dated the 28th May 1928. The principal features of this scheme are that District Boards should take loans from Government for improvement of water-supply in the villages and that the annual Government grant of Rs. 2½ lakhs instead of being for five years only should be made permanent and should be used in reducing the amount of interest which District Boards have to pay on the loans taken for this purpose. This policy was approved at a conference of District Board representatives held in December 1927 and in the course of 1928 the District Boards were asked to prepare a full programme of work, to be financed from loan funds. It is hoped that Government will be able to meet the requirements of those Boards which put forward well-considered schemes of water-supply. Some misunderstanding was caused by a remark in the above-mentioned circular to the effect that the money to be borrowed by District Boards would not be available for the provision of small and short lived tube-wells. This was construed in some quarters as a condemnation of the tube-well as a source of rural water-supply; this impression was entirely wrong. The Minister has noted with gratification the popularity and success of tube-wells in certain districts, e.g., those mentioned earlier in this paragraph, and equally with his predecessor he would like to see such wells multiplied in areas to which they are suited. All that the circular was intended to convey was that loans intended to have a currency of 20 or 25 years could not, with any financial propriety be used to provide the cost of works not likely to last for anything like that period. The cost of small tube-wells is within the means of village communities and of Union Boards and in order to provide them it is hardly necessary to resort to the cumbrous machinery of a Government loan.

Apart from this consideration, there is no reason why the cost of such wells should not be met from short-term loans, the period of repayment being calculated on the probable life of the work; and Government are accordingly willing to lend money to District Boards, so far as the state of the provincial balances or of their borrowing powers permit, in order to enable those bodies in turn to lend out money to Union Boards in furtherance of sound schemes of water-supply through tube-wells.

11. Closing Balance.—The year closed with an actual balance of Rs. 16 lakhs against Rs. 17·8 lakhs of the previous year. The District Boards of Dacca (Rs 2·54 lakhs), Tippera (Rs. 1·76 lakhs), Midnapore (Rs. 1·7 lakhs), and Burdwan (Rs. 1·46 lakhs) had heavy balances. Of the accumulation in Dacca Rs. 81,000 represented the actual balance and Rs 1 21,000 the value of uncashed cheques while an allotment of Rs. 38,000 for construction of dispensary buildings and school houses could not be utilised. The large balance in Tippera is explained by the fact that it includes the loan of rupees one lakh received by the Board from Government on the closing day of the year for the improvement of roads and construction of bridges; and that in Burdwan was due partly to the fact that a donation of Rs. 30,000 towards the cost of road work and a Government contribution of Rs. 10,000 towards equipment of the mechanical class of the Technical School could not be expended before the close of the year. No explanation has been furnished for the large balance in Midnapore.

12. General Remarks.—On the whole the reports received from the Commissioners record a successful year's working, although special difficulties due to short rainfall and scarcity had to be faced in several districts. The District Boards of Birbhum, Nadia, Khulna,

Murshidabad and Dinajpur all co-operated whole-heartedly and successfully with the district officers in coping with the scarcity that prevailed. Nadia had a special difficulty inasmuch as the increased income due to the cess revaluation was much less than had been anticipated when the budget was framed, but the work of this Board and its Chairman and Vice-Chairman comes in for special praise from the District Magistrate. The Burdwan District Board was successfully administered in spite of the dwindling income due to depression in the coal mining industry. The 24-Parganas District Board is now reported to be working smoothly, but the Chairman remarks that " the public is as apathetic as before and the spirit of self-help appears to be dead in them. They seem to think that outside agencies viz., Government and District Board, will do everything for them." Regarding the Bankura District Board, Mr. Cook, the Commissioner, remarks :—

" I regret to say that this Board has been found extremely difficult to work with, and this drawback has been all the more felt as there was considerable distress in part of the district, which necessitated more than the usual amount of contact with it. It was only with the greatest of difficulty that the Board could be induced to meet the cost of test works while arrangements were being made for advances from Government nor would the Board admit that some responsibility rested with them in meeting the situation. Latterly, there is reason to believe that famine rates have not been adhered to in paying labourers. It is hardly too much to say that some of the Board's doings were intentionally done to flout Government. That its policy was avowedly Swaraj goes without saying, with the result that large grants were given to institutions professing that creed. In fact, the method of disposing of most items of the Board's business is said to be decided on in a meeting of the Congress Committee, before they are put to the Board."

Mr. Goode, the District Magistrate of Midnapore, while criticising the policy of the Midnapore District Board in certain respects, goes on to say :—

" But in spite of these criticisms, I think there has been recently more steady and sober recognition by the Board of it reponsibilities to the public than the records of the last few years suggest. I have found a readiness on the part of the Board to co-operate with Government officers and my thanks are due to the Chairman for the courteous consideration which my suggestions in matters affecting the administration of the Board have invariably received. Party politics still unfortunately carry too much weight in the management of local affairs, and the Board's policy is often given a twist which does not conduce to good administration, but I believe that the Swarajist Board of Midnapore has done much sound steady work in the past year and that its dependence on the electorate for a continuance of its powers, which has to a large extent dictated its policy—in its prudent use as well as its abuse of power—has to some extent produced in the minds of the people some realisation of the elector's responsibility and I think there are signs of a growing sense on the part of the people—which are all to the good—that they have it in their power to demand a reckoning from unfaithful or inefficient representatives."

The reports do not indicate that party politics entered into the administration of any other District Boards, possibly because, as remarked by Forward in a leading article of 4th January 1929, " it is notorious that many of those who have got into local bodies on the Congress ticket have either no politics or have politics of a sane type."

Complaints of lack of funds are as loud and as well-founded as ever. It is the general opinion that taxes on vehicles kept in rural areas are overdue, and some think that these should take the form of tolls on roads ; otherwise no District Board has put forward any proposal for fresh taxation in spite of the hint given in last year's Resolution. Nevertheless the Minister thinks that the next decade should bring about considerable improvement of conditions in the rural areas of Bengal. The Primary Education Bill, if it becomes law, should in time banish illiteracy, while in the rural public health organisation, the cost of which is provided by Government, District Boards have an instrument which, properly used, should enable them to stamp out cholera and small-pox and possibly also, to lessen the incidence of malaria. The introduction of taxes on vehicles, the proceeds thereof being earmarked for road development, should in time bring about a marked improvement in the communications of the countryside and should thereby facilitate the marketing of agricultural produce, while Union Boards provide a network of authorities which can pay closer attention to the villagers' needs than a remote and overburdened District or Local Board can pay; the establishment of new Union Boards which use their powers of taxation is moreover, by an almost automatic process, progressively increasing the amount of money available for improvement of rural conditions.

The Minister desires to express his appreciation of the good work done by the following gentlemen :—

NOTIFICATIONS.

Sixth publication.

No. 21—The 18th January 1929.—The following draft of rules which, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Canals Act, 1864 (Bengal Act V of 1864), the Governor in Council intends to make for the regulation of traffic in the line of navigation known as the Mahananda river (100 miles in length) in the districts of Malda and Rajshahi which has been declared under section 2 of the said Act in Bengal Government notification No. 10-I., dated the 18th October 1927, published in Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th idem, is hereby published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 10th April 1929, and any objections or suggestions received by the undersigned before that date will be considered:—

Draft Rules.

1. All vessels, when moored, must be made fast by the bow and stern along the bank so as not to obstruct other vessels passing in the river.

2. In such portions of the river where only one towing path exists, vessels must be moored on the off-side and the towing path side kept clear.

3. Only one vessel is allowed to make fast along and in line with the river banks, and no other vessel is to be made fast or to be placed outside of vessels so secured without the special permission of the Supervisor. No vessel or raft is to be placed in such a position as to endanger the safety, or obstruct the passage, of other vessels, and all vessels are to be moored in such places and in such a manner as the Supervisor may at any time direct.

4. The Supervisor may, by notification, prohibit the dropping of anchors or the erection of bamboos or luggees in or on any portion of the river or banks, and no anchors may be dropped or bamboos or luggees erected at such prohibited sites.

5. No vessel shall be moored at a distance of less than 500 feet from the junction of two or more rivers.

6. Vessels are not permitted to anchor or moor in the restricted portions of the channels maintained by training works.

7. Before entering such restricted channels the person in charge of the vessel must lighten his vessel sufficiently to prevent grounding in the channel.

In the event of any vessel running aground, the person in charge of the vessel must arrange for its immediate release by all means possible, failing which it will be lawful for the Supervisor or his subordinates to arrange to remove such vessel and to recover the costs of such operation from the owner of the vessel as provided for in rule 11 below.

8. No person is allowed to place any obstruction on the river banks so as to impede free passage along them. No person is permitted to place any obstruction in the river bed so as to impede navigation or cause any deterioration of the channel.

9. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the river.

10. In every case of a sunken vessel, whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

11. If three days after the occurrence of a wreck it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner, provided that, when the wreck obstructs the fairway, they may take action at once to remove the same.

A notice must be affixed on the wreck when recovered, calling on those concerned to pay to the Supervisor all expenses incurred in the recovery or removal of the wreck, and intimating that if the sum be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the vessel and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold, the proceeds of the sale being dealt with as directed in section 9 of the Canals Act of 1864.

12. Every Canal Officer is authorized to remove any vessel, anchor, pole or any other thing which he may find in a position in contravention of these rules and to deal with it in such manner as may be necessary to give effect to the rules.

13. Whenever any laden vessel which has been sunk, has been recovered, or when a laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Canals Act or of these rules, the Supervisor must give immediate notice of the same to the owner or his agent, calling upon him to remove the cargo without delay and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

14. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and the place of business or abode of the owner of the cargo of any vessel seized under the said Act, he must notify the seizure by advertisement in his office and in at least one public newspaper. Such notice shall require the owner to cause the immediate removal of the cargo and to pay all expenses incurred in providing for its proper custody and storage.

15. The Supervisor may incur whatever expenses are necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo of any vessel seized under the Act and, if the cargo be not removed within ten days from the date of seizure, he may sell the same at a public auction to be held in his office or at the place of seizure to the highest bidder, after giving ten days' notice of the auction by advertisement in at least one newspaper.

16. The money realized at such a sale is to be applied, in the first instance, to defray any expenditure that may have been incurred by the Supervisor on account of the cargo sold, and the balance, if any, is to be held in deposit to be paid to the owner of the said cargo on his applying for the same.

17. No officer of any description or rank employed on the river shall, either directly or indirectly, bid for or purchase any article sold under these rules or under the provisions of the Act.

18. Any person (other than the Supervisor or his subordinates), who infringes any of these rules, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for any one infringement and to an additional fine at a rate not exceeding five rupees a day if the infringement be continued.

Bengal.
5. Shew Pujan Pandey, Constable, Calcutta Police	On the night of the 31st of January 1928, this constable, who was attached to the Special Patrol staff at Burrabazar Police Station, Calcutta, was patrolling in Burtola Street. This locality is infested with notorious characters and in consequence a special staff has been sanctioned for the protection of the area. The constable arrested 3 suspicious looking persons, one of whom he knew to be an old offender. He commenced to search their persons and recovered a packet of cocaine from one of them. The men arrested attempted to argue and bribe the constable, and finding this of no avail, one of them exclaimed, that they must now look to their own resources and free themselves. On this the second member of the party drew a knife and attempted to strike the constable in the chest. The constable with commendable courage continued to confine the three suspects and tried to avoid the knife thrust. One of the accused managed to free himself from the constable whose left hand was badly cut and bleeding profusely. In spite of this he maintained his grasp on the two remaining men until a motor driver came to his assistance. The people of the locality kept well in the background and gave no help to the constable. Just before the motor driver rendered assistance, the second of the accused freed himself and escaped, but the man who struck the knife blow, was firmly secured by the constable and taken to the Police Station The constable displayed great bravery and devotion to duty at the risk of his life, in spite of having received injuries attended with loss of blood, which would have caused most people to give up an unequal struggle.

10. Sections 13, 14 and 17 of the said Act are hereby repealed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Port of Calcutta was reopened for pilgrim traffic to the Hedjaz in 1926 but the volume of traffic has been far below expectations. In 1926 only two ships sailed with pilgrims from Calcutta, and the same number in 1927 while in 1928 there was only one. The Commissioner of Police reported that the smallness of the number of pilgrims leaving Calcutta was largely due to the activities of pilgrim guides known as Muallems who acted in the interest of Bombay firms, and suggested that the local Government should take power to secure some degree of control over them. Under the Protection of Muhammadan Pilgrims Act, 1896, the local Government can control regular pilgrim brokers but the definition of the phrase "pilgrim brokers" in the Act is not wide enough to include Muallems. Government have therefore decided that the Act should be amended so as to give them the necessary power and this amending Bill has been prepared with that object. It is also proposed to omit certain sections which the provisions of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, render unnecessary.

Provided that the order of forfeiture, or the copy of it, as the case may be, shall first be shown to the person whom there is reason to believe to be in possession of the monies, securities or goods, and to the owner of the premises in which search is to be made, if such person or owner so requests.

Applications and appeals.

Application to High Court in respect of removal order.

6. The High Court may, on application made by or on behalf of any person in respect of whom a removal order has been made, set aside the order on the ground that such person is an excepted person, but on no other ground.

(2) Save as expressly provided in this Act, no removal order, no order of forfeiture, and no prohibition order shall be called in question in any Court or by or before any other authority whatsoever, and nothing in section 491 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply to any person in respect of whom any such order has been made. V of 1898.

(3) No prosecution or other legal proceeding whatsoever shall lie against any person in respect of anything in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Evidence has accumulated for some time past of the subversive intentions and activities of the Communist International generally, and in particular of the efforts it is directing against India. The general policy of the Communist movement is to rouse a spirit of discontent and lawlessness in the masses, whether industrial or agricultural, with the ultimate object of destroying by violence both the government established by law and the present economic organisation of society, and substituting what they describe as the directorship of the proletariat. For the promotion of this movement, in India as in other countries, the Communists depend largely on the work of propagandists who are despatched to the country for the purpose of forming organisations intended to promote and spread communistic ideas and doctrines, and of creating general unrest among the masses. It is not reasonable that these agents of communism, if they happen to obtain entrance into India, should be allowed to stay in India with the object of undermining the whole structure of the life of the community. There is also evidence to show that bodies under the control or influence of the Communist International have been remitting sums of money in aid of the various industrial disputes recently in progress in India, disputes which, whatever may be their economic basis, have undoubtedly been fomented by communist agents. These remittances are made not from any legitimate interest in the merits of an industrial dispute but with a view to promoting the preliminary stages of the revolution to which such bodies look forward. Government have no desire to interfere to the detriment of men who are engaged in a legitimate industrial dispute with their employers, but it is manifest that a foreign organisation should not be permitted to support such movements with the ultimate object of promoting revolution. There is also reason to believe that money is remitted from communistic sources for the support of agents now in India and in aid of certain journals which preach the doctrines of communism. The Bill is designed to provide power to remove agents of communism who obtain entrance into India provided that they are not Indian British subjects or British subjects ordinarily resident in India or subjects of a State in India, and to forfeit or control the expenditure of funds remitted by communistic sources outside British India or intended to be applied in accordance with instructions from such sources.

Second Forecast of the Spring Oilseed Crops of Bengal, 1928-29.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27 the area under linseed in Bengal has represented some 3·3 per cent. and that under rape and mustard 11·6 per cent. of the total area under these crops in British India.]

Character of the season.—As reported in the first forecast, the sowings at the outset, though commenced under favourable conditions, were retarded by excessive rain in October. Subsequently, dry weather in November proved favourable for further sowings, but the drought, which prolonged till the middle of January, interfered with the growth and development of the crops. The excessive rainfall in the latter part of January caused some damage to the early-sown crops then maturing, but proved favourable to the late crops. On the whole, the season may be regarded as fairly favourable for the crops this year.

Area sown.—Oilseeds are chiefly grown in the Rajshahi, Dacca and Presidency Divisions. In the other two divisions the cultivation is small. The total area under these crops (excepting sesamum for which separate forecasts are issued) is returned at 882,700 acres this year as against 894,400 and 900,600 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—From the District Officers' estimates the provincial outturn of the different oilseed crops works out at 78 per cent. of the normal as against 75 and 69 per cent., respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Second Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1928-29.

[NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1926-27, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of the irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1926-27, averaged (a) 38·5 and (b) 14·0 per cent., respectively.]

Character of the season.—As indicated in the first forecast, weather conditions at the outset were favourable both for the preparatory tillage and for the sowings of the crop which commenced generally in the usual time, except in some North and East Bengal districts where the operations were somewhat late owing to excessive rainfall in October. The dry weather that followed was favourable at first, but being prolonged up till January affected the growth, specially in some West Bengal districts. Rainfall in the latter part of January proved generally beneficial, though rather too heavy in places. The season, on the whole, promises to be fairly favourable for the crop.

Acreage.—According to the estimates of the District Officers, the total area sown amounts to 122,900 acres this year as against 106,600 acres both in corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—The average provincial outturn, as worked out from district estimates, is 78 per cent. of the normal as against 59 and 64 per cent., respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

RESOLUTION ON THE WORKING OF UNION BOARDS IN BENGAL DURING THE YEAR 1927-28.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Local Self-Government Department.

CALCUTTA, THE 4TH MARCH 1929.

RESOLUTION—No. 789 L. S.-G.

READ—

The reports of Commissioners of Divisions on the working of Union Boards in Bengal during the year 1927-28.

The year 1927-28 was remarkable for a large increase in the number of Union Boards. The total number of boards which worked during the year was 3,005 against 2,260 in the previous year; in several districts Union Boards were sanctioned by Government but could not be formed before the close of the year.

Opposition to the application of the Village Self-Government Act has practically died down except in a few localities. The change of attitude that takes place after Union Boards have been working for a few years in a district is noteworthy. When boards are first established there is apt to be a certain amount of suspicion and reluctance to stand for election, on the part of possible candidates for membership. After a few years' work on the other hand elections are keenly contested. An unfortunate feature of this change of attitude is that defeated candidates sometimes set themselves up in opposition to Union Boards and try to thwart their activities.

Newly formed Union Boards are naturally unwilling to make full use of their powers of taxation. Much could be done to overcome this reluctance if District Boards were able to adopt a judicious policy of grants-in-aid, making their contributions proportionate to the amount of self-help shown by each Union Board; but however benevolent the attitude of District Boards may be, few of them can afford to spend much on this account.

The Union Boards which worked during the year realised under clauses (a) and (b) of section 37 of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act and as rents of chaukidari chakran lands a total sum of Rs. 42·5 lakhs. In Tippera district in particular there was a notable increase in the amount of taxation under section 37(b). Receipts from other sources brought the total income up to Rs. 56 lakhs, of which Rs. 35·2 lakhs was spent on establishment (chiefly daffadars and chaukidars) and collecting charges and the balance on what may be called "nation building" or "village uplift" work.

As was natural in a year of drought special attention was paid to the improvement of water-supply and much activity in this direction is reported. A few boards also constructed or maintained small irrigation works. A number of dispensaries were maintained by Union Boards and in some places a good deal was done to promote or assist primary education. Union Boards interested themselves in the construction and upkeep of village roads and a few boards even went in for small town-planning schemes and for systems of street lighting. Several Union Boards in the Howrah district maintained a conservancy establishment. In some unions anti-malaria work was engaged in.

The service of criminal and revenue processes by daffadars was satisfactory on the whole. The number of Union Benches and Courts is increasing and those that worked during the year were in general popular and inspired confidence.

Most of the District Boards took much interest in the working of Union Boards, delegated duties to them and assisted them with such grants-in-aid as they could afford. Bankura District Board alone not only showed no interest or sympathy but adopted a definitely obstructive attitude towards the Union Boards which were established in its district at the beginning of the year under report and refused to fulfil even its bare statutory obligations to them—a state of affairs which obviously cannot be allowed to continue. In spite of this handicap the Union Boards in Bankura did much useful work during the year.

By order of the Government of Bengal,

J. G. DRUMMOND,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

for Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

Appointment Department.

NOTICE.

The electoral roll for the Calcutta University constituency of the Bengal Legislative Council which was prepared in 1926 will cease to be in force about the end of September 1929. With a view to enable the undersigned to prepare a new roll, graduates of the Calcutta University, including women graduates, of not less than seven years' standing are requested to furnish the undersigned with the particulars noted below on or before the 16th April 1929. Only such graduates of the University as passed their first Degree examination in 1921 (and were admitted to their Degrees at the annual convocation held in 1922) or earlier will be eligible for registration in the roll. Licentiates of Medicine who obtained their Degrees under the old Regulations will be treated as graduates for the purposes of the franchise qualification—

(1) Name in full.
(Women graduates should state whether Mrs. or Miss.)

(2) Address in full.

(3) Present occupation.

(4) Place of residence.

(5) Name of the first Degree examination of the University, which he or she passed as also the year when, and the College (if any) from which he or she passed such examination.

(6) Whether he or she actually resides in the Presidency of Bengal.

(7) If he or she is also qualified for the franchise in Dacca University constituency, it should be stated in which constituency he or she wishes to be registered. An elector cannot be enrolled in more than one University constituency.

The franchise is restricted to qualified graduates (including women graduates) who are ordinarily resident in the Presidency of Bengal, in the sense that they are identified with it by actual residence during the greater portion of the year.

Applications made and substantiated at this stage will save the elector from the trouble of appearing before the Revising Officer in more formal proceedings after draft publication.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. H. KEMM,

Additional Deputy Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

WRITERS' BUILDINGS,

CALCUTTA, the 16th March 1929.

N. B.—The name as written in the Diploma should be stated. If any change has been made in the name or surname of a qualified graduate with the sanction of the Syndicate the date of order for such change should be stated.

For facility of addressing women graduates they are requested to state the proper term of address—Miss or Mrs.—which is to be prefixed to their names.

Graduates whose names were registered in the electoral rolls for 1920, 1923 and 1926 are required to renew the registration of their names for 1929.

Orders by the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate of the Calcutta University.

Senate House, the 8th March 1929.

Bills introduced in the Council of State and Legislative Assembly, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council and Assembly and Bills published under Rule 18 of the Indian Legislative Rules.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of State on the 12th February, 1929:—

C. OF S. BILL NO. 1 OF 1929.

A Bill further to amend the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— III of 1909

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Presidency-towns Insolvency (Amendment) Act, 1929.

Amendment of section 69, Act III of 1909. 2. In sub-section (2) of section 69 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, for the words "six months" the words "one year" shall be substituted. III of 1909

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Sub-section (2) of section 69 of the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909 (III of 1909), requires the Official Assignee to declare and distribute the first dividend (if any) within six months after the adjudication, unless he satisfies the Court that there is sufficient reason for postponing the declaration to a later date. This provision has proved in practice to be unworkable in Madras, and the Local Government proposed to introduce a Bill in the local Legislative Council to amend the section so as to extend the period from six months to one year. As, however, the difficulty is not confined to Madras, it is considered desirable, in the interests of uniformity, to undertake central legislation to give effect to the proposal. The Bill is, therefore, brought forward with the concurrence of the Local Governments concerned

B. L. MITTER.

The 1st February, 1929.

L. GRAHAM,
Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 31st January, 1929:—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BILL No. 1 OF 1929.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, in matters hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— V of 1898.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 192 .

Amendment of section 205, Act V of 1898.

2. In section 205 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (hereinafter referred to as the said Code), for the word "summons" the word "process" shall be substituted. V of 1898.

Amendment of section 540A, Act V of 1898. — Provision for inquiries and trial being held in the absence of accused in certain cases.

3. For section 540A of the said Code the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"540A. (1) In any inquiry or trial under this Code, whenever any Judge or Magistrate is satisfied for reasons to be recorded that any accused person can or need not attend or is incapable of remaining before the Court, he may, if such accused is represented by a pleader, dispense with his personal attendance and proceed with such inquiry or trial in his absence and may, at any subsequent stage of the proceedings, direct the personal attendance of the accused.

(2) If the accused in any such case is not represented by a pleader or if the Judge or Magistrate considers his personal attendance necessary, he shall either adjourn such inquiry or trial or order in cases when there are more than one accused that the case of such accused be proceeded with or tried separately."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In the present state of the law in cases in which summonses are not issued in the first instance neither disease nor old age nor any other compulsion can exempt the accused from personal appearance at the hearing. There is no good reason why in cases in which there are very good reasons for such exemptions being granted law should insist for personal attendance of the accused on account of the accident of a process other than summons having been issued in the first instance. Such a distinction is unnecessary, arbitrary and causes hardship and delay in many cases and the present Bill is intended to remedy this grievance.

The second clause of the Bill seeks to substitute the word "process" for "summons" and to enlarge the scope of cases wherein discretion dispensing with the presence of the accused is exercisable.

The third clause seeks to amend the law by making the principle applicable to cases where there are one or more accused instead of cases where there are more than two accused.

The present section 540A could only apply if the accused whose absence was to be condoned was present before the Court and became incapable of remaining before the Court. It is contended that the utility of the present provision was very limited and in practice the present provision is neither helpful to the speedy disposal of cases or to the convenience of the accused. The amendment enlarges the scope of discretion and makes it applicable to cases when the accused is unable to attend Court or need not attend Court for good reasons and the Court can in its discretion proceed with the case.

S. C. GUPTA,
Secretary of the Legislative Assembly.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

Legislative Assembly Department.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 31st January, 1929:—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY BILL No. 2 OF 1929.

A Bill further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:— V of 1898.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 192 .

Amendment of section 552, Act V of 1898.

2. For section 552 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (hereinafter referred to as the said Code), the following section shall be substituted, namely:— V of 1898.

Power to compel restoration of abducted persons.

"552. Whenever a complaint is made to a District Magistrate, Presidency Magistrate or Sub-Divisional Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class specially empowered in this behalf, in respect of the abduction or unlawful detention of any person or of a child under the age of eighteen years, he may order that such person or child, as the case may be, be brought before himself and compel compliance of such order using such force as may be necessary.

After examining the person or the child so brought or any other person, if necessary, he may make an order restoring the person so brought to liberty and the child so brought to the care of the parents, husband, guardian or other person legally entitled to the guardianship of the child.

In the absence of any such person referred to above or on the failure of such person taking or consenting to take the child, the Court may commit the child to the care of a suitable person or society, or society for the protection of orphans and children, with due regard to the religious and general welfare of the child, provided such person or society executes a bond for such amount as the Court thinks necessary to fix, undertaking to produce such child whenever summoned by any Court till the attainment of majority of the child."

Insertion of a new section 552-A in Act V of 1898.

3. After section 552 of the said Code, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Custody of a child concerned in a criminal case.

"552-A. Whenever during any proceedings under this Code or otherwise any Magistrate exercises jurisdiction in any case in which any child under the age of eighteen years is concerned as a witness, accused or otherwise and whenever any child is brought before any Magistrate, he may make an ad interim or final order for the proper custody of the child with due regard to the religious and general welfare of such child and may, among other orders, make, in the absence of persons entitled to the guardianship of such child or on the failure of such person taking or consenting to take care of such child, an order committing the child to the care of any suitable person or society or society for the protection of orphans or children provided such person or society executes a bond in such amount as the Court deems fit to order undertaking to produce such child whenever summoned by any Court till the attainment of majority."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The present section 552 was enacted to provide protection for women and female children of tender age from unlawful detention and subsequent safe custody for female children whose guardians were alive. This provision is satisfactory so far as it goes. But it is clearly incomplete. It does not contemplate the cases of orphans of either sex who have no guardians nor does it provide for cases in which minors come before Courts in ways other than rescue from unlawful detention.

Many orphanage societies exist in the country whose object is the protection of orphans and waifs and foundlings; there is no reason why the Courts should not take advantage of the existence of such societies for the protection of children.

At present there is no provision in the Criminal Procedure Code to meet such contingencies as are mentioned above. The Bill intends to make the provision relating to minors more comprehensive and complete. No special explanation of the clauses is necessary.

J. C. ROY, for Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Monthly Weather and Crop Report of Bengal for February 1929.

I. Character of the season.—During the month under review, the rainfall was much in defect of the normal throughout the Presidency except only in the district of Bankura where it was slightly in excess. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—Preparatory tillage for jute and other autumn crops was progressing slowly for want of adequate rain. Reaping of early spring crops was nearly finished and that of late varieties was going on under favourable conditions.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of standing crops was on the whole fair.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—A fair outturn of spring oilseed and wheat crops is expected. The prospects of other standing crops were not promising on account of continued drought.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Continued dry weather was causing damage to standing crops in some districts.

VI. Condition of agricultural stock.—The condition of livestock was reported to be generally fair. Stray cases of cattle-disease were, however, reported from about five districts of the province and from the Tripura State.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—No insufficiency of fodder was reported from any part of the province.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month, the price of common rice of the cheapest quality rose in two districts, fell in thirteen and remained stationary in the rest of the Presidency. The prices ranged from 5¼ seers per rupee in the 24-Parganas to 9 seers per rupee in the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

IX. Condition of agricultural population.—The condition of agricultural population was, on the whole, fair.

3. The work on the Damodar Canal Project, which has been designed to irrigate about 200,000 acres of land in the Burdwan and Hooghly districts, was commenced during the previous year. The total capital expenditure to the end of the year 1927-28 amounted to Rs 8,13,845 against the estimated cost of Rs. 78,14,981. The capital expenditure of Rs. 4,40,360 during the year was mostly incurred on land acquisition, construction of the weir across the river and excavation of the canal.

4. The work on the Bakreswar Irrigation Scheme in the Birbhum district was started during the year. The total estimated cost of the project is Rs. 4,90,596. The capital expenditure amounting to Rs. 14,653 was mostly incurred on the excavation of a portion of the canal. The scheme, when completed, will irrigate 10,000 acres of paddy in an area subject to scarcity.

5. No capital expenditure was incurred during the year on the Midnapore Canal, which consists of two weirs at Midnapore and Panskura, 69·75 miles of main and branch canals used for irrigation and navigation, and 284·97 miles of distributaries. The area irrigated was 78,960 acres as against 74,032 acres in the previous year, and an average of 75,322 acres for the triennium ending March 1927. The receipts and working expenses were Rs. 2,93,161 and Rs. 2,02,245, respectively, the result being a net revenue of Rs 90,916 against Rs. 25,805 in the previous year. The increased revenue is due to enhancement of water rates of leases renewed during the year and also a decrease in working expenses.

6. The Grand Trunk Canal Project.—The project was held in abeyance during the year. The question of this canal is under review in view of the rapid deterioration of the rivers in the western Sunderbans.

7. No capital expenditure was incurred during the year on the Hijili Tidal Canal, which, with the Terapakia Pass khal, Palaboni khal and the khal leading to the Gewankhali lock entrance, constitutes a navigation canal of 49¾ miles in length. The receipts and working expenses of the canal amounted to Rs. 47,911 and Rs. 50,287, respectively, the result being a deficit of Rs. 2,376. The fall in revenue is due to the closure of the Terapakia and Bhaitgarh locks and to the floods of 1926, which destroyed a large area of crops.

8. The Calcutta and Eastern Canals form a series of natural and artificial navigation channels extending for 834 miles for the purpose of maintaining communication between Calcutta and Eastern Bengal. No capital expenditure was incurred on this system of canals during the year. The receipts and working expenses were Rs 4,63,254 and Rs. 5,81,618, respectively, the result being a deficit of Rs. 1,18,364 as against Rs. 2,37,596 in the preceding year. The improvement is chiefly due to decrease in expenditure on maintenance and repairs of the canals. The Sunderbans Steamer Route is being treated as a separate project from the Calcutta and Eastern Canals from the year 1924-25. The capital expenditure on this route is shewn as (minus) 37,464, which represents the receipts on capital account, on account of hire of dredgers. The receipts and working expenses amounted to Rs. 62,258 and Rs. 1,76,725, the result being a deficit of Rs. 1,14,467 against a deficit of Rs. 54,912 in the previous year. The comparatively large deficit is due to the heavy working expenses for thorough repairs to the dredger Foyers attached to this route, and dredging shoals in the Gabkhan Bharani Khal.

9. On the Madaripur Bhil Route, which connects the Madhumati and Kumar rivers in the Faridpur district, a capital outlay of Rs. 1,94,867 (direct only) was incurred mainly on the construction of locks and sluices on the Lower Kumar river and a flood embankment from Jalirpar to Khalia. The flood embankment was completed, but the works on the locks and sluices were in progress.

The receipts and working expenses were Rs. 2,74,336 and Rs. 7,40,857, respectively, the result being a deficit of Rs. 4,66,521 against a net revenue of Rs. 60,223 in the preceding year. The very large deficit is mainly due to the fall of revenue and increase in the working expenses The fall of revenue was also due to the suspension of steamer traffic for seven months during the year on account of bad shoaling in the Lower Kumar river, to remove which unusually heavy dredging had to be done.

10. The Orissa Coast Canal in the Midnapore district is a navigation canal lying partly in the Bengal Presidency and partly in the province of Behar and Orissa. The receipts and working expenses for the portion within Bengal were respectively Rs. 20,670 and Rs. 36,799, the result being a deficit of Rs. 16,129 against a net revenue of Rs. 8,719 in the preceding year. The decrease in receipts and increase in working expenses on account of special repairs to the Bhaitgarh lock and the floods of 1926 account for this deficit.

11. The Nadia Rivers having been thrown open to free navigation with effect from the 1st September 1923, there were no navigation receipts from these rivers during the year. The maintenance charges amounted to Rs. 51,252 against Rs. 47,614 in the preceding year. The increase was due to the increased expenditure on bandalling works done at the Kaliganj entrance of the Bhagirathi river to improve the condition of the entrance channel.

12. The Gaighatta and Buxi Khal is a short channel connecting the rivers Damodar and Rupnarain in the Howrah district The khal was leased out for six years from 15th June 1921 at a rental of Rs. 2,000, on the condition that the lessees maintain the khal in good condition subject to the control of the Irrigation Department. The lease has been renewed for a period of another three years from 1927-28 at a rental of Rs. 4,110.

13. The Eden Canal in the districts of Burdwan and Hooghly was originally constructed for sanitary purposes, but it is now used for irrigation also. At present the supply of water in the canal is precarious owing to the absence of a weir in the river Damodar. This state of things will improve when the Damodar Canal, which is now under construction, is completed. The area irrigated from the canal was 23,283 acres against 21,560 acres in the previous year. The receipts and working expenses were Rs. 50,864 and Rs. 87,217, respectively, against Rs. 43,282 and Rs. 77,332 in the previous year.

14. Training Works.—The conservancy operations in the river Ganges from Rajmahal to Goalundo continued to be carried out by the steamer companies on behalf of this department. Training and bandalling works were also carried out in the rivers Bhagirathi, Nabaganga and Dhalleswari as usual.

15. Flushing and Drainage Works.—The Amirabad Drainage project, in the Contai subdivision of the Midnapore district was practically completed and four other drainage schemes in the same district viz , Panipia, Dhunia, Barunda and Hijili schemes were under consideration, but no decision was arrived at in regard to them. The Soadighi and Gangakhali project in the same district was sanctioned and the execution of the work under Act VI of 1920 approved by Government.

The work in connection with the flushing of the Gobra Nala in the Murshidabad district and of the Bhairab river in the Meherpore subdivision of the Nadia district were in progress during the year. The former work was nearing completion. The Nowi portion of the Nowi-Sunthi project in the district of 24-Parganas was completed.

With a view to evolve flushing and drainage schemes, surveys and investigations were made into the following cases: Moragagni and Gurguria khals in the Nadia district, Datbhanga and other bhils in the 24 Parganas district, Pabla bhil, Bemorta khal and Satkhira khal in the Khulna district, Jaleswar bhil in the Jessore district, Chandana river in the Faridpur district and waterways in the Manikganj subdivision of the Dacca district.

16. Irrigation works in Western Bengal and Northern Bengal.—In the Birbhum district the Kashianala scheme was practically completed and the sluice was brought into operation. An extension of this scheme at an estimated cost of Rs. 27,716 was also approved and transmitted to the Collector for action under Act VI of 1920. Another irrigation scheme in the same district, called the Bamnigram scheme, which will irrigate about 1,700 acres of land, was also approved and sent to the Collector for execution under Act VI of 1920.

In the Bankura district the reconstruction of the Amjhore weir was practically completed. The Berai Irrigation scheme, designed to irrigate about 9,000 acres of paddy land, was sanctioned at an estimated cost of Rs. 5,41,193, but the work could not be taken up for want of funds.

In the Burdwan district surveys were made in connection with the Satkahonia Irrigation scheme and for the construction of a distributary from Chautpore to Joteram. The Satkahonia scheme has since been administratively approved at an estimated cost of Rs 4,40,183. The canal will irrigate 12 to 15,000 acres of paddy.

In the Malda district, the Boalia Bhil scheme has been approved and sent to the Collector for action under Act VI of 1920. Several other projects are in hand for storing water for irrigation or for distributing silt-laden water where stagnation prevails.

Besides those mentioned, detailed surveys were made and are still being made of the more promising schemes in the Bankura, Birbhum and Midnapore districts, the object being to extend irrigation from the streams which traverse the undulating area in Western Bengal more liable to famine than other parts of the province. Some of these schemes, when matured, will be carried out as Government schemes under the Irrigation Act and others will be undertaken under the provisions of the Bengal Agricultural and Sanitary Improvement Act, VI of 1920.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and a copy thereof and of its accompaniment be submitted to the Government of India in the Department of Industries and Labour (Public Works Branch) and circulated to all departments and officers of this Government, as usual.

Such application shall be verified in the same manner as a plaint under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and shall contain the names and addresses of all the remaining co-sharer landlords including the persons named as landlords in the notice mentioned in rule 26, and the share of each. It shall also be accompanied by notices in Form No. 7, appended to these rules, to be served by the Collector on each such co-sharer or person.

(5) If it appears to the Collector that there is a dispute or if the applicant be a person not named in the notices under rule 26 and the co-sharers are not agreeable to take payment on joint receipt, no payment shall be made unless the party has obtained a necessary decree or order from the Civil Court.

(6) An application under sub-rule (2) may include two or more items of transfer fee, provided the applicant claims the same share under the same interest and title, and no separate process fee will be charged when the other co-sharers are the same.

(8) Payment of transfer fee under this rule shall, unless it is taken direct from the Treasury, be made by postal money order to the landlord or his common agent or common manager, if any, except when it is payable to Government, or to a Trust estate under the management of the Board of Revenue or to an estate under the Court of Wards, in respect of which a personal ledger is maintained or to a landlord in respect of whom a personal ledger account has been opened under rule 29B.

29B. (1) A personal ledger may be opened in respect of the transfer fees payable to the landlord of any estate or tenure or part thereof, if the sole landlord or all the co-sharer landlords of the estate, tenure or part thereof, as the case may be, apply to the Collector for such a ledger; provided that in the case of co-sharer landlords their shares in the estate, tenure or part thereof in respect of which the application is made are uniform. Provided also that if the landlord is a proprietor of a revenue paying estate or revenue free property his name is duly recorded in the Land Registration Registers of the Collectorate. There cannot be one personal ledger for them for both villages P and Q; but there may be one ledger for village P and another for village Q.

(2) Every such application shall be verified as a plaint under the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, and shall give a brief description of the estate or tenure or part thereof as the case may be, the names of the villages, the thanas in which they are situated, and where a record-of-rights has been prepared, the serial number of the khatian in which it is recorded. (4) A landlord on whose application a personal ledger has been opened may apply to the Collector for the payment of the amount at his credit in the ledger, and the Collector shall, unless there be any dispute, pay the amount accordingly.

(5) Every application under sub-rule (4) shall state whether there has been any change in the landlords, and, if so, the particulars of such change, and it shall be verified in the same manner as a plaint under the Civil Procedure Code, 1908.

(6) An application under sub-rule (4) by a co-sharer landlord for separate payment for his share, will be treated as an application under the first proviso to section 260 (3) of the Act; but unless owing to the existence of any dispute or similar reasons, the Collector directs otherwise, the provisions of rule 29 shall not apply and it shall not be necessary to issue notices on the other co-sharer landlords.

(7) For the maintenance of a personal ledger under this rule an annual fee for each separate account on the following scale shall be levied:

When the revenue or rent of the entire estate or tenure does not exceed Rs. 100, Rs. 10.

In all other cases, Rs. 25.

(8) A personal ledger opened under this rule shall be discontinued when the landlord or a co-sharer landlord intimates his unwillingness to continue it. The Collector may also refuse to renew a personal ledger if the annual fee prescribed in sub-rule (7) be not paid, or if it appears to him that owing to disputes and similar reasons it is not desirable to maintain such a ledger. The year for personal ledger is from 1st April to 31st March and fees are payable in advance.

29C. (1) In cases where the transfer fee is remitted by postal money order but the payee has refused to accept payment thereof, and in all other cases except where the amount has been credited in the treasury accounts or in a personal ledger under rule 29A or 29B or has been otherwise paid, the amount or the balance of such amount, as the case may be, shall be kept in deposit for a period of 5 years from the date of the service of the notice mentioned in rule 26. When transfer fee is to be kept in deposit and when forfeited.

(2) On the expiry of such period the Collector of the district or such other officer not below the rank of a Sub-Deputy Collector as may have been placed by the Collector in charge of cases relating to transfer fees, shall declare that the transfer fee remaining in deposit in the Collector's office, regarding which no application for payment is pending shall be forfeited to Government.

46. (1) Applications under section 101 (2) (a) and under section 103 of the Act shall be made to the Collector, who shall forward them with his recommendations through the Director of Land Records to the Commissioner.

(2) Every application under section 101 (2) (a) shall specify—

(b) the local area, estate, tenure or part thereof for which the application is made;
(c) the interest of the applicant in the lands of the local area, estate, tenure or part thereof.

(3) Every application under section 103 shall specify—

(a) the status of the applicant, viz., whether he is a proprietor or a tenure-holder or a raiyat;

(b) the particulars specified in section 102 of the Act, in respect of which the application is made; and

(c) the number of tenants occupying the estate or tenure or part thereof, in respect of which the application is made, the total rent payable by them at the time, and the estimated area covered by the application (so far as the applicant is able to give these particulars).

(4) If the application under section 101 (2) (a) or under section 103 of the Act, is made by a proprietor, it shall not be admitted unless the name of the applicant and the extent of his interest are registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876.

Ben. Act VII of 1876.

(5) If the application under section 103 is made by a tenure-holder, it shall not be admitted unless the right of the tenure-holder and the extent of his interest is admitted by the superior landlord or is proved to the satisfaction of the Collector.

(6) The Commissioner shall forward an application under section 101 (2) (a) with his recommendation to the Local Government for orders.

(8) When an application under section 101 (2) (a) or section 103 of the Act is allowed, the Collector shall call upon the applicant to deposit one rupee per acre of the estimated extent of the estate or tenure or part thereof in respect of which the application has been allowed.

(9) If the amount so deposited proves more than sufficient to cover the cost of the proceedings, the unexpended balance will be refunded on their termination. If the amount deposited proves insufficient to cover such cost, the applicant shall, when required by the Collector, deposit from time to time such further sums as the Collector may think necessary for the completion of the proceedings. If he shall fail to do so, the proceedings may be stopped and the order allowing the application cancelled.

Procedure for making survey and preparing record-of-rights.

47. (1) When an order has been made under section 101 (1) or section 101 (2) of the Act directing that a survey shall be made and a record-of-rights prepared by a Revenue Officer in respect of the lands of any local area, estate or tenure or part thereof, the survey shall be made and the record-of-rights prepared in the manner described in the following rules (in this Part and in Part III of this Chapter) and by the following processes, namely:—

(i) Traverse survey.

(ii) Cadastral survey.

(iii) Erection of boundary marks.

(iv) Preliminary record-writing (or khanapuri).

(v) Local explanation (or bujharat).

(vi) Attestation.

(vii) Publication of the draft record.

(viii) Disposal of objections under section 103A.

(ix) Preparation of the settlement rent-roll, in cases in which a settlement of revenue is being or is about to be made.

(x) Preparation of the final record.

(xi) Publication of the final record.

(xii) Distribution of the final record and of printed maps; and recovery of costs where ordered under section 114.

(xiii) Settlement of fair rents under sections 105 and 105A.

(xiv) Trial of suits under section 106:

Provided that stage (v)—local explanation—may be omitted with the approval of the Director of Land Records.

(2) A Revenue Officer who has been appointed with the additional designation of "Settlement Officer" may, at any time before the publication of the final record, direct that any portion of the proceedings in respect of the lands of any local area, estate or tenure or part thereof, shall be cancelled and that the proceedings shall be carried out de novo from such stage as he may direct.

(3) When an order has been made under section 103 directing that all or any of the particulars specified in section 102 shall be ascertained and recorded with respect to any estate or tenure or part thereof, the Revenue Officer shall proceed in accordance with the following rules (in this Part and in Part III of this Chapter), so far as they may be applicable.

48. Traverse Survey.—The cadastral survey of the notified area shall be based upon a traverse survey, and such traverse shall ordinarily be carried out by theodolite observations. If possible, the traverse survey shall be connected with one or more points which have been fixed by previous surveys.

49. Cadastral Survey.—(1) In the course of proceedings under section 101 of the Act, a large-scale map showing roads, rivers, railways and other physical features of the country, as well as homesteads and other fields, shall be prepared for each village contemplated by section 115A of the Act as the unit of survey and record.

(2) When the area contained within the external boundaries of the village maps of the previous survey contemplated by section 115A is unsuitable as the unit of survey and record, or, if there has been no such previous survey, the Settlement Officer shall, after ascertaining, as far as possible, the opinions of the landlords and tenants concerned, submit his proposals for the determination of the area to be adopted as the unit of record and survey to the Board of Revenue through the controlling officers to whom he is subordinate. That unit shall, if sanctioned by the Board of Revenue, be adopted in framing the record-of-rights, but shall not be deemed to constitute a village within the meaning of the Act until a notification has been issued under section 3 (19) (b). The Board of Revenue shall submit a copy of its order in each case to the Local Government for the issue of the notification.

50. Erection of Boundary Marks.—Boundary marks of a permanent nature shall ordinarily be erected at every point where the boundaries of three villages meet, and may also be erected at any other points where this is necessary, in the opinion of the Revenue Officer, for the definition of any boundary.

51. Preliminary Record-writing.—At this and the two following stages the draft record shall be prepared. The draft record shall consist of statements of rights which are hereinafter styled the khatians. There shall ordinarily be a separate khatian for each person interested, or each group of persons jointly interested, in the land, whether as proprietor, tenure-holder, raiyat, under-raiyat or occupant, and each khatian shall show the rights and liabilities of each person or group of persons according to the particulars which have been specified in the notification under section 101. At this stage all such particulars shall find entry, with the exception that no entry shall be made as to the revenue, rent or cess, the class to which the tenant belongs, or the special conditions and incidents of the tenancy. At this stage there shall also be prepared a field-index or khasra arranged according to the serial numbers of the fields in the village. This field-index shall not form part of the draft record. Disputes regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by a Revenue Officer or a kanungo in a summary manner and on the basis of actual possession.

52. Local Explanation.—When the areas of the fields have been extracted and entered in the preliminary record, a copy of each khatian shall be made over by a Revenue Officer or a kanungo to the person or body of joint persons in whose names the khatian has been opened, or to their representatives. Each khatian shall then be examined on the ground, with reference to the village map, by a Revenue Officer or a kanungo, and shall be explained to the person or persons concerned, or their representatives, if present. The Revenue Officer or kanungo shall make such corrections as are necessary in the map, in the draft record, and in the copies of the khatians which have been distributed, if they can be produced for this purpose. At this stage entries of the rent which is payable according to the statement of the landlord and according to the statement of the tenant shall be made in the draft khatians of the tenants and in such copies as are produced; but the other particulars which were omitted at the stage of preliminary record-writing shall be deferred until the stage of attestation.

53. Attestation.—This stage of the operations shall be taken up after the landlords and tenants have been allowed a sufficient interval to study their copies of the khatians. The attestation of each village shall be taken up at a convenient place in or near the village. Before attestation begins, a proclamation shall be published in the village giving due notice to the landlords and tenants and calling on them to appear before the Revenue Officer on the date fixed, bringing with them their copies of the khatians. As each person appears before him the Revenue Officer shall examine his khatian, read out all the important entries, make corrections where required, and see that the khatian is complete in all particulars. Disputes regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by the Revenue Officer in a summary manner and on the basis of actual possession. In the khatian of each proprietor or group of proprietors he shall enter with his own hand the revenue payable to Government. In the khatian of each tenant or group of tenants he shall enter with his own hand the class to which the tenant or group of tenants belongs, the special conditions and incidents (if any) of the tenancy and the rent lawfully payable or deliverable to each landlord or group of landlords. In the khatian of each cultivating raiyat as defined in the Cess Act, the Revenue Officer shall, and in the khatian of each tenure-holder as defined therein, the Revenue Officer shall, as far as possible, record the cess lawfully payable to each landlord or group of landlords. The Revenue Officer shall then sign and date the office copy of the khatian, and if the copy of the khatian, which was given to the person or persons concerned, is produced, the Revenue Officer shall see that it corresponds with the office copy as attested. When the Revenue Officer has completed the attestation of all the khatians of a village, he shall draw up a formal proceeding to this effect. Ben. Act IX of 1880.

54. Publication of the Draft Record.—The Revenue Officer shall publish the draft record-of-rights by placing it for public inspection, free of charge, during a period of not less than one month, at such convenient place as he may determine. A proclamation shall previously be published in each village, informing the landlords and tenants of the place at which the draft record of that village will be open to public inspection, the period during which it will be open to such inspection, and the last date on which objections may be filed. Notwithstanding anything contained in the proclamation, the Revenue Officer may extend the period during which the draft record will be open to inspection and during which objections may be filed.

55. Objections under section 103A.—(1) Blank forms of objection shall be supplied free of charge and objections shall, as far as practicable, be made on such forms. Along with the original objection, the objector shall file a copy or copies for service on all other persons who, in the opinion of the Revenue Officer, are materially interested in the case. The Revenue Officer shall issue notices informing the objector and all other persons so interested of the date and place fixed for the hearing of the objection, and with each notice to a person other than the objector he shall forward a copy of the objection. Objections regarding the ownership of land, or the ownership of any interest in land, shall be decided by the Revenue Officer on the basis of actual possession. The record shall contain the names of the witnesses examined and an abstract of the reasons for the decision. When a Revenue Officer directs that a change shall be made in the rent recorded as payable by any tenant he shall direct that a corresponding change shall be made in the cess, if any recorded as payable by such tenant. Objections shall not be disposed of in the absence of any of the parties materially interested, or their representatives, unless the Revenue Officer be satisfied, for reasons to be recorded in writing, that the notice was duly served on the person concerned.

(2) Whenever the Revenue Officer has been unable, before the publication of the draft record, to enter the cess payable by all or any of the tenure-holders in any local area, and whenever, owing to a revaluation duly made after the publication of the draft record, there have been changes in the cess lawfully payable by all or any of the tenure-holders in such local area, the Collector may, at any time before the final publication of the record, make an objection to the omissions or entries in question, and the Revenue Officer shall thereupon proceed, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (1) of this rule, to consider the objection, and, if necessary, to make in the draft record of such local area entries or revised entries of the cess which is then lawfully payable by each tenure-holder concerned:

Provided that no such entry or revised entry shall be made unless the tenure-holder has been previously informed of the proposed entry and has been given an opportunity of objecting thereto.

56. Preparation of a settlement rent-roll.—Where land revenue is being, or is about to be, settled, the Revenue Officer shall prepare a rent-roll for each village, in accordance with the following procedure:—

(i) Before preparing the rent-roll the Revenue Officer shall issue a proclamation informing the landlords and tenants of the time and place at which the preparation of the rent-roll will begin. If any tenant be absent, the Revenue Officer shall make no entry in the rent-roll which would have the effect of altering the rent of that tenant until a special notice has been duly served on that tenant.

(ii) When the Revenue Officer is preparing the settlement rent-roll on the basis of a table of rates, he shall consult the landlord and tenants of the village regarding their own classification of the lands therein and regarding the relative capability of each class of land, according to that classification. When specifying in the table of rates the rate of rent which is fairly and equitably payable in respect of each class of land, the Revenue Officer shall specify and have regard to the rate of rent which is now being paid in respect of each class of land, and shall also have regard to the statements of the landlords and tenants as to the classification and relative capability of lands. Before settling any rent upon the application of the table of rates, the Revenue Officer shall consider the circumstances of the tenant and shall compare the total rent which he is now paying with the rent which he would pay according to the table of rates. He shall also consider whether the land held by the tenant is good or bad land of its class.

(iii) When determining the final entries to be made in the rent-roll, the Revenue Officer shall read out, or cause to be read out in his presence, the principal entries relating to the holding and rent of each tenant whose rent is to be settled, and shall enter in the rent-roll with his own hand the fair rent settled for each such tenant.

(iv) The Revenue Officer shall enter in the settlement rent-roll the cess which is payable by each tenant to his landlord after the determination of the fair rent.

(v) The publication of the draft table of rates, if any, and of the draft settlement rent-roll shall be carried out in the manner and for the period prescribed in the case of the publication of the draft record-of-rights.

(vi) Objections under section 104B (3) or under section 104E of the Act shall ordinarily be disposed of by the Revenue Officer, in or near the village in which the land is situated. The Revenue Officer shall record his reasons for each order on an objection. Appeals will lie against these orders to the superior Revenue authority mentioned in rule 45.

57. Preparation of the Final Record.—When all objections under section 103A of the Act have been disposed of, and when the settlement rent-roll, if any, has been prepared, sanctioned and incorporated with the record, and when the draft record has been corrected in accordance with the original and appellate orders on all objections, the Revenue Officer shall proceed to frame the final record. The final record shall be prepared in conformity with the draft record corrected as above, and shall consist of a series of khatians prepared on forms which are generally similar to the forms used for the khatians of the draft record. The khasra shall not form part of the final record. The final record shall be printed or prepared in manuscript, according as the Local Government may, by general or special order, determine.

58. Publication of the Final Record.—The Revenue Officer shall publish the final record-of-rights by placing it for public inspection free of charge, during a period of not less than one month, at such convenient place as he may determine. A proclamation shall previously be published in each village, informing the landlords and tenants of the place at which the final record of that village will be open to public inspection and the period during which it will be open to such inspection.

59. Distribution of printed maps and of copies of the Final Record.—The maps which have been prepared under rule 49 (1) may be printed under the authority of the Local Government, and may be distributed to public officers, to landlords and tenants and to others, in such manner as the Local Government may, from time to time, by general or special order, direct. Copies of the final record-of-rights, or of portions thereof, shall be printed or prepared in manuscript and shall, after certification under section 76 of the Indian Evidence Act, be distributed to public officers, to landlords and tenants and to others, in such manner as the Local Government may, from time to time, by general or special order, direct. The printed maps and the copies of the record or of portions thereof, which are distributed under this rule to persons other than public officers shall be distributed free or on payment, according as, in the case of each local area, the Local Government may direct. When payment is required the sums so received shall ordinarily be adjusted against the expenses incurred on account of survey and settlement, should the account of those expenses still be open. I of 1872.

Part III.—Procedure After Final Publication.

SETTLEMENT OF FAIR RENTS UNDER SECTIONS 105 AND 105A.

60. (1) When the landlord or tenant applies for the settlement of a fair rent, he shall be considered as plaintiff and the opposite party as defendant. The proceedings shall be dealt with as suits and, subject to the directions contained in this rule, the Revenue Officer shall adopt, as far as it is applicable, the procedure laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the trial of suits.

(2) When the estate or tenure is managed by the Court of Wards or by a manager appointed by the District Judge under section 95 of the Act and a settlement of revenue is not being or is not about to be made, the procedure laid down in this rule for recording and settling rents shall be followed, the manager of the estate or the tenure being regarded as the landlord.

(3) When a landlord or tenant applies for the settlement of fair rent notice shall be served on every person interested in the application, together with a copy of the application, or extract therefrom, or summary thereof, so far as the application concerns such persons.

(4) With the consent of the Revenue Officer, any number of tenants occupying land under the same landlord in the same village may make a joint application for the settlement of rent, or may be joined as defendants in the same proceedings on a similar application by the landlord:

Provided that, if at any time it appears to the Revenue Officer that the question between any two of the parties, of whom one is so joined with others, cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, he may order a separate trial to be held of that question, or he may pass such order, in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the joint or separate disposal of the application, as he may think fit.

(5) On the date fixed for the settlement of fair rents, or any subsequent date to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the Revenue Officer shall read aloud, or cause to be read aloud in his presence, the name of each tenant whose rent has to be settled, the area of his tenancy, and the existing rent, and shall then proceed to settle a fair rent under the provisions of section 105 of the Act.

(6) When a landlord or tenant does not attend, after due service of notice has been proved, the procedure may be ex parte.

(7) Where a landlord or a tenant appears and the fair rent is not settled under sub-section (5) or sub-section (6) of section 105 of the Act, that is, by the acceptance by the parties of a rent proposed by the Revenue Officer, or by compromise, the Revenue Officer shall record evidence in the manner prescribed in clause (f) of section 148 of the Act for the trial of rent suits, and shall settle a fair and equitable rent according to law:

Provided that in important cases the Revenue Officer may, in his discretion, record evidence at length.

(8) When a fair rent has been settled under these rules, it shall be entered in the khatian as the rent payable in respect of the tenancy from the date prescribed by section 110 of the Act.

(9) It shall not be necessary for a Revenue Officer to draw up a separate decree with regard to the fair rent settled; but the entry made in his decision or schedule attached thereto with regard to the fair rent settled shall be held to be a decree.

(10) A proceeding under section 105A of the Act shall be considered as part of the proceeding under section 105 in which the issue arose, and the record of a proceeding under section 105A shall be considered as part of the record of the proceeding under section 105. In trying and deciding issues under section 105A, the Revenue Officer shall record evidence in the manner prescribed in sub-rule (7) of this rule.

61. Suits under section 106.—Proceedings under section 106 of the Act shall be dealt with in all respects as suits between the parties.

62. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, the procedure prescribed in clause (l) of section 148 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as being applicable to suits for the recovery of rent, shall be applicable mutatis mutandis to proceedings, under sections 105, 105A or 106 of that Act.

Rules under Order XXVI, rule 9, of the Civil Procedure Code, not to apply to proceedings under section, 105, 105A or 106 of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

63. The rules issued by the Local Government under Order XXVI, rule 9, of the Civil Procedure Code, 1908, shall not apply to proceedings in the Court of a Revenue Officer under sections 105, 105A or 106 of the Act.

Applications under section 115B by whom to be dealt with.

64. Applications under section 115B of the Act for the correction of bonâ fide mistakes must be dealt with by a Revenue Officer specially empowered by the Local Government. If they are presented to a Revenue Officer not specially empowered under that section, he shall receive them and forward them with his report to the Revenue Officer so empowered. The court-fee payable on every such application is twelve annas.

CHAPTER VIII.

General Scale of Fees.

65. Service of notices.—(1) For the service of every notice under this Act, not being a notice issued by any Revenue or Civil Court [fees for serving which are regulated by the Court-fees Act, 1870 (VII of 1870)], and not being provided for any other rule made under this Act, a process fee of 12 annas shall be levied, if the notice be directed to one or more persons residing in the same village.

(2) Where such notices are directed to several persons resident in different villages, a fee of 12 annas shall be levied for service in each village.

(3) In addition to the above fee, the actual charge which must be incurred if it is necessary to travel by railway or boat, or to cross ferries, shall be levied from and paid by the person at whose instance the process is issued before issue of the process. If a peon carries more than one process involving charges for railway fare, boat hire, etc., the sum leviable shall be charged in equal shares upon all the processes so carried. The rate at which such boat hire is to be charged shall be the same as those fixed for criminal processes under rule VII of the Rules prescribed by the High Court under clause (ii) of section 20 of Act VII of 1870, and shall be sufficient only to cover, on the whole, the actual cost of hiring boats, or of such boat establishment as it may be necessary to maintain for the purpose of serving processes of this nature.

(4) If a peon is detained at the place of service for more than 24 hours at the request of the person at whose instance the process was issued, or of his agent, such person or agent shall then and there pay demurrage at the rate of 5 annas a day and obtain a receipt from the peon. Unless this demurrage is paid, the peon shall decline to wait. No demurrage shall be charged if the delay was not due to the person requiring the process or to his agent.

66. For the cost of transmission of money deposited in cases (a) and (b) of section 61 referred to in section 63 (l) of the Act, the fee payable for sending the amount by postal money order shall be levied.

Fees for deposits of rent.

67. Deposits of rent.—For deposits of rent under section 61 (1) of the Act fees in cases (c) and (d) of that section shall be levied according to the following scale:—

	As.
On any sum not exceeding Rs. 5	1
On any sum exceeding Rs. 5 but not exceeding Rs. 10 ...	2
On any sum exceeding Rs. 10 but not exceeding Rs. 25 ...	4

On any sum exceeding Rs. 25, four annas for each complete sum of Rs. 25 and four annas for the remainder; provided that, if the remainder does not exceed Rs. 10, the charge for it shall be only two annas; provided also that in no case shall the fee exceed the sum of Rs. 5.

Notification—By the Government of India, Department of Education, Health and Lands,

NOTICE.

A competitive examination for admission to the Indian Forest Service will be held at Delhi beginning on Monday, the 15th July 1929, under rules framed by the Secretary of State for India in Council and published in the Gazette of India under the Government of India notification No. 592-Forests, dated 2nd May 1928. Candidates accepted for admission to the examination will be informed at what place in Delhi and at what hour they should present themselves.

2. The number of candidates to be selected at this examination will be announced hereafter. The number of appointments which will be announced for competition will not represent the total number of vacancies to be filled in India, since certain vacancies will be reserved and will be filled, if necessary, by nomination for the purpose of adjusting communal inequalities which may arise from the result of the examination.

3. No candidate will be admitted to the examination from whom the Collector or Deputy Commissioner* or the Political Officer or Agent has not received on or before the 4th May 1929 an application on the prescribed form accompanied by the necessary documents. Copies of the application form may be obtained from the Local Government.

4. The application must be made through the Collector or Deputy Commissioner* to the proper authority of the area in which the candidate's parents reside at the time of the application, or of an area in which they have previously resided for a period of not less than three years, or in which he has himself resided, otherwise than as a student at a University only, for a like period.

The proper authority is, for a Governor's province, the Chief Secretary; for Coorg, the North-West Frontier Province, Delhi, Ajmer-Merwara, Baluchistan or Andaman and Nicobar Islands, the Chief Commissioner; and for a State in India, the Political Officer or Agent, who should be addressed through the Durbar.

5. No allegation that an application form or letter respecting such form has been lost or delayed in the post will be considered unless the person making such allegation produces a post-office certificate of posting. Candidates who delay their applications until a late date will do so at their own risk.

NOTE.—With reference to the note to rule 9 of the rules regulating recruitment for the Indian Forest Service published in the Gazette of India under the Government of India notification No. 592-Forests, dated the 2nd May 1928, the Governor-General in Council has, with the approval of the Secretary of State for India in Council, relaxed the condition imposed by that rule so as to admit to this examination the following four classes of Indian students who have undergone at their own expenses a course of Forestry outside India and have thereby been prevented from entering for the examination in India for admission to the Indian Forest Service:—

(a) Those who were not debarred by age from appearing at the competitive examination in 1926, i.e., were under 23 then, but were too old to appear at the examination in 1927 by reason of being over 23 on the 1st April 1927.

(b) Those who had obtained a degree or diploma in Forestry and were under 25 years of age on the 30th June 1926.

(c) Those who were qualified to take the examination in 1927, but did not do so, perhaps on account of short notice, and are over age this year.

(d) Those who, having obtained a diploma or degree in Forestry, were under 25 on the 30th June 1927.

These concessions will not operate to allow any of the candidates in question who has appeared once at the examination to appear a second time and are confined to Indian students who were undergoing forestry training outside India in 1926 or 1927. They will not be in force in 1930 and subsequent years.

PART II.—APPOINTMENT BY NOMINATION IN ENGLAND.

4. Candidates shall have attained the age of 21 and shall not have attained the age of 24 on the 1st January of the year of candidature. They shall be unmarried, and if they marry before reaching India, shall forfeit their appointments.

A list of the candidates shall be made in order of their proficiency as disclosed by the aggregate marks finally awarded to each candidate, and in that order so many candidates up to the determined number of appointments as are found by the Public Service Commission to be qualified by examination shall be designated to be selected candidates for the Indian Forest Service, provided that the Governor-General in Council is satisfied that they are duly qualified in other respects. 16. The Governor-General in Council shall forward to the Secretary of State for India in Council the recommendations made by the Public Service Commission and shall propose candidates for appointment as selected candidates.

17. The selected candidates will ordinarily be required to undergo satisfactorily a course of training at the Forest College, Dehra Dun, as laid down in rule 13.

PART V.—APPOINTMENT BY PROMOTION FROM THE PROVINCIAL FOREST SERVICES.

A prize called the "Research Prize in Comparative Indian Law" will be awarded for the encouragement of the study of Comparative Indian Law by persons belonging to what is called the Adhyapak class in Bengal. The prize for the year 1929 will be awarded to the writer of the best essay in the following subject. The essay should reach the office of the Controller of Examinations by the 31st December 1929:—

> "Place of women in Hindu Law (with particular reference to Dayabhaga) in relation to property as compared with the place of women in English Law."

The attention of the intending candidates is expressly called to the following conditions laid down for the prize:—

(i) By Comparative Indian Law shall be meant the Hindu Smriti Sastra called "Byabaharkhanda" and a comparison of the standard Sanskrit authorities on the subject with British Indian Law as contained in Parliamentary Statutes, Regulations and Acts of the Indian Legislative Council, and the law as laid down in leading cases. The study, which it shall be the object of the prize to encourage, is the history of the Hindu Smriti Sastra as it existed at and from the time when India came under British rule, and how and to what extent it has been altered under British influence, regard being had not only to the existing Statutes, Regulations and Acts, but also to those which, having been in operation for a time, have now been repealed or become obsolete, and regard being also had not only to the existing leading cases, but to cases which were considered leading at one time, but have now been overruled, and how and to what extent such alteration has affected Hindu society.

(ii) The essay may deal with the whole of the Indian Comparative Law as before defined, or with part or parts thereof; but in no case shall an essay be entitled to competition which in any way attacks the religious beliefs, usages or institutions of His Majesty's subjects.

(iii) By Adhyapak shall be meant scholars of the Smriti Sastra, students of the Smriti in the Government Sanskrit College in Calcutta, and in the tols of indigenous Brahmanical schools which send in candidates for the title examinations held in that College, and students in other similar institutions in India.

(iv) Every candidate for the prize shall be required to indicate generally in a preface to his thesis, and specially in notes, the sources from which his information is taken, the extent to which he has availed himself of the work of others, and the portion of the thesis which he claims as original. He shall further be required to state whether his research has been conducted independently, under advice or in co-operation with others, and in what respects his investigations appear to him to tend to the advancement of knowledge.

(v) Successful candidates shall be required to publish their essays, and if necessary, they shall receive help from the University for the purpose.

(vi) The essay or essays shall be written either in English or in Bengali, but if any competitor sends in an essay in vernacular language other than Bengali he shall be bound to furnish English translation thereof.
